STABBING AFFRAY IN MONTROSE JAIL

A Tramp Named Kroskey Is Murderously Assaulted by Another Tramp Named Turrell.

Special to the Scrapton Tribune.

Montrose, Dec. 26.-At the Susquehanna county jail, in this place, this morning, shortly after 10 o'clock, a terrible stabbing affray took place, in which one prisoner was murderously assaulted with a knife by another prisoner, inflicting injuries which Jail Physician C. D. Mackey beleves will prove fatal.

The victim was a tramp giving at the time of his arrest the name of Frank Brown, who pleaded guilty to the charge of resisting an officer and was sent to jail for thirty days by Justice M. H. Van Scoten, and his term would have expired in a few days. He now gives his name as Jack Kroskey, and his residence as 23 Chambers street, Newark, N. J., and his statement is generally credited by the authorities. His alleged assailant is another tramp, who gives his name. probably assumed, as James Turrell, and his residence as Scranton, an ac count of whose arrest for larceny and his commitment to jaff to await action of the grand jury has been previously given. He was anxious to get into fail, but he will doubtless lose such anxiety before he again breathes the air a free man. Inquiries by a Tribune representative elicited the following particulars regarding the affair:

This forenoon Turrell, who was regarded at the jail as an inoffensive sort of an individual, was given a knife and permitted to pare potatoes for dinner. While thus engaged in the upper corridor, shortly after 10 o'clock a. m., he seemed to be taken with a sudden frenzy, and as Kroskey came near him, he sprang upon the latter, and before they could be separated had victously attacked the defenseless man and inflicted with the knife wounds which Jail Physician Mackay considers fatal, though Kroskey is, at this writing, still alive.

Kroskey's left ear was almost entirely cut off, a stab in the back of the neck severed an artery or large blood vessel: another stab was almost directly between the ribs, while another, and the most serious, was just below the heart, a cruel gash, about two inches long and four inches deep. Mackay at once notified the jall officials of the gravity of the man's condition, and Justice M. H. Van Scoten was sent for to take what is likely to prove the ante-mortem statement of Kroskey, and also, at the man's request, Rev. Father A. T. Broderick, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church. was summoned to give spiritual comfort and to administer the last rites of the church for the dying.

In his statement, Kroskey claims that the assault upon him was unprovoked, names Turrell as his assailant, and avers that there was and had been no quarrel between them. The knife used was an ordinary jack-knife, of good size. This knife is alleged to have been thrown away by Turrell, after the stabbing, but was afterward found, and is now in the hands of the authorities. It is said that while there was no actual quarrel, there had been a general disposition among the other prisoners to plague or "pick on" Turrell, and this, it is believed, had resulted in the murderous assault upon Kroskey, upon whom Turrell appears to have vented his spite.

At a late hour this afternoon, Kroskey is resting more comfortably than earlier in the day, but no hope of his recovery is held out, and the priest has made a second visit to the apparently dying man.

THE MARKETS

Wall Street Leview.

New York, Dec. 26.-The bears in the stock market beat a precipitate retreat in the later hours of the day's session at the stock exchange, and their eager rush to buy in order to cover short contracts developed a fairly buoyant condition before the close. There were some relapses in the more volatile stocks, but the closing was generally strong and active and near the top level. The volume of dealings showed a material increase over those prevailing for the last few days. The bears were inclined to continue their campaign when the market opened this morning, and they effected number of serious inroads upon prices But they soon became aware that their offerings were being absorbed in a volume and confidence which sounded a warning. Sugar continued to be a leader of the market, but by no means in so overwhelming a proportion as of late. The vigorous support accorded this stock and the success achieved in driving the bears to cover in it were important factors in turning the general market upward and in swelling the demand for other stocks to an extent which lessened sugar's proportion of dealings in the market. The bears in the stock showed growing evidence of acute distress and of having over-extended their accounts, apparently in the confidence that the recent experience in copper was to be repeated in sugar. Rumors got abroad that negotiations were in progress for patching up a truce in the trade war. There was a growing suspicion that while both crude and refined sugar are selling at very low prices, the margin between crude and refined is still sufficient to afford a profit upon the industry of refining. Whatever may be grounds of today's rumors, the shorts were thrown into a fright and rushed the price up from the low point at 1025s to 1131g. The stock closed at 112%, a net gain of 6%. Amalgamated Copper, after sharing in the heaviness of the early market. also developed a very strong tone, adding to the sentimental effect of the rebound in sugar. The price rose to 691gand closed only a shade lower, at a net gain of 2%. The activity in the stocks of electric manufacturing companies may have been connected with the developments in the copper trade. Westinghouse Electric was at on time 17 points and closed with a net gain of 4. The Southwesterns, Pacifics and Grangers became very strong late in the day. The hard and soft coal carriers were active and strong all day. gains in some of the leaders reaching between 2 and 3 points, and in Hocking Valley, four points. Total sales today, 731,900 shares.

The bond market was moderately active and firm. Total sales, par value, $2,440,000. United States 5's advanced 4 per cent, on the last call,
