STORE AFIRE.—The Penn Store building, corner of Penn avenue and Vine street, was set on fire Saturday evening shortly after 7 o'clock by crossed wires. The entire contents, valued at $100,000, were destroyed.

CONVEY STOPPED THEM.—A team of horses belonging to and driven by Eugene Mattox, of Hollisterville, ran away on Lackawanna avenue Saturday afternoon and had just taken to the sidewalk in front of the Newark shoe store when Patrolman Conroy caught and held them. Mattox was thrown out but not injured.

CUT WITH A SICKNESS.—A young man named John Evans was slightly cut on the knee with a pair of scissors on Saturday night by Mrs. Davis, an old woman who is the proprietor of a house of ill fame on Center street. Evans and the woman became engaged in a quarrel in her house and she cut him in an effort to defend herself. Both were arrested but were later released.

CHANGING THE SEATS.
Room Being Made for Additional Common Councilmen.

The work of re-arranging the desks in the common council chamber so as to permit of the seating of the eighteen "additional" councilmen has been begun under the direction of Director of Public Works John E. Roche in accordance with the provisions of an ordinance just passed by council.

About three feet of the platform on which the president's desk is placed has been cut off to give more floor space and the railing and spectators' seats in the rear will be removed. The thirty-eight desks will be arranged in semi-circular rows and the aisle space lessened. In this manner all the councilmen will be accommodated with seats but they will be crowded very closely.

ELEVEN CASES REMAINING.
Superior Court Likely to Conclude Its Sessions by Wednesday.

The superior court will resume its sessions this morning at 10 o'clock. The first business will be the calling of the list for Bradford, Pike, Susquehanna and Wayne counties. Five cases from Bradford and one from Pike make up the list. There are five Lackawanna cases remaining to be argued, among them the Schroeder water rate case and the appeal of ex-City Assessor Neuls involving the right of the recorder to remove him under the new charter, before his elective term expires.

The court may adjourn tomorrow, but more likely Wednesday. A number of important opinions, it is expected, will be handed down before adjournment.

ENJOYED WINTER GAMES.
Outdoor Carnival Saturday Night at the Country Club.

One of the most enjoyable and doubtless the most novel of the entertainments regularly afforded the members of the Country club was that given Saturday night. It was an outdoor carnival of winter sports—golf in the snow, tobogganing, fox and geese, and the like. The grounds were illuminated with scores of electric lights and torches. At the conclusion of the games a supper was served.

A. H. Storrs was manager of the affair. Assisting him were A. G. Hunt, James Blair, Jr., Worthington Scranton, T. H. Watkins, E. L. Fuller, Frank C. Fuller, Mortimer B. Fuller and Theodore Fuller. The ladies who assisted were Mrs. Kloiz, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Brady, Miss Hunt, Miss Stevens and Misses Archibald.

ENLARGE FEDERAL BUILDING.

Since the creation of the new Federal court the need of increased facilities in the government building has been felt keenly. The business of all the departments represented in the building has grown greatly since the structure was built, and it is now a necessity that more room shall be provided.

At the request of Congressman Conrill, Postmaster Ripple and Internal Revenue Collector Pezman, in conjunction with Judge Archibald, are going over the details of the enlargements required, with a view to submitting a bill that Mr. Conrill will introduce asking for an appropriation of $150,000 or thereabouts for making the building adequate for present and future needs.

REMAINS OF JUDGE JESSUP INTERRED AT MONTROSE

The remains of the lamented Judge William H. Jessup were laid to rest in the Montrose cemetery Saturday afternoon after services here and in Montrose, which were attended by the most representative residents of the two counties and many distinguished persons.

The services in this city were conducted at the home of Miss Mattie, 119 Jefferson avenue, by Rev. James McLeod, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, to which Judge Jessup had allied himself upon making his residence in this city. The judges of the superior court, the local judges and the members of the Lackawanna bar were in attendance, the last named proceeding to the house in a body after assembling in the main court room.

Dr. McLeod spoke feelingly in his eulogy of the deceased. He had for his text: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace." Dr. McLeod said:

Both by nature and by grace, Judge Jessup was a man that was truly a blessing to his people. His chief duty was to his God, his duty to his King. He was true to the truth. He was a good soldier of Jesus Christ. He loved the people on the platform of practical Christianity. As a husband, as a father, as a brother, as a neighbor, as a friend—he came as near to Christian perfection as any man of our acquaintance.

His death was a great loss to his people. His life was a blessing to his people. His death was a great loss to his people. His life was a blessing to his people.

INSTALLATION OF NEW PASTOR

REV. A. O. GALLENKAMP FORMALLY TAKES CHARGE.

Was Yesterday Declared Pastor of Zion Lutheran Church by Rev. Dr. Schantz, President of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania—Sermon to the Congregation Preached by Rev. J. O. Schlenker, of Hazleton—Pastor a German by Birth and a Clergyman by Heredity.

Rev. A. O. Gallenkamp was yesterday installed as pastor of the Zion Lutheran church on Millin avenue, by Rev. Dr. Schantz, of Meyerstown, president of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania. He succeeds the Rev. Frederick Zizek, who recently resigned, after having served continuously as pastor of the church for over forty-two years.

The installation ceremony was conducted in the morning, in the presence of a congregation which completely filled the church. The sermon to the congregation was delivered prior to the installation by Rev. J. O. Schlenker, of Hazleton, president of the Wilkes-Barre district conference, who chose for his text, Hebrews XIII: 17: "Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves; for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief; for that is unprofitable for you."

