Social Gossip

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Lauer entertained upwards of fifty friends last night in their beautiful home at the corner of Wyoming avenue and Vine street and the manner in which the guests were entertained is more than worthy of the telling. The invitations which had been sent out kept every person who received one on the qui vive to know just what was in store and the joys of realization far surpassed those of anticipation for seldom has a more original home entertainment been given in this city The invitations sent out asked the recipient to become one of a party who were to spend the night on the pleasure barge "Scranton," which was booked to sail from "Port Lauer" at 9 p. m. promptly. Upon their arrival at the house the guests found "Port Lauer" to be the front hallway and were ushered up stairs where they found themselves apparently on the deck of a good sized vessel. Masts had been rigged up and a full head of canvas was on while the rooms were decorated to represent ship's cabins.

It was explained by the host and hostess that the destination of the barge was Coney Island and that the latter point would be reached in a few minutes. Coney Island proved to be the lower floor which was fitted up to represent a block on the Bowery of that well known seaside resort. room had been transformed into a summer garden and here liquid refreshments and pretzels were served by a white aproned assistant. Another room contained a roulette lay out and here many of the guests spent their time in gambling (with beans)

The walls of the large drawing rooms were hung with theatrical pasters and here were to be found a gipsy fortune teller, the hot frankfurter man and a number of other Coney Island features. Dancing was enjoyed late in the night and the guests departed in the early hours of the morning after having enjoyed one of the most delightful nights of the year.

MASS SUNG IN THE POLISH LANGUAGE

New Departure of Father Hodur of Independent Polish Catholic Church, of Which He is Administrator.

The Independent Polish Catholic hurch of South Scranton was crowded it the three masses celebrated yesterlay morning when the mass was sung n the Polish tongue for the first time

n this country.

Rev Francis Hudor, who is the Amarcan head of the new church, and is known as administrator, has for some time past been engaged in translating the old Gregorian Liturgy Into the Polish language. He has eliminated prayers for the sovereign pontiff and bishops of the Roman Catholic church and instead gives prayers for the people and country. The followers of the new church do not recognize, and refuse allegience to the pope, but otherwise folow the rules and ritual of the Roman Catholic church and the decrees of the Ecumenical council.

Eleven parishes are incorporated with the new movement, there being six in Pennsylvania.and five in New Jersey and Massachusetts, with a total membership of about 10,000 souls. In addition to the administrator, a council composed of the priests and a lay member from each congregation from the board of administration and advisory ouncil. The church property is owned by the congregacion and recorded in its name. Father Hudor celebrated three masses yesterday, the first at midnight, the second at 9 o'clock, and high mass at 10.30 a m.

Report That a Street Car Dynamiter

It was reported yesterday that a man suspected of being the miscreant who had been dynamiting street cars had been detected and that his arrest would take place early this morning, when it was hoped he would be found at home in bed.

As the story goes, two special officers who have been working on the case, saw a man place somtheing on the car track and hurry away. By the time they reached the spot and confirmed their suspicions that the something was a stick of dynamite, the man had disappeared. One of the officers, however, had recognized him, and the next day upon making a search of his premises, found three sticks of dynamite secreted in his coal shed.

OBSERVED WITH CEREMONY IN CATHOLIC CHURCHES.

High Mass Was Celebrated at Hoban-The Sermon Was Preached by Father Bustin-Masses at St. W. P. O'Donnell, Patrick's, St. Mary's, St. John's, Holy Cross, and the Other Churches of the City.

In all of the Catholic churches of the ty there was a special observance of Christmas yesterday.

Masses were celebrated at St. Peter's athedral at 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10.30 o'clock, and at each mass there was a congregation which filled the church. The first was a high mass and the last a pontifical high mass. The first was cele-brated by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly, rector of the cathedral, with Rev. Bernard O'Byrne and Rev. McLaughlin, deacon and sub-deacon, respectively. Bishop Hoban celebrated the 9 o'clock mass, which was for children, and preached a brief sermon on the signifiance of the festival. At the pontifical high mass. Bishop Hoban was assisted by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly, as assistant priest; Rev. Patrick Holmes and Rev. Father McLaughlin, deacons of honor; Rev. D. J. Bustin and Rev. Bernard O'Byrne, deacon and sub-deacon of the mass, and Rev. J. J. Griffin, master of eremonles.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Father Bustin. He explained the meaning of the three masses prescribed in the liturgy for Christmas, and celebrated with some variations as to the hour the world over. These three masses, he explained, are significant of the three births of Christ. The first mass, which is said before daylight and usually begins at midnight in Catholic countries, typifies the eternal birth from the Eternal Father. The match is to be straight eatch-as- Day is symbolical of time, and the made to symbolize the birth of Christ before time was.

