----WAR DEPARTMENT MEDALS. The Relative Values of These Marks

of Distinction.

from the New York Evening Post. The medal of honor conferred by the war department is a trophy of which the winner may well be proud. It means that the person to whom it is awarded has performed some act "of such a consplenous character as to clearly distinguish him for gallantry and intrepidity above his comrades service that involved extreme jeopards of life or the performance of extraordinarily hazardous duty." So rea the regulations governing the medal issue. Not many have been granted of late years-scarcely a hundred to yet-erans of the Spanish-American war and the Philippine service. But the value of one of these medals depends very much on the date of issue. Of the 2525 par out since the law tract in Overton and Barclay townfirm of Zeigler and Schumacher was passed in 1863, nearly half are little ships, to dispose of the braber and sc and was doing some repairs on a house better than counterfeits. In the years following the Civil war a number of medals were issued to scouts and civilians. One was given to ernment with a steamship. Remorkable to relate, one was given to Dr. Mary Walker. It was not for heroism la assuming male attire in defiance of ustom that her medal was given. Dr. Mary had been a "contract success," and the record reads that the field was issued too "service tendered durhig the war." The date of batte was 1866. ecompany Lincoln's remains from Washington to Springfield, Ill. Eleven years ago an organization known as the "Medal of Honor Legion" was formed with a view to securing more care in the bestowal of medals. The secretary of war issued a new regulation limiting the issue of these decorations to cases of distinguished gallantry. An unsuccessful effort was made, also, to get a law through con gress limiting the time of issue to three years from the date of the meritorious performance. This would insure more trustworthy testimony on which to base an award. In 1896 congress did pass joint resolution authorizing a certain ribbon to be worn in lieu of the medal. It is a small bow of red, white and blue, adapted to the lapel buttonbole. Congress has been very negligent about guarding the honors it bestows.
