

Scranton

Tribune.

THE ONLY SCRANTON PAPER RECEIVING THE COMPLETE NEWS SERVICE OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, THE GREATEST NEWS AGENCY IN THE WORLD.

TWO CENTS.

MEETING OF THE 57TH CONGRESS

The Senate at Washington will convene at 1 p.m. today.

BUT LITTLE BUSINESS WILL BE TRANSACTED

The First Measure of National Interest Which Will Be Introduced in the Senate Will Be a Resolution Looking to Public Action Concerning the Death of President McKinley—The First Message of President Roosevelt Will Be Received on Tuesday—Henderson Will Be the Speaker of the House.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Washington, Dec. 1.—One of the first measures of national interest which will be introduced in the senate at the session which begins tomorrow will be a resolution looking to public action concerning the death of President McKinley. This will be presented on Tuesday by either Senator Foraker or Senator Davis, probably Foraker, and after its introduction the senate will adjourn immediately as a mark of respect to the memory of the dead president. The annual message of President Roosevelt will not be received until Tuesday, and on this account the session of Monday will be exceedingly brief. It is not expected that anything will be done on that day beyond the announcement of the death of Senator Kyle, following which the senate, in accordance with custom, will adjourn for the day.

On Tuesday the president's message will be read, and after its reading the announcement of the death of President McKinley will follow at once, whereupon, under the precedent established when Presidents Lincoln and Garfield died, resolutions providing for the appointment of a committee to act with a similar committee of the house of representatives to take appropriate action relating to the matter and then, failing for immediate adjournment, for the day will be adopted. These committees have been appointed to arrange the details of public exercises and it is understood that they will be pursued in this instance, and that later in the session some public man of distinction will be invited to deliver a eulogy in the capitol.

Flood of New Bills.

Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to the introduction of new bills, and, as usual, there will be a flood of them. Among the first bills of importance to be presented will be the ship subsidy bill, which will be introduced by Senator Frye, and the Nicaragua canal bill, which Senator Morgan will present. Senator Frye has not entirely completed his bill, but he said today that it would be different in many details from the old bill of last session. That measure was framed by former Senator Edmunds, Senator Frye him of the other side, the new bill, Senator Morgan's bill will be a duplicate of Representative Hendon's bill on the canal question. Other early bills of importance will be one looking to the construction of a submarine cable from the western coast to Hawaii, and another providing for the establishment of a new executive department to be known as the department of commerce. On Thursday the senate will adjourn until the following Monday.

The general opinion among senators is that very little real work will be done before the Christmas holidays. The first subject demanding attention is reciprocity. Various treaties are now pending in the senate looking to commercial agreements between the United States and other countries. Senator Aldrich will renew his effort to have these treaties which already have been reported from the committee on foreign relations, committed to the committee on commerce on the ground that they deal with tariff questions. The friends of the treaties will oppose this demand and the preliminary skirmish expected to ensue probably will serve to develop some interesting features. The early days of the session will be marked by the reorganization of the senate committees so far as may be necessary and a census of the Republican members will be held tomorrow for the purpose of considering this question and appointing a committee to suggest names for the vacancies. The most important place to be filled is that of chairman of the committee on foreign relations. It is generally conceded that Senator Culion, who is the senior Republican member of that committee, will succeed to the chairmanship.

In the House.

The programme for the opening day in the house tomorrow, although it will follow rigidly routine precedents, will be interesting and to a certain extent picturesque. Admission to the galleries will be by card of which two have been issued to each member and they no doubt will be crowded to their full capacity. The desks of the popular members will be laden with flowers. The doorkeeper of the house will call the members to order at noon and after prayer by the chaplain the roll will be called by states.

NEGRO RUNS AMUCK.

Fires a Pistol Upon Streets Causing All Pedestrians to Flee.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

West Chester, Pa., Dec. 1.—A negro, Williams, a negro not along one of the principal streets today firing a pistol causing all pedestrians to flee, chief of police attempted to arrest him and received a shot in the shoulder. Another negro named Bateman was shot in the abdomen and a man named James Cobain, an onlooker, was shot in the leg.

Steamship Arrivals.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 1.—Arrived: Steamer Lorraine, Bayonne; Potomac, Rotterdam and Bremen; Umbria, Liverpool and Queenstown; Lizbeth; Stearns Southwark, Annapolis for New York; Armenia; Armed Vulture, New York; Albion; Stearns Europa, New York; Albion; Queenstown; Salem; Steamer Europa (from Liverpool), New York.

SCRANTON, PA., MONDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 2, 1901.

MUELLER ARRESTED.

The Man Who Said That President Should Be Shot Is Under Bail.

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—A. H. Mueller, the man arrested Saturday evening at Broad and Chestnut streets, charged with having declared that President Roosevelt should be served the same as was McKinley, was held in $500 bail for court today for disturbing the peace. At the hearing before Magistrate Kochersperger at the City Hall Mueller had nothing to say beyond declaring that he was not responsible for saying on Saturday for using the words imputed to him.

He stated that he had boarded several weeks at No. 1305 Vine street, and had previously been a machinist in Wilmington, Del.

Mueller was arrested on complaint of E. T. Tobin, who claimed to have heard him use the threatening language.

Tobin said today that the remark was made in the Hotel Lexington at the time the president was looking at the foot ball game in West Philadelphia.

