Lieutenant Davis served a warrant last evening, sworn out before Magistrate Davies, charging four boys living on Archbald street with throwing stones at street cars on Sunday after-

Sunday afternoon three of the defendants were on their way home from Sunday school when one of their number threw a snow ball at a passing car. which struck the car near the roof. The defendants plainly showed the effects of the Sunday school training as the boy who threw the stone did not attempt in any way to deny it but on the contrary clearly told the alderman that threw the snow ball and that two of his companions were innocent of the charge, while the fourth boy did not pass till some few minutes after the affair. They all denied having thrown anything before and in view of this fact as well as the truthfulness displayed, the magistrate discharged them after explaining to them the seriousness of the charge and the consequence if they were ever caught again. Th parents of the boys thanked the

The trip to Taylor was made in safety, but on returning the cold, crisp air placed more than usual life into the high-spirited horse and he became very hard to manage. 'The young man's hands became cold, and the horse rapfully gained speed until it was quite beyoud control.

At the Oak street crossing the outfit collided with a passing engine, and as a result the young man was thrown out and the cutter was badly damaged, Fortunately, the driver escaped with a few cuts, and after the horse and remainder of the cutter were captured,
