JOHN M'COMB'S BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE

To the Memory of Comrade Darius C. Bencoter—Delivered to the Comrades at Davies' Post Headquarters on Salem Avenue, Friday Afternoon, Prior to the Formation of the Funeral Procession.

The following eulogium met with the hearty endorsement of the comrades and the members of Davies' post unanimously voted to incorporate it in the minutes, as their sentiments most eloquently expressed:

"Comrades: Our mission this afternoon is of a fraternal nature, made impressive by the presence of death in our association.

"First Comrade Darius C. Bencoter, one of our beloved members, is soon to be consigned to mother earth. For eight months he has suffered, with a knowledge that there was no hope for him to testify the disease which was sapping his vitality. He has borne with Christian resignation his fatal affliction. Calmly he has waited for his release from pain. Now he is at rest.

"We could not help him bear his burden, although our hearts were touched by his physical distress. But we yearned to attest our sympathy and alleviate his infirmity. In his case, medical science was defied, and human intervention proved impotent.

"This is the last opportunity that shall come to us to testify our respect for his person. Though he is insensible to what is being done, we feel that he merits our warmest regard; and we are assembled this afternoon for the express purpose of giving tangible testimony of our respect for him as an upright man, an honorable citizen, an exemplary practical Christian, and a loyal comrade.

"We admired his sterling individuality; we respected his virtues, and we cherish his memory. As our ranks are growing thinner we are impressed more vividly by the ties which hold veterans so truly together. We think of the days when our blood was offered to help cement our great union of states, and how the sharing of danger, deprivation and misery, developed mutual dependence and confidence in the men who fought for the perpetuity of our national government, and who gave birth to the Grand Army of the Republic thirty-five years ago.

"The Indian football eleven, fifteen strong, will play this morning at 8 o'clock on the Delaware and Hudson train at Scranton, where they will take a train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western for Athens, Pa. They are billed to play the strong football team of that city at 2:30 this afternoon. The eleven will remain in Athens over night, returning to this city on Sunday. The eleven has been greatly strengthened for this contest, having secured Price of the Archbald team, McDonald of Scranton eleven and a player named Michael from Dundaff, their mascot, Gerald Harbo, in a gold uniform, will accompany the team and also a number of faithful rooters.

"The High School football team will have for their opponents this afternoon the strong eleven representing the school of the Lackawanna, of Scranton. The local eleven has practiced diligently all the past week and expect to land a victory of a comfortable margin. This is the first time the two elevens have ever met, and a large-size crowd will no doubt be on hand to encourage the local eleven.

CARS RUNNING MORE REGULAR

Road Blocked by a Wagon Loaded with Stone, in Mayfield.

Street cars manned by imported men were run through this city yesterday with more frequency than at any time since the strike was declared. In the forenoon three cars ran as far north as Lincoln avenue and immediately made a return trip. In the afternoon two cars came through at 4 o'clock. There were no disorders of any nature. On the return trip in the afternoon one car ran over a torpedo which had been placed on the rails on Main street between Sixth and Seventh avenues. The report and the smoke drew a large crowd to the scene but the car was not stopped. At the lower end of Main street several young men ran out waving for the car to stop but the motor-man did not heed and kept the car going at full speed. A wagon loaded with large stones blocked the cars for a time. A team of horses could not be procured to haul the wagon off the tracks and the crews were obliged to get off their coats and pitched in. While they were unloading the stones from the wagon a crowd gathered and made the air blue with epithets hurled at the motorists and a report reached Carbondale that a lively return trip was being made. The cars being run through the city were not as yet tempted any one to ride.