MINISTER'S DUTY.
He spoke of the clergyman in his three-fold capacity, as teacher, preacher and pastor. The minister, he said, must teach men what God desires of them and what their duty is to God and their fellow-men, but in order that he may be successful, the members of his congregation must be willing to hear and willing to learn, that they may live out their lives in the teachings of the Master.

In referring to the clergyman as a preacher, Rev. Mr. Schlenker emphasized the fact that the fundamental part of every Lutheran service is the preaching of the Gospel. All things also, he said, given their place, but are subordinated to the preaching. He urged the members of the congregation to confide in their pastor and to place the greatest confidence in him. He urged them to lend the pastor their best aid and assistance, and that his hands may be strengthened and his burden lightened.

Following Rev. Mr. Schlenker's sermon, William F. Kiesel, of the church council, presented the call which had been sent to Rev. Mr. Gallenkamp and Dr. Schantz, being notified, proceeded to install the new pastor according to the appropriate and beautiful rites of the Lutheran church. Rev. Mr. Gallenkamp's first act after installation was to receive the new members of the church council, who are as follows: William F. Kiesel, William Behling, John Gohn and John Skauterbeck. He also received thirteen new members into the church.

BRIEF ADDRESSES.
Rev. Dr. Schantz and Rev. Mr. Schlenker delivered brief addresses to the Sunday school in the afternoon, and the former preached an English sermon at night. The evening service was conducted entirely in German.

AN INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

ORGANIZATION SUGGESTED BY REV. DR. R. F. Y. PIERCE.

He Would Have a Commission of Citizens to Consider All Local Differences Between Capital and Labor—Thinks That the Number of Strikes Could Be Lessened by Such a Plan—Declared That Many Workingmen Are Held in Bondage by Labor Unions.

Rev. Dr. Robert F. Y. Pierce, pastor of the Penn avenue Baptist church, in a sermon preached last night before a large congregation, suggested the advisability of forming a permanent industrial commission in this city to which body could be referred for settlement all impending difficulties between capital and labor.

The topic of the doctor's discourse was "The Problem of Wages" and he chose for his text Romans 9:23: "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

In beginning his remarks Dr. Pierce outlined the spiritual idea conveyed in the text that there are only two kinds of service possible in this life, the service of God and the service of Satan. The wages of sin, he said, are disease, dishonor and death.

"The problem of wages," he continued, "has been the problem of the ages. In this present day cannot fail to realize that a problem it is, for scarcely a day passes but there is not some discussion or dissension between employers and employes here in our very midst. It is a problem that will never be solved by legislation and that will never be solved by the methods which are now being employed such as the blacklist, the strike and the boycott. Such a grave and mighty problem as the wage problem can never be solved by these things.

WHAT WAGES MEAN.
"The wages of our workmen mean blood, brain, brawn and manhood and can never be carried on a peddle. The problem of wages involves two personalities, that of the employer and that of the employe. The interests of the employer and employe are mutual and cannot be antagonistic one to the other. They are just as vitally one as two, and you cannot touch one without touching the other. You cannot trace the dividing line between the two. One cannot contravene the rights of the other.

"It is an appalling fact that under our present industrial system both employe and employer are robbed of their freedom to a large extent and are held in bondage just as real as if they were shackled and riveted.

"To liberate both capital and labor from this bondage calls for the wisest statesmanship and I firmly believe that the great good that is to be accomplished in our day stands before the world as the mighty leader chosen to emancipate both capital and labor from slavery. There never was a general needed in this country but that God had the man ready for the place and I am sure today that God has the man for this great undertaking.

"To liberate capital and labor from bondage requires dauntless courage, the largest patriotism, the broadest sympathy and the noblest manhood.

NOT THE ONLY SUFFERERS.
"In these disputes and dissensions between capital and labor the employe and the employer are not the only ones who suffer. Women and children are made to bear the burden as well. In this city during the past few months poor weak women have been subjected to great indignities. They have been obliged to ride in vehicles without heat of any kind on the coldest days. I have seen women staggering home under the weight of countless bundles and I have wondered what has become of the ancient spirit of chivalry.

"How are the employes in bondage? It may be asked. They are in bondage to the subtle competition of the day at home and abroad; they are in bondage to wages that are fast being reduced to political interests in many instances, and they are in bondage because of certain conditions imposed by laborers.

"The workmen, too, are in bondage. They are in bondage in many instances to the petty tyranny of the boss, his foreman over them and they are in bondage, too, to the rules of many of the labor unions. The rules of some of these organizations, say to a man that if he does such a thing contrary to the wishes of the union he will be fined $5, and that if he persists, his membership will be taken away. The union says to that man, 'We'll starve you if you don't do as we say.' That is not giving to every man the liberty which the constitution of this country declares to be his.

MEET QUESTION AS CITIZENS.
"While children, wives, employes and employes are held in bondage, they will never be emancipated by sentiment, by denunciation or by passion. We must meet the question as Christian men and patriotic citizens, and must give eight and reason a chance.

"I have thought for months past, and I think now, that there should be formed in this city an organization which could be a help to the employe and to the employe both and which could stand as truly for one as for the other—an industrial commission of men chosen from all the walks of life—laboring men, manufacturers, capitalists and professional men, the total number to be about fifteen.

"The plan I propose would be to have all differences existing between employe and employe referred to this board, which would be in one sense of the word a board of arbitration and yet which would not be such a board.

"I would have differences referred to such a board long before a strike was even considered, because when a strike is on the opposing forces are not likely to reason with the same degree of calmness and thoughtfulness that they would exercise under ordinary circumstances.

"If such an organization was effected I think it would lessen the number of strikes. I feel confident that there are enough patriotic and honorable citizens in this city to take up this matter and who could be trusted to deal fairly and candidly with any questions which might be referred to them."