At Mueller's boarding place it was stated that he had always conducted himself in a quiet and orderly manner. He is said to have been out of employment for some time.

SOUTH CAROLINA EXPOSITION PRELUDE

Impressive Religious Exercises at Charleston—Ceremonies of Today—Prominent Orators.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Charleston, S. C., Dec. 1.—Impressive religious exercises, intended as a prelude to tomorrow's opening of the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian exposition, were held at the exposition grounds this afternoon.

The naming of December 1 as the opening day of the exposition was with consulting the calendar, and the fact that December 1 was discovered only a short time ago. It was then decided that a proper way to fulfill the promise made in the resolution as to the opening was to hold exercises appropriate to the day.

Ellison Capers, Episcopal bishop of South Carolina, made the invocation. A dedication ode by George Herbert Sims, of Charleston, and set to music by Theodore Sand, was sung by a large choir accompanied by the First Artillery band.

Addressed were made by several ministers, and the benediction was pronounced by Manager Quigley.

The exposition will be formally opened tomorrow afternoon. The ceremonies at the "Ivy City" will be preceded by a parade, composed of marine, naval reserves, cadets, state volunteers and various civic societies under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Charles Miris, United States army. The city is handsomely decorated, and there were many arrivals at the hotels during the day.

Hon. Chatney M. Dewey, United States senator from New York, who is to deliver the dedication oration, arrived in Charleston this morning and is being entertained tonight at Summerdale by F. W. Wagner, president of the exposition company.

Governor McSweeney and staff arrived tonight to participate in tomorrow's exercises.

SWITCHMEN'S STRIKE.

Railroad Managers Claim to Have the Situation Well in Hand at Pittsburgh.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 1.—Reports from the managers and operators of the different railroads affected by the switchmen's strike assert this evening that they have the situation well in hand and that the new men who have taken strikers' places are now working to good advantage. Saturday being a day when little new freight is received, considerable work was accomplished in the way of clearing the yards of congested condition.

In spite of the bad reports made by the railroad officials, the strikers officials are claiming decided progress gained today. Their statement is that at midnight last night the two hundred men employed by the Jones and Laughlin connecting road struck on orders from the strike committee. The committee claim that early in the day Superintendent McNamee agreed to sign the scale for one year, but when the time came for signing the papers in the evening Mr. McCune refused his former agreement and had the committee escorted from the yards by policemen. As a consequence the men were ordered out.

The McKeepson connecting road with the terminal of the National Tube company, employing 200 men, and 20 night crews of three men each, is working under a partial strike, some continuing on the striking by other roads. The strike committee now demands that the scale be dropped without a proviso and the company is given until tomorrow noon to accept. The committee reports that nearly all of the employees of this road are members of the union and will strike.

NEGRO RUNS AMUCK.

Fires a Pistol Upon Streets Causing All Pedestrians to Flee.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Lawrence, Kan., Dec. 1.—A letter received here says:

"General Chaffee has recommended that Aguinaldo be brought to this country. It is stated that he has been received in a series of reasonable correspondence and trying to start strife. Aguinaldo is a schemer, but advised received here state that General Chaffee believes the leader's presence in the United States is responsible for the insurgents' recent activity.

NEGRO RUNS AMUCK.

Fires a Pistol Upon Streets Causing All Pedestrians to Flee.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 1.—Arrived: Steamer Lorraine, Bayonne; Potomac, Rotterdam and Bremen; Umbria, Liverpool and Queenstown; Lizbeth; Stearns Southwark, Annapolis for New York; Armenia; Armed Vulture, New York; Albion; Stearns Europa, New York; Albion; Queenstown; Salem; Steamer Europa (from Liverpool), New York.

Steamship Arrivals.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 1.—Arrived: Steamer Lorraine, Bayonne; Potomac, Rotterdam and Bremen; Umbria, Liverpool and Queenstown; Lizbeth; Stearns Southwark, Annapolis for New York; Armenia; Armed Vulture, New York; Albion; Stearns Europa, New York; Albion; Queenstown; Salem; Steamer Europa (from Liverpool), New York.

THE ARMY IS VICTORIOUS

West Point Defeats Annapolis at Foot Ball by a Score of Eleven to Five.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AMONG SPECTATORS

The Most Distinguished Assemblage That Ever Gathered at a Football Game on Franklin Field—Daly's Fine Play the Feature Which Deceived Where Laurels Should Rest.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—In the presence of the most distinguished assembly that ever gathered at a football game, and that includes President Roosevelt, several members of the cabinet, and many of the highest officers in the army and the navy, the football team of the West Point endics defeated their old rivals, the naval cadets, after a game that was fought with bulldog tenacity from beginning to end. The final score was 11 to 5, and that the army was able to win by this narrow margin instead of by the much wider one that had been expected was due quite as much to good fortune as to superior football ability. It was a case of too much Daly. The phenomenal quarterback made every solitary point scored by the West Pointers, kicking a goal from the field, making a run for one hundred yards, catching a punt, and planting the ball behind the Navy's goal posts.

It is only fair to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had been expected by the marksmen of the day.

It is difficult to say that without Daly West Point would have lost the game. As it was, the play was in the Army's territory the greater part of the time, and during most of the second half West Point was plainly the better, but the margin of victory was so narrow that had