Andrew Plew Instantly Killed-A. P. Osborne and Mr. Plew's Son Seriously Injured.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Thompson, Sept. 6.-About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the shingle mill about two miles south of Starrucca, owned by Andrew A. Plew and run him, blew up, killing Mr. Plew instantly and fearfully scalding A. P. Osborne and a 10-year-old son of Mr. Plew. Just how or why the accident happened will probably never be

Mr. Osborne will recover, it is thought, but trhere is little hope that the boy can live.

Mr. Plew was an honest, hard-working man, and was well thought of by his neighbors. He leaves a widow and four children. He was a member the M. E. church at Bethel Hill, his former home, and was the efficient superintendent of the Sunday school during his residence there. He was not quite 34 years old. The funeral will be held here tomorrow morning and the interment will be made here.

Extensive improvements to the in terior of the Methodist Episcopal church in this place are now in progress. The ceiling and walls are being beautifully and elaborately frescoed. and a bowled floor, with seats arranged in semi-circular form and on an incline, will make one of the most important improvements. The funds to pay for all of the expenses incurred by this work have been pledged, an no debt will be created. When the work now in hand is finished, all that the church will need to made it complete will be a fine pipe organ, and it is announced, on good authority, that even this has been provided for, through the generosity of Andrew Carnegie, the great iron founder. Fortune is smiling upon the Methodists of Monarose.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Sept. 6.—Protessional operators, who were alone concerned in today's market for stocks, had even more difficulty than yesterday in inducing any movement of prices, and the direction of the movement was also more shifting and uncertain. The volume of the business tell back to about the lowest of the year for a full day's tracking. The uncertainty of the money outlook prompted the restriction of outlay in stocks, while the strength of the general situation continues equally effications in detering bolders from selling. The usual weekly forecast of the weekly changes of the cash reserves of the banks, which is compiled from statements fur-nished by the banks themselves, was awaited with unsual interest today. It was an agreeable dis-appointment in showing a much smaller move ent of each to the interior by the regular ex press movement than was expected. The mar-ket was inclined to rally on the bank state-ment and on the absence of a flurry in the call money market, which was expected on account of the special demand unusual to a Friday. The rise in New York exchange at Unicago to 46 cents discount, compared with the 00 cents dissure for funds. Th chigh point touched for call loans was 41g per cent., and it was only momen tarily held. Foral sales, $11,700. There is a very small business in railroad bonds and price movements were unimportant. Total sales pur value, $855,000.
