

SECOND DAY OF THE FAIR

THREATENING WEATHER KEPT MANY PERSONS AWAY.

Some Fine Displays Are Made in the Booths, Most of Which Are Well Filled—The Famous Missing Link Apple Is Attracting Considerable Attention—Races Were Interesting and Excited a Good Deal of Interest—The Entries and Winners of the Events.

From a Staff Correspondent. Maitland Park, Wallisville, Pa., Sept. 11.—Two good trading and packing events and a running race were the prominent features of the county agricultural fair at Maitland Park, Wallisville, today. There were about a thousand spectators on the grounds during the afternoon. A strong wind sweeping down the street made it rather hard to see the horses in the races.

A larger number of side shows were in existence than on the opening day and all seemed to be getting liberal patronage. During the afternoon a scable Knight of Heaton township shut down the big wheel of fortune on the hill and broke up a shell game that was running.

The second day's attendance was hardly up to the expectations of the directors and the managers interested. This was probably due to the unfavorable aspect of the sky in the early morning, which was just sufficiently overcast to deter the starting of a long journey by the country visitors. After all, the backbone of a country fair.

TRACK PUT IN SHAPE. After the sun had come out and the haze had lifted from the neighboring hillsides the directors of the fair promptly took matters in hand, and a gang of men and horses were set to work scraping and harrowing the ground all the way around the track. In an amazingly short space of time the water had been drained by the surface, a warm easterly wind had sprung up and the rays of the sun soon dried the half-mile circle. By the time the first race was called the course was in good shape.

The healthiest exhibits were all well filled yesterday morning. Some fine displays were made. The most prominent ones, in many respects, was a Mexican booth, fitted up in picturesque fashion by County Surveyor George E. Hiltner. It contained a variety of articles, including Indian and Aztec relics, bead work, skillfully woven baskets, antlers, Mexican drawn work, blankets and many implements of warfare and domestic use of bygone centuries.

The healthiest devoted to fine needlework, household art and domestic manufactures are well filled with an alluring quality of goods. A generous collection of house plants and cut flowers fills another booth on one side of the large hall upstairs in the main building.

REMARKABLE APPLE. The famous "Missing Link" apple, which is claimed to remain sound for four years, is on exhibition, placed there by E. M. Stone of Slaters, Pa. It is attractively set forth in the fancy work department of a piece of embroidery shown by Edison Triffitt. A 20-foot-long banner brings forth exclamations of admiration from nearly every female spectator, and many a masculine eye is riveted by its beauty. It is a large center piece, of double rows, worked in red, white and yellow. Then there are a number of exquisitely worked lace collars, of Duchesse and Bismarck, and linen handkerchiefs, hemstitched and surrounded with floral leaves, made in householdly and refined manner. There are drawn work center pieces and bureau covers, a large number of pieces and knit bedspreads, crazy quilts, about cushions, sofa cushions in silk, light chenille, damask and cotton and cushions entirely hand made. For the farmer who understands the healthiest corn crop without feeding and weeding, seems to think that he can have a healthy body without either care or culture. But the body is built up just as the corn is, by a chemical process of the several chemical elements on which vitality depends. And what weeds are to the corn, diseases of the stomach and nutritive system are to the body. They divert the necessary food supply from the proper channels, and the body becomes lean, sickly and ill-nourished.

It is interesting to note that Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for stomach trouble, writes Larzende Carver, Esq., of Taylorstown, Louisiana Co., Va. "I did not know so much good that I did not try it before I wrote to you. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. There was a gentleman told me about your medicine. How it had cured his wife. I thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad that I did for I don't know who I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels and cure constipation.

infants' apparel and the old-time rag carpets in bales.

There are jellies, preserves, jams, pickles, peppers and all other kinds of kitchen articles. Maple sugar cakes, honey in the comb and in bottles, testify mutely but eloquently to the skill of the housewives.

MERCHANDISE DISPLAY. The lower part of the main building is all filled with merchandise displays. Dr. R. Thomas of North Main avenue, Scranton, easily has the handsomest show of five highly polished pianos, and a number of sewing machines are installed in the upper end.

Driggs & MacConnell of Nicholson occupy two sides of this hall. One is devoted to stoves and all kitchen articles, including cooking and parlor stoves, and handsome products of the foundry. On the other side they show harness and horse clothing of all descriptions.

H. J. Trubenbach, of Rockaway Beach, N. Y., has a counter filled with jewelry, beads and sea shells. A Birmingham firm comes next to him with a line of clothes washers and wringers. J. W. Eichenberger of Factoryville takes up the remainder of the space with his low cream and lemonade stand and tables. At the other end of the hall the Peckville Entertainment company draws good-sized crowds to its theatre with a moving picture and phonograph show.

