PISTOL SHOTS PROVED FATAL

FIRST DEATH AS A RESULT OF STRIKE DISORDER.

Daniel McAuliffe, Who Was Shot Five Times in the Leg During the Trouble at Moran's Saloon, on Luzerne Street, Two Weeks Ago, Died at the Lackawanna Hospital of Blood Poisoning—Detective, Special Officer and Motorman Held in Jail for the Killing.

Daniel McAuliffe, one of the three men shot during the strike fracas at Moran's saloon on Luzerne street, December 9, died at the Lackawanna hospital shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Sylvester P. Cosgrove, a Drummond detective; Frank Kofczynski, alias Skowille, a special officer of Alderman Miller's court; and Frank Kingsley, an import motorman, were arrested for the killing and are under $5,000 bail each to answer at court.

McAuliffe's wounds consisted of five bullet holes in the calf of the left leg. Blood poisoning quickly set in, and three days after the shooting, the hospital physicians amputated the leg above the knee as the only means of saving his life. The operation, however, failed of its purpose, and yesterday McAuliffe succumbed to gangrenous poisoning.

The shooting was the outcome of an assault made on railway company men near the corner of Hampton street and South Main avenue, the day before. A crowd had been throwing stones at passing cars and three men were sent over at 9:20 p. m. to put a stop to it. These were Detective Cosgrove, Chief Clerk J. J. Landers and D. T. Kelly, private secretary to General Manager Silliman. When they attempted to make arrests the crowd pitched on to them and put them to rout. All three were badly used up and Cosgrove was rendered unconscious by a blow on the head. He spent the night at the Scranton private hospital undergoing repairs.

WARRANTS ISSUED.

The next day the company swore out a warrant before Alderman Miller for the arrest of "John Doe et al," and Special Officer Kofczynski was entrusted with the serving of it. Detective Cosgrove and Frank Kingsley, motorman of the car on which Cosgrove, Landers and Kelly went to the scene of the trouble the night before, accompanied Kofczynski to identify the parties wanted.

The search for the assailants of the night before brought them to the saloon of Dominick Moran, corner of Luzerne and Sixteenth streets. There was a big crowd in the place, probably half a hundred, and when Kofczynski attempted to serve a warrant on one of the number, a youth named William Mochran, trouble was precipitated.

According to the story of the officers one of the crowd attempted to strike Kofczynski with a miner's drill, another hit him with a club, and others piled on to Cosgrove and Kingsley.

The officers sought their way to the outside and were retreating, so they claim, when McAuliffe took a revolver from Mochran's hands and opened fire on them. They returned the fire, backing away all the time and finally broke and ran, followed by a volley of bullets.

The other side of the story was detailed at the hearing held before the three judges yesterday afternoon, on a motion to admit to bail the trio accused of doing the shooting.

COSGROVE ARRESTED.

On the strength of a statement made by McAuliffe, last Friday, when he believed he was about to die, Cosgrove was arrested on a warrant issued by Alderman Howe, at the instance of Superintendent of Police Robling, charging him with assault and battery and shooting with intent to kill. He was required to give $2,000 bail.

Yesterday Court Detective Phillips went before Alderman Kassar and had warrants sworn out for the arrest of Cosgrove, Kofczynski and Kingsley on the charge of murder. Constable Ira Mitchell brought them in and the alderman directed that they be held, it not being within his authority to accept bail.

Early in the afternoon they were brought into court at the behest of their attorneys, Willard, Warren & Knapp and O'Brien & Martin that a motion might be made to have them admitted to bail.

District Attorney Lewis objected to their being released on bail, claiming he had a large number of witnesses at hand to show that it was not a ballable offense. Court decided to hear the witnesses at the close of the argument session.

At 4:30 the three judges sat to hear the testimony. District Attorney Lewis and H. J. Murray, private counsel for the prosecution, represented the commonwealth. The defense was represented by Major Everett Warren, Hon. C. P. O'Malley and M. J. Martin. John McAuliffe, a brother of the deceased, was present.

MORAN'S TESTIMONY.

The first witness called was Dominick Moran, proprietor of the saloon in which the trouble began. There were fifty or sixty men in the place at 3 o'clock p. m. when the officers entered, he said. They started they had a warrant for "John Doe" and began looking about at the crowd. Finally, Mochran was decided upon as the man wanted and Kofczynski proceeded to read the warrant to him. Having finished with the reading Kofczynski seized Mochran by the coat lapels and began dragging him towards the door. The crowd pressed behind them. The witness was in fear of the crowd and could not see what was going on in front but when he finally got to the outside the firing was in progress. There was no demonstration against the officers, he said. The crowd only went as far as the stoop, but all of them could not be contained on it and those in the rear pushed those in front down the steps and on to the sidewalk. The witness said no one struck the officers, heard no one call them names and saw no revolvers or other weapons in the hands of any of the crowd. When the firing ceased it was found that three of the crowd had been shot. Daniel McAuliffe, John Dunleavy and William Bourke.

Dr. Claude W. Walker, a resident physician at the Lackawanna hospital, told of McAuliffe's reception and treatment at the hospital and that he died from gangrene.

DUNLEAVY WAS SHOT.

