TROUBLE WITH THE SCHOOL BOARD

Alleged Discrimination Against Certain School Children Raises an Issue Between President Hughes and City Superintendent Garr.

The school board is in the midst of an agitation over the school boundary lines, that has already caused a heap of trouble between the two divisions of the directors and threatens to add to the size of the aforesaid heap until it reaches an ominous size.

This was the chief topic of discussion at the meeting of the board on Tuesday night: it was a topic of warm discussion, for President Hughes and Mr. Swigert crossed swords and did some sharp fencing. The clash was over a resolution from committee directing that the rule of the board with reference to the boundaries of the different schools be observed. There was a division. President Hughes, Secretary Kerwin and Mr. Gallagher voted to enforce the board's rule; Messrs. Swigert, Evans and Vannan voted to sustain Superintendent Garr's view of the situation. The matter, after the meeting, was in the same position as before, the disputed point still being in dispute. The real issue is between President Hughes, who is endeavoring to remove what, in his mind, is the unfairest kind ! of discrimination, and Superintendent Garr, who favors the relaxing of the board's rule under certain circumstances. A few weeks ago, President Hughes brought before the board's notice the fact that certain pupils were attending No. 1 and No. 2 schools who had no right there, while others, who had as much right, had been excluded. Herein is where the discrimination is charged. It is claimed by Mr. Hughes that there was no valid reason for admitting over a score of pupils to No. 1 and No. 2 who belonged to No. 3 or No. 9, and excluding others who had an equal right to be admitted. The parents of the children who had been excluded made complaint to nearly every director, and it was then that the cudgel was taken up by Mr. Hughes. He maintained that as Eighth avenue had been established as the boundary line by the board, it was the duty of the board to enforce this regulation and make no exception in favor of any scholar, as he and the parents claimed was true. The board's rule was clear enough and there was no reason why it should be set aside, at least by present conditions. Superintendent Garr contended that it would be disturbing matters to make any change and urged that the scholars be allowed to remain at the schools they were attending. Mr. Hughes could not see that there would be any disturbance; it was unfair to discriminate, and to remove this the board would see to it that ample accommodations be provided. In his investigations following this discussion, Mr. Hughes learned from the teachers that fully thirty pupils who belonged to No. 3 and No. 9 were attending No. 1 or No. 2. He ordered these to the schools where they belonged, as determined by the board's rules, and claimed that they were being properly cared for under the changed conditions and in conformity with the long established rule of the board with reference o boundaries. Subsequently, Superinhim must have come from the memhis being empowered by the majority Gallagher and himself gave no such authority, Mr. Swigert was out of the city. Mr. Vannan made no positive statement and Mr. Evans was the only one who was known to be in favor of the superintendent's action. Mr. Hughes charged that this was an arbitrary move on the part of Mr. Garr; in tion and ire of President Hughes, and he freely expressed himself on the action of the superintendent and in that the situation. There is no question that Superintendent Garr proposes to follow his idea of how the matter should be disposed of, regardless of what the views of the members of the board might be. This he has plainly indicated, and he seems determined to stand on the ground that he has taken regardless of consequences, When it is considered that President Hughes as a fighter from away back, particularly when he has the rules and the precedents of the board to sustain him, coupled with the support of the parents who believe their children are being discriminated against, it will require no X-ray aid to discover that he will be unrelenting in the fight to remove what, on the face of it, appears degree.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Elizabeth Carpenter and Albert Opie Celebrated at Carpenter Home.

There was a pretty home wedding elebrated at 4 o'clock yesterday atternoon when Miss Elizabeth Carpenter was wedded to Albert Ople.

The beautiful impressive ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Carpenter in Belmont street. The scene of the nuptials was the parlor which was becomingly decorated with flowers and vari-tinted leaves of autumn. The bay window where the couple plighted their yows had been transformed into a bower of evergreen. Rev. Charles E. Lee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated.

Miss Evangeline Carpenter, sister of the bride, was the maid and Ralph Ball was the best man.

The bride's costume of organdic over white silk greatly enhanced her appearance. She carried white roses, The bridesmaid wore organdic and had pink roses. Wedding marches were rendered and there was a sentimental ballad played during the ceremony.

The relatives and friends warmly ongratulated Mr. and Mrs. Opic after the ceremony and then the guests sat with the bridal party at the wedding

THE PAVING SQUABBLE.

Action by City to Recover a Number of Unpaid Paving Assessments.

Another phase developed in the squabble over the paying of Park Place, Sixth avenue, Eighth avenue and lower Main street when a dozen property owners along these improvements were served with notices of an action in assumpsit to recover unpaid assessments for the pave laid along these thoroughfares.

The action was commenced Monday afternoon by City Solicitor Stuart in behalf of the city. Those affected Garr undid the work of Mr. are the property owners who claim Hughes by transferring the children to that they are not liable on the ground No. 1 and No. 2 schools. He claimed that the legislation directing the imthat he had the authority of the board, provement was illegal in all its parts, but what authority was delegated to Counsel has been engaged to defend against the suits and had been inbers individually, for there is no record structed by the affected property ownof such on the board's minutes. As to jess to carry the proceeding to the Supreme court, if necessary, to test the of the members, President Hughes city's right to collect the assessments makes a challenge. Messrs, Kerwin, for the pavement that was laid against the wishes of most of the owners along the line of the improvement. All but twelve or thirteen had paid their share of the cost of the improvement and it is these who propose to contest the city's claims. The history of the soundble goes back to 1898, when there was a remonstrance fact, it was more, it was assuming the against the improvement. Then there role of dictator and giving defiance to was difficulty over the filing of liens the board. This aroused the indigna- against the properties. This was remedied by a special act of the legislature, Now that there are no liens against the properties, it was found necessary to frank, independent manner characterbegin an action in assumpsit in each case to collect the unpaid assessments Superintendent Garr is that he acted the same as with an ordinary debt.

Howard Kyle, who is in the role of Nathan Hale, has a true conception of the hero of the early days of the Revolutionary war, and he has the manly presence to instill into the character the vigor and the force to accentuate the noble qualities that filled the mind and soul of Nathan Hale. The comedy side of the character was not lost to Mr. Kyle and it was in this, perhaps after all, that he scored his greatest triumph, for he naturally appears like one who is easily stirred to emotional heights.

A happy companion piece to Mr Kyle's work was the natural, sympathetic Alice Adams of Miss Florence Smyth. Her work was most effective and it attracted the admiration of

PLAIN TALK.

To Catarrh Sufferers.

Every person suffering from catarri in its many forms, knows that the common lotions, salves and douches de not cure. It is needless to argue this point or to cite cases of failure, be cause every victim of catarrhal trouble knows it for himself if he has tried them. A local application, if it does any thing at all, simply gives temporary relief; a wash, lotion, salve or powder cannot reach the seat of the disease, which is the blood,

The mucous membrane seeks to relieve the blood of catarrhal poison by secreting large quantities of mucous the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils, descending to the threat and larynx, causing an irritating cough continual clearing of the throat, deafness, indigestion and many other disagreeable and persistent symptoms. A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal treatment; a remedy which will gradually cleanse the system from Catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion always present in the mucous membrane. The best remedies for this purpos are Eucalyptel, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin, but the difficulty has always been to get these valuable curatives combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form. Recently this has been accomplished and the preparation put on the market under the name of Stuart's Catarrh tablets; they are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, so that they may be slowly dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous memtestines. An advantage to be considered also is that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, morphine or poisonous narcotics, so often found in catarrh powders, and the use of which often entails a habit more dangerous than the disease.
