MONTROSE

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Montrose, Oct. 29.—There was some excitement about town last night, when, as the result of a quarrel, to which the intoxicating cup lent aid, John Woodruff, of Harmony, is alleged to have drawn a revolver and threatened to do bodily harm to Ned Parks, of Fairdale. The scene of the trouble was in the barroom of the Montrose House. Both parties are said to have been under the influence of liquor. It seems that some sixteen years ago, Woodruff was arrested at the instance of Parks' father for abusing his (Parks') horse, and for this crime served time in the Montrose jail. Last night, while both were in a quarrelsome mood, this old matter was brought up, and one word bringing on another, threats and counter therats being made, finally Woodruff drew a revolver and, it is alleged, threatened to "do" Parks. This scattered the crowd of spectators, and Landlord Gay sent for Officer Tingley. Before the officer's arrival Woodruff made his escape. Parks went before Justice M. H. Van Scoten and swore out a warrant. Later, Woodruff was located and placed under arrest. He was taken before Justice Van Scoten and, after a hearing, was held for court in the sum of $300, in default of which he was committed to the county jail. It is expected that the case will be presented to the grand jury, now sitting.

Very little work has been accomplished at court here this week. The grand jury is hard at work, but has not yet turned in any findings. At argument court before his honor, Judge Searle, matters are moving slowly. Judge Searle handed down an opinion in the action in equity brought by Overseers of the Forest City Poor District against Susquehanna County, in which he holds that the Forest City poor farm is exempt from taxation.

Mrs. H. C. McCormack and son, Wells, have returned to their home in New York city.

Quarterly conference of the Montrose Methodist Episcopal church will be held in the transept of the church next Saturday evening. Love Feast and the Lords Supper on Sunday, the sermon to be preached by Presiding Elder L. C. Floyd.

W. W. Pritchard, of Springfield, was a visitor in town yesterday.

Baggagemaster W. O. Finn and wife have returned from their vacation trip.

Prof. F. E. Chaffee, teacher of vocal music in the Duluth university, will organize a class in voice culture at the Methodist Episcopal church in this place on Wednesday evening, November 6.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hamlin, of Great Bend, are visitors in town.

FACTORYVILLE.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Factoryville, Oct. 29.—About seventy-five members and visiting brothers assembled at Odd Fellows' hall of Red Jacket lodge, No. 524, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, last Saturday night for the purpose of transacting such business as came before the lodge, the installation of officers and a social good time. District Deputy Grand Master L. F. Camp and staff of grand officers from Tunkhannock lodge was present and did the installing work, which was perhaps the best ever done in Red Jacket lodge and it is pehhaps safe to say that Wyoming county has the best installing team this year that it has ever had. The following elected R. H. Reynolds; vice grand, William Sims; treasurer, B. J. Goodwin. At the close of the installation refreshments were served and a social enjoyed.

J. G. Geiser, the popular traveling salesman for Megargee Bros., of Scranton, spent Sunday here with friends.

Union services were held last Sunday evening at the Baptist church, the Rev. J. N. Lee, of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiating.

Mrs. William Edmiston, who has been spending some time here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Spencer, has gone to New Haven, Conn., where she will join her husband and where they expect to make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ellenberger are spending a week with friends at Stroudsburg and vicinity.

Several of our citizens were in attendance at court yesterday.

Our enterprising merchant, C. H. Mathewson, will serve as a juror at the United States court to be held in Harrisburg in November.

Nick Thompson has accepted a position as assistant bookkeeper in the store of R. E. Prenderbast at Scranton.

Miss Bessie Wilson left last Saturday for Philadelphia.

F. D. Wrighter and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Will Tallman visited in Susquehanna, Sunday.

Several additional pupils entered the school yesterday from out of town.

Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Larrabee are caring for the home and children of their son, A. W. Larrabee, of Starrucca, since the death of his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Monroe entertained over the Sabbath their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Monroe, of Walton, N. Y.