The second mass, celebrated at dawn, typifies the incarnation. had a custom of celebrating three masses each Christmas day, the first at St. John Laterns, the second at St. Anastasia's, and the third at the right place, Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul. The pontifical mass being a lengthy ceremony and the churches being somewhat distant each from the other, the pope was compelled to begin the first mass with the beginning of the day that he might conclude the other before the ending of the ecclesiastical day, or 2 o'clock p. m.

The Cathedral interior was beautifully embellished for the Christmas festival, the auditorium being profusely draped with greens, and the altars resplendent in cut flowers and illuminaof the "Stable at Bethlehem." At the pontifical mass the choir was assisted by Bauer's orchestra.

Master James McHugh, the boy tenor, sang the "Ave Marie" very effectively. The high mass at 10 o'clock was celebrated by Assistant Pastor Rev. P. E. Lavelle, who also preached an appropriate sermon on the birth of Christ. The choir, under the direction of the church organist. Miss Johnson, rendered a special programme of music, which was of a high order.

The Christmas tree exercises of the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church Sunday school were held last night and attracted a congregation that filled the mmense auditorium,

The entertainment given was generally conceded to be one of the most successful ever conducted in the church and was produced under the direction of Prof. John T. Watkins. The entertainment was given on a large platform erected in front of the pulpit and flanked on one side by an enormous Christmas tree gaily decorated with colored electric lights and resplendent with gold and silver decor-

The principal feature of the entertainment was a little playlet entitled, 'Santa's Surprise," in which a merry party of children caught old Santa in the act of coming into the house and had a gay and rollicking time with the jolly old fellow who was cleverly impersonated by Prof. Watkins himself. He proved himself a clever actor as till late at night, on the principal thorwell as a singer and kept the audience oughfares. in laughter for over half an hour when he was finally compelled to disgorge the children. He distributed gifts to all the children present and wished hem all a happy new year.

The auditorium of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church presented a beautiful appearance last evening, when the members of the Sabbath school, with their friends, gathered to celebrate their Christmas festival. The walls were festooned with evergreens and holly, and upon the platform a huge fireplace had been built of boxes filled with candy. Superintendent E. S. Pratt presided over the exercises, and at the close of the programme, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus came down the big chimney and the bricks of the fireplace were quickly pulled down and distributed among the scholars. The exercises were enjoyed by many not regularly connected with the school, all strangers being gladly welcomed. The following is the programme rendered:

OBSERVANCE OF CHRISTMAS DAY

Nothing to Make the Holiday Remarkable-Caring for Poor and Other Unfortuntes.

Yesterday had nothing in particular o make it remarkable as a Christmas lay. The usual observances obtained without features that were especially novel, and the weather was a compre mise between good and bad, being fairly winterish overhead, with just a sight of snow, and disagreeable under foot by reason of the thaw.

One thing by which the day might be made to stand out from those immediately preceding it was the crowded condition of the central city streets. For two months, by reason of the street car strike, the central city has been somewhat deserted. Even the usual shopping crowds of the few days before Christmas were not very much in evidence. Yesterday, however, there was a continuous throng from early morn

As early as 4.20 o'clock these streets had their crowds. They were composed mainly of the pious people, who would begin the day aright by attending church. The 5 o'clock mass at the The speaking parts in the little cathedral was attended by fully 2,000 playlet were taken by Sallie Tripp, persons, while at 6 o'clock St. Peter's and St. Luke's had congregations that filled their vast auditoriums. church-goers was constant. In the afternoon, the theatre-goers swelled the usual holiday afternoon crowds, and while daylight lasted the son, Ethel Baker, Hazel Walters, Eva sidewalks, in consequence, bore a circus crowds were not much smaller. As is formance.

If there was anybody lacking the substantials that go to make possible a merry Christmas, it is no fault of Scranton's charity or thoughtfulness. The Associated Charities, the church pot.
