WEST SCRANTON

EXCITEMENT HAS SUBSIDED

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SMALL POX CASES.

Emma Parry Is Seriously Ill, but the Nicely-Dr. Pierce Will Lecture on A Lively Runaway-Other Paragraphs of Local Interest.

No new developments in the smallpox cases were reported yesterday, and the excitement incident to the discovery of the dreaded disease in our midst has somewhat subsided, although the same stringent precautionary measures are being taken by the police and health

Patrolmen are watchfully guarding the Brace and Parry residences day and night, and adjoining houses to the former were thoroughly fumigated yesterday. This vigilance will be insisted upon until the siege is declared night. No new developments were reported yesterday.

The report from the Parry home yesterday was to the effect that the victims are improving slowly, with the exception of Grace Brace, who is quite seriously ill.

Extraordinary precautions are being taken by the people of West Scranton to prevent the spread of the disease, and the local physicians report that they are kept constantly at work vaccinating their patients.

No public entertainments or socials of any kind are being held, and comparatively few people were seen about the streets last night,

Illustrated Lecture.

"The Passion Play of Oberammergau," a beautifully illustrated lecture by Rev. Robert F. Y. Pierce, D. D., pastor of the Penn Avenue Baptist church, will be given at the First Welsh Congregational church, South Main avenue, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 28, with one hundred choice views, representing the play and players as Dr. Pierce witnessed them.

The miracle performance, commonly called the Passion Play at Oberammergau, in Bavaria, is the most celebrated of all the passions and death of Christ. The story of the play is as Lively Runaway.

A horse owned by Charles Canavan, the North Main avenue butcher, attached to a light spring wagon, ran away from in front of the store yesterday afternoon. A passing street car frightened the animal, and when he turned into Jackson street the wagon struck a telegraph pole, upsetting it, and spilling a load of poultry in the street.

Further down the street the wagon struck another pole, and then the horse became detached and ran down o Chestnut street where he was capured. The wagon was destroyed.