Rev. P. R. Tower was called to Great Bend yesterday on business.

Stephen Jenkins, who was reported ill in our last items, does not improve.

Farmers are taking advantage of the fine weather, finishing up their fall work.

J. D. Miller is in Montrose, attending argument court.

The Misses Cora Spencer and Lillian Mead are the delegates to the Sunday school convention at Stevens Point tomorrow, from the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday school.

Mrs. S. D. Barnes spent the Sabbath in Susquehanna.

E. L. Peck, of Carbondale, is doing business in town today.

F. W. Lewis and his mother drove to Susquehanna this morning, on business.

Mrs. C. M. Lewis drove over to Whites Valley today to visit friends.

T. F. Butterfield, of Jackson, left this morning for the Pan-American, accompanied by his wife.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Tunkhannock, Oct. 29.—The Monday club met at the home of Mrs. Aaron Brown, on East Tioga street, yesterday afternoon. The following programme was rendered: Roll call; current events; "The Mission of Augustine," Miss Kiefer; "Christian Conquest of Britain," Mrs. D. Billings; "The Venerable Bede," Mrs. F. Billings. Reading, to be selected, interspersed with music.

William Moser, of Second street, is having extensive improvements made on his residence.

Mrs. W. H. Metzer, of Hazleton, who has been the guest of relatives and friends at this place the past week, returned home on Saturday.

Mrs. George Kinner, of Mehoopany, was calling on friends in town on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Robinson leave Monday night for the Pan-American exposition, where they will visit several days.

The ladies of the Women's Relief corps are ppeparing an entertainment to be given in G. A. R. hall Wednesday evening, October 30. Children will furnish the entertainment and refreshments will be served. Everybody invited. Admission 10 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Reynolds, who have been visiting their son, Marshall, at Philadelphia, returned home on Friday.

Miss Fannie De Rue was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Yates, at Pittston over Sunday.

Dr. George Kinner, of Mehoopany, was a visitor in town on Monday. The doctor is on his way home from Philadelphia, where he has been on business. He will stop over and attend Masonic lodge this evening.

John Ide returned on Monday from the Willis Eye hospital very much improved.

PITTSTON.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Pittston, Oct. 29.—Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad freight stations seem to be an easy mark for petty thieves, who pay them periodical visits. It was the Pittston Junction station's turn for a visit Saturday night, and it resulted successfully. The burglars evidently had use for footwear—men's footwear—for several cases of these goods were the only things carried away, although other merchandise was looted. Several cases of women's shoes were not interfered with and a couple of boxes of soap were opened and the cakes scattered about the room.

The United Mine Workers of this district celebrated the first anniversary of their victory in last year's strike today with a big parade and mass meeting, the occasion of Mitchell Day. Almost 5,000 men were in line, accompanied by several bands and drum corps. The line of march was down Main to the forks of the road, countermarch to the Junction, countermarch to Broad street, from whence all assembled on the Troxell plot, where speeches were made by T. D. Nicholls, of Scranton; Adam Rascavage and Committeeman McKay.

F. W. Brown, formerly yardmaster at the Coxton yard of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, a few weeks ago moved his household goods from West Pittston to Elmira, N. Y., where Mrs. Brown's parents reside. Friends of Mr. Brown here last week received word that he had accepted a position as trainmaster with a western road, and will make his headquarters at Little Rock, Ark.

D. T. Jones, of Taylor, well known in musical circles, has been chosen to adjudicate the musical competitions at the eisteddfod to be held in the Welsh congregational church here next Thanksgiving afternoon and evening. Mr. Jones acted in a similar capacity at a competitive meeting here two years ago, officiating in such an able and highly satisfactory manner the committee made no hesitancy in proffering him the office for the Thanksgiving day event which promises to be the most interesting held in this church in recent years.

