THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Nov. 21.—Prices of stocks drifted uncertainly during the early part of the day's trading, the rather acute depression at some points contrasting with steady absorption at others. This irregularity gave place during the course of the afternoon to a general upward movement in sympathy with the notable strength in New York Central, which touched 136¾, an extreme advance of 5⅝ over last night's price. The buying of this stock was on a very large scale, many blocks of one thousand shares and upwards changing hands at every stage of the latter advance. No news was forthcoming to explain this movement beyond the reiterated rumors of a plan for combining the Vanderbilt system. All of the Vanderbilts were affected by the movement, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, of which the shares not yet exchanged for New York Central collateral bonds are very few, sold at 374⅞ and 130, respectively. Manhattan was another effective center of strength and was bought on an enormous scale by brokers usually acting for inside interests, the advance extending to 1⅜ over last night's price in the late dealings. Missouri Pacific was also lifted 2¼, but otherwise the Gould stocks were not conspicuous. Under the stimulating influence of this aggressive leadership practically all the early losses were wiped out. The most conspicuous of these were in Great Northern preferred, which fell 2½ under the influence of the agitation in the northwest against the Northern Securities company. Amalgamated Copper and People's Gas. The level of prices was generally below last night at one time during the forenoon, while there was still apprehension that there would be further large exports of gold on Saturday. There was very large buying of Reading, but it never rose more than a point, and Louisville and Nashville, Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville, a number of the coalers, sugar and Consolidated Gas were notably strong. The market closed active and strong in spite of some profit taking by room traders. Total sales today, 769,900 shares.

The railroad bond market was moderately active and prices were inclined to advance. Total sales par value, $2,985,000.

United States refunding 2s registered, the new 4s and 5s advanced ¼ per cent, on the last call.

Theatrical.

ATTRACTIONS TODAY.

LYCEUM—Operatic Carnival, for the benefit of the Hahnemann hospital. Night.

ACADEMY—Himmelein's Ideals. Afternoon and night.

STAR—The Victoria Burlesquers. Night.

Hanlon's "Superba."

Hanlon's always popular and always novel and enjoyable "Superba" delighted a very large audience at the Lyceum last night. It is not the same "Superba" that was seen here in other seasons. In reality nothing remains of the "Superba" of other years but the name. The fight between the powers of light and darkness is waged amid entirely new surroundings.

The scenery is new and beautiful, the situations are new and most of the mechanical effects, with which the three acts are plentifully strewn, are of a kind never seen here before. The Hanlons are certainly doing the utmost to keep "Superba" up to date. Specialties of various kinds and ballets help to enliven the spectacle. The company presenting "Superba" is a good one.

Large Audiences at the Academy.

The Ideals continue to attract large audiences at the Academy, and the company has established itself a prime favorite with theater-goers. "Little Wildcat" at the matinee, and "A Man of Mystery" last night, pleased two crowded houses yesterday, the frequent and hearty applause being ample proof that the company's efforts to please were appreciated.

This afternoon "Lion of the Night" will be given, and tonight, "The Great Northwest" promises to attract an overflowing house.

The Victoria Burlesquers.

The Victoria Burlesquers began a three days' engagement at the Star yesterday and made a very favorable showing. The Victoria's varied the usual opening act to an extent by introducing the popular music with a minstrel scene, with interlocutor, bones and tambos. That the act pleased was evidenced by the hearty encores received by the vocalists.

In the olio Readie, the coon song vocalist; Fredericks Brothers, musical comedians; Kelly and Davis, and LeRoy and Woodford gave pleasing turns. The entertainment concludes with a laughable burlesque entitled the "Victoria Burlesquers on Broadway," in which handsome costumes, bright music and clean humor were the features. The Victorias will remain the balance of the week, with matinee tomorrow.

Schiller Stock Company.

On next Monday evening the Schiller Stock company will open a week's engagement at the Academy of Music, in the great New York and London success, "Woman's Enemy." A carload of scenery and effects are carried for this production. Seats are now on sale at the box office.

For Thanksgiving the prices have been slightly advanced. Matinee prices will be 10, 20 and 30 cents, and at night, 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents. For this date only, and at a great expense an orchestra of fifteen high-class musicians and the famous Powers Brothers, trick and comic bicycle riders, have been especially engaged. Sale of seats for Thanksgiving opens Tuesday morning at 9 a. m.

"The Christian."

Contemporaneous authors and opposition managers have all admitted that the greatest success of the modern stage is "The Christian"; moreover, the continuous patronage of the public attests to its wonderful merit and vitality. The play, now in its third season, is still drawing crowded houses. The presentation on the road is exactly the same as done in New York. Lindsey & Co., who are the owners, spare no expense to give a perfect ensemble. The players are taken from the ranks of the best and most experienced in the profession. The scenic outfit is the same as used in the Knickerbocker theater, New York, and the auxiliaries, which are usually hired in big cities and not used at all in one night stands, are carried with the company which numbers fifty people.

The prices of seats are high, but the enormous expense of the organization makes it necessary. The date in this city is Tuesday, Nov. 26, at the Lyceum theater.

Lovers of Music

can scarcely afford to miss the Thanksgiving artist recital of the Conservatory course at the St. Luke's Parish house auditorium, at 8 p. m. The famous and talented young Russian pianist, Arthur Beckman, will offer a programme with which none could find fault, and all will be delighted. This note from a German paper is worth reading:

"On the same evening a pianist already well known, Arthur Beckman, again appeared. This highly gifted, still very young man, who on previous occasions attracted attention by his technical mastery, revealed here musical abilities which open to him prospects of an extraordinary career. His conception, full of temperament, always bears the stamp of a strong personality, and is supported by an intonation which is exceedingly charming in the "piano" and never too loud in the "forte." The Chopin A flat major Polonaise was given rhythmically with conviction, but would have borne a quicker tempo. Surprisingly effective was his virtuoso technic in a staccato etude of Scharwenka. The concertgiver received enthusiastic applause, which led to several additions."—Berliner Tageblatt.

A Rare Recital.

Mr. Forest Gamble, who appears at the Lyceum on the Broadway course next Wednesday evening, the 27th, is doubtless one of the busiest and most popular singers before the public today. This season he heads his own concert party on a thirty weeks' tour.

Mr. Gamble is particularly happy in his arrangement and selection of recital programmes, and he will present some of the very newest compositions, as well as some rare old ballads and embellished folk-songs.

STAGE NOTES.

Charles E. Blaney is going to send "Sam'l of Posen" to pursuit of "A Female Drummer," in the belief that there is room for one more city play among the multitude of rural, pastoral and bygone plays.

Hall Caine has submitted a scenario of his dramatization of "The Eternal City" to Liebler & Co. this week that promises really wonderful results, and a play that will open with thrilling interest soon after the first fall of the curtain.

Edward J. Morgan's John Storm is never seen here in the western cities, and after seeing "The Christian" he being presented this season he has created a veritable craving.