John Dunleavy, who was shot in the arm, testified that he was in Moran's place when the officers entered and saw the affair from almost its inception to the end. He was at a table playing a game when the officers entered and did not notice them, until he heard the noise following the attempt to arrest Mochran. He followed the crowd to the outside and saw the shooting. There were no shots fired by any one in the crowd, he said, and none of them had a gun, as far as he could see. McAuliffe was shot, the witness said, while retreating and at a time when he was six yards from the officers. Five shots were fired, he said, before any one was struck. Altogether there were eighteen or twenty shots fired. The two officers and the motorman were lined up at the curb hanging away into the crowd, he said.

Dunleavy denied that he struck Kofczynski and declared that there was no gun in the crowd.

Mrs. Catherine Moran, wife of the saloonkeeper, told that she was behind the bar when the trouble began and seizing a club ran out from behind the bar and mixed up with the crowd. Some one took the club away from her, she said, but who it was took it she could not say. When she reached the outside she saw the three men standing in the curb firing into the crowd. She didn't see a club or revolver in the hands of any of the crowd and didn't

SHOT WHILE UP A TREE

CHICKEN THIEF MET DEATH IN DICKSON CITY.

Frank Skaczelas Shot in the Breast by Thomas Meehan While Attempting to Steal Poultry from the Premises of Thomas McGuire. Meehan Has Been Arrested and Committed Without Bail to the County Jail—He Says He Didn't Know Skaczelas Was in the Tree.

The man who was shot on Tuesday night in Dickson City while stealing chickens and who died shortly afterwards, was Frank Skaczelas, a Poland-Lithuanian, 28 years old. Thomas Meehan, who shot him, is in the county jail, committed without bail on the charge of murder.

Meehan boarded with Thomas McGuire, who rents the Smith farm, near the lower end of Dickson City. He says he was sitting in the house writing a letter on Tuesday night when he heard a noise in the yard and peering out the window saw two men near the chicken coop.

He armed himself with a shot gun and awakened McGuire. The latter took a revolver and thus armed the two men stole out into the yard, Meehan says. He determined to seize the men and fired his gun in the air. He was shocked a minute later to see the body of Skaczelas tumble from a tree near the chicken coop and to discover, upon examination that the latter had been shot in the breast. The injured man was removed to the hospital building where he died in half an hour.

Meehan declares that he did not know that Skaczelas was in the tree and that his only idea in firing was to scare the men. He gave himself up yesterday and was committed to the county jail without bail by Burgess Kennedy. An examination of the premises after the shooting revealed the fact that Skaczelas must have been wringing the necks of the chickens roosting in the tree and then throwing the towels to the ground.

Coroner Roberts made a post-mortem examination yesterday and found that several of the shot had pierced the heart and lungs of the dead man. He will conduct an inquest in the case either tonight or tomorrow night.

Thomas Skaczelas, a brother of the dead man, and Wyzook Voronichuk were arrested yesterday on suspicion of being connected with the attempted chicken stealing, and in default of bail were late last night committed to the county jail.

think the officers were in such danger as would necessitate their shooting to defend themselves.

District Attorney Lewis rested at this juncture, saying he had any number of other witnesses who would testify similarly to those who had been heard.

Major Warren then renewed his motion to have the defendants admitted to bail arguing that the testimony clearly disclosed the fact that the crime could not rise to the level of first degree murder.

President Judge Edwards, speaking for the court, said it was the opinion of the judges that the crime could not rise higher than second degree murder and that the defendants should be admitted to bail. The district attorney acquiesced.

Court fixed the bail at $5,000 in each case. The Title Guaranty and Trust company became their surety, and they were released.

McAuliffe's remains were taken from the hospital to Cusick's undertaking establishment to be prepared for burial. Later they were transferred to the family home, 327 Seventeenth street. McAuliffe was a mine driver by occupation.

MORE DYNAMITING.

Car Blown Up on Carbon Street. Mahon and Mitchell to Confer today—Two Strikers Return.

Yesterday's dynamiting of a trolley car took place before daybreak. Carbon street, in the vicinity of the bridge leading to the whites of the Pine Brook colliery, was the scene.

This dynamiting differed from the others in that it was the rear truck which exploded the cartridge. A number of cars had passed this spot bound from the Providence farm to the central city to start out for the day. At 6:30 a car with two ex-strikers comprising the crew, came along and encountered the dynamite. The front truck passed by without exploding the cartridge. One of the rear wheels struck it and there was the usual consequence, a broken flange, smashed windows and derailed machinery. How the front wheels escaped the cartridge is a mystery. One explanation offered is that the percussion cap was not on the rail until the front wheels of the car brushed against the cartridge and twisted it about.

An assault was made on a crew at Olyphant yesterday but it had no serious consequences.

Car No. 102 of the Green Ridge People's line was dynamited on Capouse avenue near Green Ridge street last night about 8:30 o'clock. There were twenty ladies on board, but no serious damages resulted beyond the blowing off of the flange of one of the wheels.

Two more of the strikers, Tony Ryder and J. S. Andrews, returned to work yesterday, making thirty in all who are now back on the cars.

National President W. D. Mahon, of the street car union, is laid in bed with rheumatism at the annex to the Grand Central hotel. President John Mitchell of the mine workers is to come here today to act with Mr. Mahon in dealing with the strike. Mr. Mahon said yesterday that he had nothing to give out as to their plans for the future further than that the fight will be prosecuted with all vigor.

One proposition advanced by the strikers is to have President Mahon intercede with Senator Mark Hanna to take a hand in settling the strike.

President Mitchell is coming here tomorrow from the session of the National Civic Federation, of which he is a leading member. He is one of the sub-committee appointed to perfect plans for