J. Edgar Probyn enters on his duties as choirmaster in the Broad Street Presbyterian church next Sunday.

J. L. Cake, the West Pittston coal operator, has subscribed $500 to the Young Men's Christian association building fund with a promise of "more to follow." This brings the fund up to within $900 of the amount necessary to make the pledges binding and this the committee hopes to secure within a short time.

Word has been received here of the death of A. C. Stanton, at Paw Paw, Illinois. Deceased was 52 years of age and was a native and for many years a resident of Exeter township, this county. He was a brother of G. W. Stanton, sr., of West Pittston.

The collieries of the Pennsylvania Coal company with the exception of No. 6 and No. 8 washery, were paid yesterday.

Bishop Fowler, of the Methodist Episcipal denomination, delivered his interesting lecture on the life of "Abraham Lincoln," in the West Pittston Methodist Episcopal church Monday evening to a large audience.

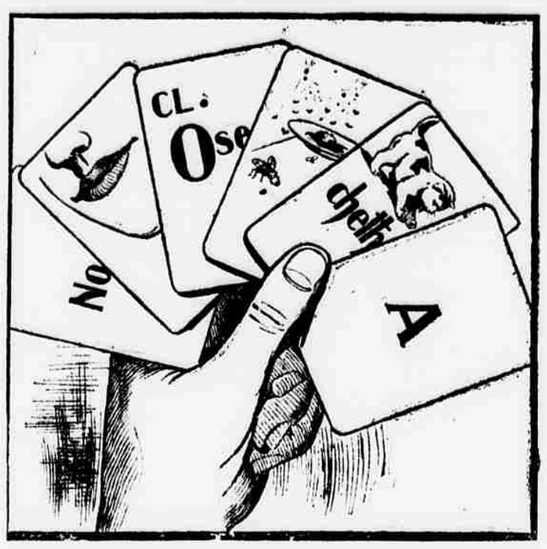
Henry Austin Adams delivered a lecture on "Napoleon," in Music hall this evening under the auspices of the Pittston Knights of Columbus.

Mark McDonnell, a former resident of this city, for years a shoe merchant here, died Monday in Chicago.

The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Evans, formerly of this city, now residing on a farm at Lincoln Heights, Scranton, is in a critical condition from a relapse following an illness of scarlet fever. Her recovery is not expected.

Peter McCoskie, of Sturmerville, a miner in the Clear Spring mine, had of his arms fractured in two places by a premature blast Saturday afternoon.

PROVERB PUZZLE.



Cut out the cards and arrange them to form an old proverb.

PECKVILLE.

The sacred concert in the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday evening was greeted by a full house, and the following programme was rendered with fine effect: Anthem by the choir, "God Be Merciful"; solo by Richard Watkins, of Taylor, "Cast Thy Bread Upon the Waters"; No. 50, "Chorus of Praise"; prayer, by the pastor; male quartette, "While the Years Are Rolling By"; solo and chorus, by choir, "The Voice of Jesus"; solo by Miss Florence Taylor, "To Thy Cross I Flee"; No. 84, "Chorus of Praise"; solo, by Miss Edith Watkins, "Palms"; address on "Signals," by M. Calender, general secretary of Young Men's Christian association, of Pittsburg, Pa.; closing anthem, by choir, "Jesus Is Mine." The singing by Mr. Richard and the Misses Watkins was greatly enjoyed, and fully sustained the musical fame of the Watkins family. Miss Flo. Taylor sang with much sweetness, as she always does. The whole service was a rare treat, for which Mr. G. Shay, the efficient chorister, is deserving of much credit. Of course, everybody was glad to see our old friend "Mell" Calender. He is a Peckville boy—and his address was touching and impressive and will long be remembered.

The Blakely Board of Health will meet in regular session at the council room Thursday evening, October 31, at 7 o'clock.

L. B. Thompson, of Academy street, is working in Scranton this week.

The Twentieth Century Society of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold an oyster supper and entertainment in the lecture room of the church on November 6, 1901.

WYALUSING.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Wyalusing, Oct. 28.—Miss Lottie Kintner and Mrs. H. P. Gaylord went to Buffalo last Friday.

Miss Nettie Waldo returned home last week after spending the past two months with her sister at Athens.

Miss Teresa Dyer, of Towanda, visited friends in town recently.

Miss Jessie Sands was bridesmaid at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Susan Gaylord Russell Hill last Tuesday.

Misses Helen Prince and Bessie Lewis, of Towanda, spent a couple of days visiting friends in town last week.

Rev. Harshaw, of West Pittston, visited Rev. Armontrout Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Frank Crandall, of Stevensville, one of the most respected citizens of this vicinity, was instantly killed Saturday evening about 7 o'clock. While returning home this place with a load of coal his horses shied and he hit his head against a tree, killing him instantly. Mr. Crandall was 60 years of age and was universally esteemed. He leaves a wife, an aged mother, one daughter, Mrs. Carlton Montgomery, of New York city; two brothers and two sisters.

Mrs. Sarah Jennings, of Mehoopany, will spend the winter with her niece, Mrs. C. B. Gaylord.

Mr. Joseph Beebe and Mr. Myers, of Montrose, were callers at Mrs. Hines' Sunday evening.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

ATTRACTIONS TODAY.

LYCEUM—"Quo Vadis." Afternoon and night.
ACADEMY.—Jessie Sawtelle Dramatic company. Afternoon and night.
STAR—Broadway Burlesquers. Afternoon and night.

"Peg Woffington."

Charles Reade's comedy, "Peg Woffington," in which so many of the queens of the drama of England and America have delighted the public, was presented at the Lyceum last night by Rose Coghlan and her company. It is a charming comedy, and in it Miss Coghlan has scored one of the greatest successes of her career.

She was, last night, brilliant and convincing as Mistress Woffington and won the warm admiration of the rather small audience that saw the performance. Miss Coghlan was surrounded by a capable company, one of the best members of which was William Elton, as Triplet.

Academy of Music.

The Jessie Sawtelle Dramatic company backed the Academy at both performances yesterday. "The Heart of Virginia" was put on in a sumptuous manner at the matinee and "A Country Courtship" was the bill last night.

Six entertaining specialties were introduced at both performances. This afternoon the company will present "Frou Frou," and tonight they will play "The Egyptian Princess."

"Quo Vadis."

The second production in this city of F. C. Whitney's and Edwin Knowles' "Quo Vadis," the successful religious drama, will take place at the Lyceum this afternoon and evening. "Quo Vadis," with its uplifting sentiment and profound artistic passages, is perhaps the most suitable attraction that can be offered for the early opening of the season, as it depicts all that is good in dramatic art, and enables patrons of the theatre to draw a distinct line between the ennobling lessons taught and the trash which is offered to them behind the footlights.

With rare foresight Whitney & Knowles have embellished this season's production in even a more lavish manner than that presented during last season. The combined strength of Whitney & Knowles' forces is concentrated in this season's company which is now making a preliminary tour of New England before visiting the larger cities. Despite this fact the prices are not advanced. One dollar will be the highest price asked for any seat. A bargain day matinee will be given at 2:15 p. m.; 25 and 50 cents; children anywhere, 15 cents.

Maude Adams in "Quality Street."

George P. Goodale, the distinguished critic of the Detroit Free Press, contributes the following to his first eulogistic notice of J. M. Barrie's successful new comedy, "Quality Street," in which Miss Maude Adams will be seen in this city at the Lyceum next Friday:

"If you want atmosphere in your drama, take an evening from your accustomed round and pass it with your friends in "Quality Street." That home of the Throssell sisters is a dream of old days, and the characters one meets there take on the realities of life before we are done with the first act. The part of it that is addressed to the eye is quite as eloquent as the speech and the embodiment of the characters. We come into the drawing room of a well ordered English home, and we feel at once that it is an exposition of absolute fidelity to truth. The old-fashioned spinnet, the severe furniture, for which the housekeeping elder sister is so humanly solicitous, the wide view from that generous bow window, the prim and quaint costumes of the ladies, the coral jewelry, the familiar talk about the Napoleonic ogre, who "eats live babies," and the natural drift of conversation in the direction of men, whom the remorseless wars have made a precious commodity in the little community, all contribute to an agreeable illusion. The softly falling snow is seen through the window, and the first intensity of interest is projected when Phoebe of the Ringlets comes up the street carried in a sedan chair by a pair of stalwart servants. From that moment we live with Phoebe. We grieve when she grieves; we agree with her resentful protest against the seemingly loveless passing of her girlhood, as opposed to the rosy hope of its beautiful blossoming time; we pity her in these sordid school room drudgeries; we ache with her over those awful algebraic problems; we stand by her when she enters upon her war of coquettish conquest after the return of Captain Brown; we exult when her youth comes back to bring her the peace we know she deserves, and our hearts are cheered by her final emergence out of the gloom of sorrowful night into the blazing mid-day of womanly happiness and joy. It is all very gentle, natural, appealing, sweet, tender, healthful and Barrie-like, with the inimitable Maude Adams touches that comprise the point-lace embellishment of the fabric itself." Seats go on sale this morning.

"Toll Gate Inn."

"Toll Gate Inn," that powerfully strong play of old colonial days, will be the attraction at the Lyceum theatre Saturday, Nov. 2, afternoon and evening. Two seasons ago our theatre-goers will remember it proved one of the most enjoyable performances seen in Scranton, and it is a pleasure to note its return, when, no doubt, the Lyceum will hold one of the largest gatherings of the season. Too few plays like "Toll Gate Inn" have been offered amusement seekers in recent years, but we only enjoy them the more when presented, as they prove delightfully refreshing, novel, entertaining and instructive.

"Toll Gate Inn" takes us back to those good old days of '76, when John Stark's Green Mountain boys were devoting their energies to driving the British red coats from the green hills of Vermont. Not by any means, however, does the play confine itself to discussing solely the troublous times of that period, but charms and amuses us with its delightfully told love story, its quaint characters and funny situations, making it in all a stage performance calculated to entertain and give enjoyment to all.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Oct. 29.—The professed anxieties felt by the professional operators in stocks yesterday seemed to be considerably relieved today. Their professional brothers of bullish tendency added the incentive of lively bidding up here and there. As a consequence a considerable demand to cover short contracts made the market strong during the early part of the day. It was very noteworthy that the stocks which were weakest yesterday were foremost as a rule in the market today. The recovery did not pull to the full extent of yesterday's losses at any time. The upward reaction was achieved also on a considerably smaller volume of business. Among the day's special movements the sensational rise in Michigan Central revived the rumors of coming developments in the Vanderbilt group and was reflected in sharp advance in other members of the group. Michigan Central sold yesterday at 116, an advance of several points over the preceding sale in last March. Today it sold in one hundred share lots at 118, 120, 125, 135 and 140, after which it relapsed to 130. No explanation was forthcoming. Amalgamated Copper was influenced by the supposition that developments are pending which will benefit the conditions in the trade. There was support also for the United States Steel stocks, accompanied by reports of great activity in that industry. Brokers credited with acting for insiders both in United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper bought their respective stocks together today. These interests have been supposed to hold divergent views of the speculative outlook for some time. The buying of Amalgamated Copper for Boston account was very large, as it was of other stocks. This was supposed to be the reshuffling of stocks sold yesterday from that source. Total sales today, 521,900 shares.

Railroad bonds moved narrowly and were irregular. Total sales par value, $1,875,000.

United States new 4s declined ¼ per cent. on the last call.
