MISSSES BLOXHAM ARE STILL MYSTERIOUS

Four Hundred Dollars Realized From Sale of Goods in Their Possession—Pair of Boots Identified.

Philadelphia, Nov. 15.—The mystery in connection with finding so much valuable property in the possession of the two Ararat old maids, the Misses Bloxham, who recently applied for a divorce from their husbands, is being cleared up by the receipt of their application and calling and discovering the box filled with valuable merchandise in their possession and while the postmasters were looking for a drayman to remove their goods estimated at two truck loads were removed by unknown parties and all traces of them are utterly lost.

The Misses Bloxham still have "nothing to say" in regard to this or any other matter at all connected with the case. The goods, recently auctioned off, represented a period from 1880 to the present day. Some articles, as shown by watermarks and trademarks, were manufactured within the last two years. Such is the case especially in regard to the socks of sugar and salt and the farthing outside and the large number of beads and other small articles usually carried by the Arabian pack-peddler were also of no great age.

FACTORYVILLE.

Factoryville, Nov. 15.—The meetings of the Methodist church every evening this week have been well attended and very interesting. Rev. Johnson, of West Nicholson, preached a short sermon Friday evening.

NEW MILFORD

New Milford, Nov. 15.—The poverty social, which was to have been held in the Presbyterian church parlors on Friday evening, Nov. 15, has been postponed until next Friday evening.

CLOSE OF THE WAYNE TEACHERS INSTITUTE

Last Sessions Held Yesterday Morning—The Most Interesting and Successful in the History of the County.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. (Honesdale, Nov. 15.)—The last period Thursday morning was occupied for a short time by Prof. George Howell, superintendent of city schools, Scranton. His subject was "My Geographical History."

Prof. E. H. Green left for Stroudsburg to spend Thursday and Friday of the Monroe county institute and Miss Lloyd left for her home at Lanesdowne, Pa.

Thursday afternoon Dr. Smith was the first speaker. Subject, "Law, Light and Liberty." His discussion of the subject was very practical and instructive.

Friday morning marked the closing exercises of the institute. The professor was obliged to answer to an extent. Dr. Piers' subject was "How to Make Things Go." The doctor entered into his subject with marked earnestness and proved conclusively that it was the way to make things go. Life is meant only to a man who makes it so. Better die a man than a millionaire.

WAYMART.

Waymart, Nov. 15.—The funeral of Mrs. Lydia L. Stone, wife of Ira H. Stone, who died at the residence of her son, William Matthews, in Clinton, on Monday at 1 o'clock, Rev. Richard Passow, pastor of the Avoca Methodist Episcopal church and a nephew of the deceased, conducted the services. The burial was in the family plot in Maplewood cemetery by the side of her first husband, Mr. Matthews. A large number of friends attended the funeral.

Surprise birthday parties seem to be the order of the day at present, one being held last Thursday in honor of George A. Starkweather, and one Monday at Canaan in honor of Miss Fannie E. Gray. Both were largely attended by their numerous friends, and they report a very enjoyable affair.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review. New York, Nov. 15.—There was some further effort by professional bears during the early hours of the day's stock market to renew the decline which was in force yesterday, but the evidence was pretty conclusive that the recent selling to realize profits was completed, and the bears renewed the covering of shorts, which was a feature of the last four of yesterday's trading. The demand to cover shorts was considerable, and it was the strength of the market, but there were no indications of a rise, or of buying of a substantial character for reasons not disclosed. This was the feature of the day's trading, and it was the result of the covering of shorts, which was a feature of the last four of yesterday's trading.