Outside the old whip man is installed in his usual corner, keeping the crowds amused by his witticisms and repartees. No fair would be complete without this white-mustached, pleasant-faced old gentleman with his store and queer sayings.

By the time the horses were started up for the first race there was quite a sizeable audience present in the stand and the field to watch it. James Kelly again officiated as starter, and William Shultz of Peckville, Edmond Parker, of Clark's Summit, South of Scranton, and Harry Miller, of Waverly, were the judges and timers.

THE FIRST RACE. The first race, the 240 class, with a purse of $100, was called at 2 o'clock. There were seven starters, making a fair sum for the judges to control on the rather narrow track. Gold Rein drew the pole, with Jennie B. second. Miss Lou, third, and Uncle Ned on the outside of the first race. Then came Marnie S., Carl E. and Miss Jennie trailing. Each horse represented a different locality and there were none from Scranton. The race by heats follows:

First heat.—The second attempt to score was a good one, with the exception that Jennie B. was left. She started Kelly called them back. Again and again they were tried, until the good temper of Kelly almost failed him and he had to admonish the drivers severely and warn them that fines would be inflicted for the next offense. After several more futile guesses they were sent away fairly well. Jennie B. got at once into her stride and for a furlong there was a clear length between her and the field. Then Miss Lou came along in a rush and led to the first quarter, with Miss Jennie next behind. At the half Miss Lou rushed past the judges still in front and kept there until the three-quarters was reached, when Miss Jennie took up command and kept it until after the wire was passed. While coming around the turn for the home stretch Carl B. broke and swerved into the sulky drawn by Jennie B., breaking the wheel and frightening the mare into a run. She came in a wild gallop up the stretch, but when opposite the wire subsided into a slow race and was easily caught. The heat was turned off by quarters in this good time, 1:37; 1:36; 1:34; 1:32. Mr. Crevelling, the owner of Jennie B., announced his intention of starting in the next heat, despite his broken sulky.

SECOND HEAT. Second heat.—After a long, dreary wait, and with the promise of a fine being inflicted by the starter on the previous heat, a race was given. The heat was finally called, a number of fruitless attempts were made before Mr. Kelly was satisfied with the line-up and gave permission for the unwieldy field to get going. In the meantime, Miss Jennie had lost touch with the field, and as a result of this she was easily overtaken by the faster runners. When they got away finally Miss Jennie repaired her tactics of the last heat by going promptly ahead. Uncle Ned got a little the worst of the start. Miss Jennie led all the way to the quarter, when she reached in 27 seconds, with Carl B. close up. At the half in 1:14, these same two horses were fighting for the lead, Miss Jennie having the advantage of a length, and the remaining five being stretched for a furlong behind. The race proceeded as usual all the way around the upper turn, but some of those in the pack broke badly behind the hill. The six furlongs were made in 1:53. On the drive home Carl B. made a valiant effort to catch the field, but failed in front of him, but his heat for the heat by about two lengths. Uncle Ned, the old timer, was next to pass the wire, half a dozen lengths away, while the rest were further away straggling out in a long line.

Third heat.—The heat was called at 2:15. Miss Jennie led to the quarter, with Carl B. close up. At the half in 1:14, these same two horses were fighting for the lead, Miss Jennie having the advantage of a length, and the remaining five being stretched for a furlong behind. The race proceeded as usual all the way around the upper turn, but some of those in the pack broke badly behind the hill. The six furlongs were made in 1:53. EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should Be Answered Easily by Scranton People.

Which is wiser—to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow citizens or depend on statements made by utter strangers? Read this: Mr. Isaac Smith, of 1169 Sadie place, Hyde Park, employed by the D. L. & W. at Archbald mines as a miner, says: "I had a dull pain in the small of my back. If I turned about quickly a stitch-like pain caught me across my loins. In looking over the paper I read a statement of a person living in Scranton who was troubled just as I was. I got a box of them at Matthews Bros drug store, and they proved to be just what I needed, and before I had taken the whole box the pain left me and I have been free from it ever since."

The drivers they kept right on for the mile, finishing in the same order. The time for the quarter was 41 1/2 seconds and for the half mile, 1:30 1/2. Second heat—It required but one preliminary towing of the mark before Mr. Kelly shouted "go." Diamond C. was a little behind the three starters, Lamplack and Randolph C. made a very pretty race of it all the way around the circuit, distancing the other two starters. At the quarter Randolph C. had his nose even with the wheel of Lamplack's sulky, but the driver of the black horse continued to lead and he moved up about half a dozen lengths in front of Randolph by the time the stand was reached. The other two were halfway down the home stretch at the time, plainly out-classed. Time of quarter mile, 41 1/2 seconds; half-mile, 1:31 1/2.

THIRD HEAT. This was a repetition of the other two heats, the only difference being that Lamplack was further ahead of Randolph C. than formerly and the other two still further in the rear. The summary follows:
