STORIES OF THE STREET.

Some Amusing Happenings That Bring Laughter with Their Telling.

The members of the Columbia Hose company have a good story to laugh over this week. It is at the expense of one of the younger members, Thomas Coleman. At the recent benefit for Charles Hull, a brother member, a number of palms were procured to add to the decorations of the dance in Watt's hall. On Sunday, Mr. Coleman, in walking down Church street, noticed that a window in the hall was open, permitting a cold breeze to blow on the palms. "Egad," thought Mr. Coleman, "this is a shame; those palms will be frozen and will look like a lot of wilted sunflower stalks by tomorrow night. I must do my duty ere they perish."

Mr. Coleman hastened about town and, locating a key for the hall, hurried to shut the mischievous-looking window. At the same time he observed the palms didn't appear as fresh as they might. "A drop, more or less, of water won't hurt them," he commented mentally, and, procuring a vessel, about the size of a quart of water around the roots of each palm. Returning to the hose house, he incidentally spoke of his work. Before he had finished, there was a titter, which grew into laughter that filled the company's quarters. Poor faithful Coleman, who had been so teetering and watering artificial palms which had been loaned from a furniture store of the town. He bought the cigars, and now when you speak of his "palmy" days, Coleman runs and hides.

The masquerade of the Germania Singing society, held Wednesday night, recalls a story that is told of the experience of one of its prominent members on the night of his initiation. This member, who will be recognized by the others when they read the story, was somewhat anxious about how he would conduct himself when called upon to be presented. "Say," he whispered to one of the members, "I don't want to make any breaks, and I wish you would 'put me next' to what I'm to do?" Unfortunately for him, he was turning for help to the most confirmed capitalist of the society.

"Now, what you want to be sure to do," said the joker, as he realized that the new member was at his mercy, "is to call for refreshments for every one when you are called on. And before your glasses are empty, you want to fill them up again. Do this three times and you'll stand pat with the crowd." "Drink to the health of the new member," said the victim when he was presented. "Fill them up again," he exclaimed when the glass was lowered. The members looked at one another, their eyes saying "this fellow is all right."

"Once more," came from the new brother, when the second round went under the members' shirt-waists. By this time, the gathering had become aware that the "joker" had been at work and the merry laugh fell on the new man. He was game, however, and he showed it by ordering another round, which was topped off by the hearty laughter of everybody.

This man was from Honesdale, which excuses his vanity for thinking himself "it." He attended the recent performance of Mildred Holland in "The Power of the Purse." He didn't seem satisfied with the show and a friend, observing this, said: "Well, Honesdale, how did you like that?" "Oh, well," he replied, as he twisted his face, just like a Honesdalian can. "It was pretty good, but, thunder, there weren't any specialties." The Bill Board and Trunk company had just finished barn-storming the Chestnut borough.

Their Fourth Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roberts happily observed their fourth wedding anniversary on Wednesday evening, by entertaining a number of friends at their pleasant home on South Washington street. The evening was given principally to cards, progressive euchre engaging the wits of the guests and also offering opportunity for social converse and pleasant exchange of sallies. There was, of course, a good deal of interest in the prizes, and Harry Harrison won the chief prize, and Guy Chamberlain had to content himself with the "Go Way Back and Sit Down" prize. There was also music and refreshments. The occasion was highly enjoyable and a happy celebration of the event.

HORSE RACES ON ICE.

An Afternoon of Exciting Sport at Crystal Lake, on Thursday, January 30, at 2 O'clock.

A committee, consisting of George F. Mills, Frank E. Burr and John J. Simpson, have issued invitations to the lovers of fast horses in this vicinity, to a matinee to be held on the ice at Crystal Lake, Thursday, Jan. 30, 1902. The races are to be called at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

This announcement will be well received about the town, and will be the means of attracting a big crowd. It is safe to say, as those who witnessed the races last year keenly enjoyed the sport.

THE LAST NIGHT.

Columbia Hose Company Fair Closes Last Night—Large Crowd Present. Winners of the Prizes.

One of the largest crowds in attendance at the fair of the Columbia Hose company was present last night to bid farewell to the brilliant fire-fighters, who have given Carbondale people and out-of-town persons a chance to enjoy themselves for the past nine days. The affair last night was the banner night of all. Everybody was there with the intention of having a good time, and they certainly had it.

The doing away of the usual programme and in its place having an hour's round dancing, struck a popular chord with the lovers of the dancing game. The dancers were in their element and the Mozart orchestra, which has furnished music for the fair each evening, played as they never played before. The music was entrancing, and but few could resist, and the floor was always crowded by the merry dancers.

The curious games at the fair did not suffer from lack of attention, and the plum tree was again the cause of much merriment. The fair canvassers were most conspicuous by their absence. Their work was over early, as all the books had been turned over to a committee early in the evening.

During the progress of the fair the Columbia boys have entertained nearly five thousand persons, and not one of those was dissatisfied with the treatment that was accorded them. It was a grand success, especially and financially, and the fire-fighters are deserving of commendation for the manner in which they conducted the affair.

At 10 o'clock the committee started the drawing for the many prizes, for which a number of chances had been taken since the opening of the fair. Ticket No. 223 won the handsome rocker, and it was held by Miss Mary Connolly. Ticket No. 218, held by Mrs. B. Durfee, won the picture, which has found a place on the platform during the fair and which was greatly admired. Ticket No. 28 won the $10 worth of laundry at the Carbondale steam laundry, and Richard Dunn, of Dundaff street, was the claimant.

The door prize for the past three evenings has been a chance on a 2-cent diamond ring, which was won by Miss Mary Muldowney, of Simpson street. The lucky ticket was No. 284. The young lady came in for congratulations from her many friends on her good fortune.

CUFF-TIERNEY WEDDINGS.

Wedding of Two Popular Young People in St. Rose Church.

In St. Rose church, Wednesday morning, the wedding of Miss Annie Cuff, of Childs, became the wife of Thomas Tierney, of this city. The bridal party marched up the aisle of the church to the strains of the wedding march, which was played by Prof. S. V. Stockman. The party was met at the altar by Very Rev. T. P. Coffey, V. G., who said the words which united the happy young couple. The bride was attired in a steel-colored gown, trimmed with white silk and applique lace. She wore a handsome picture hat. Her maid, Miss Anna McHugh, wore a navy gown of blue broadcloth, with hat to match. The groom was attended by Patrick Joyce.

The bridal party was driven to the home of the bride's parents, on Hill street, where a wedding breakfast was served. The young couple left in the afternoon for New York city and Washington, D. C. They will be gone two weeks, and on their return will start housekeeping in a newly furnished home in Mayfield.

Emergency Hospital.

Paeseo Merrino was taken to Emergency hospital yesterday in an ambulance. He was at work in the Edgerton mines when a fall of coal came down on him, almost completely burying him. A bone in the leg was fractured and he suffered minor injuries on the body.

Crowds Being Vaccinated.

As a matter of precaution against any possible breaking out of small-pox in this section many persons are being vaccinated daily. When the scare was here once before, upwards of several months ago, a large number went under the operation and it was thought then that but few in the city were like-

HONESDALE "PIPE" STORY.

Excitement Over Cost of Hull Trial Leads to Pitiful Exaggeration.

Harken to this Honesdale "pipe" story in the latest issue of the Wayne Independent: "The cost of the Hull trial to Wayne county so far amounts to $1,961.23, besides indirect costs of which there is no basis for an estimate. In addition to this, E. J. Neary, a Carbondale constable, has presented a bill of nearly $1,000 for detective services. He asks $4.50 per day from the date of the finding of Schomover's body till the trial, and at the same time he received pay for serving subpoenas, covering a portion of the same time. For this alleged service no benefit was derived, as he furnished no material evidence for the trial. Lackawanna county individuals are well schooled in the art of making bills of costs for taxpayers to liquidate."

There is so much falsity in these characteristic Honesdale newspaper ramblings, that the easiest way to dispose of it is to say that the man responsible for them was either "kicked" by the persons who gave him the information, or he has made such a willful exaggeration of facts that he owes an apology as long as his arm to Constable Edward Neary.

The fact is that Constable Neary has sent in no bill for a thousand dollars. He has sent in a bill for $175, which is but meagre compensation for his services, as compared with the fees which are usually paid in such cases, and such as were paid by the county of Wayne, when he was wanted here on the charge of stealing $130 from Mike Machonick, of Mayfield, with whom he boarded for a few days. He then skipped to Binghamton, and was found by Neary in the hospital there, suffering from injuries he received in some mysterious manner. To bring him to this city extradition papers were needed, and Neary was sent to Governor Stone of this state, and Governor Odell of New York state. He secured the papers and the prisoner is now in the city jail.

He will be taken to Scranton today on a commitment made out by Alderman S. S. Jones.

E. J. NEARY RETURNS.

Arrived Last Night from New York State with a Prisoner.

Edward J. Neary returned last night from Binghamton with his prisoner, Stephen Carroll, who is wanted here on the charge of stealing $130 from Mike Machonick, of Mayfield, with whom he boarded for a few days. He then skipped to Binghamton, and was found by Neary in the hospital there, suffering from injuries he received in some mysterious manner. To bring him to this city extradition papers were needed, and Neary was sent to Governor Stone of this state, and Governor Odell of New York state. He secured the papers and the prisoner is now in the city jail.

DECKVILLE.

The report circulated in the town yesterday to the effect that Mrs. William Pollard, of Brook street, had visited a relative in Prieberg where a case of smallpox is said to exist and that one of the family from that place had called on the Pollard family here on Sunday last. This report, which flew like wild fire, caused a decided sensation. Health Officer J. B. Grover and President H. L. Thompson, of the local board of health, were appealed to. These gentlemen at once proceeded at once to make a thorough investigation of the matter. They found that the report was a highly colored one and greatly exaggerated, providing they were told by Mrs. Pollard is true. She claimed no relation to the family and stated that she had not visited Prieberg for some time and that the relatives who did call on her on Sunday last were in no way connected with the family who have contracted the disease. The local board of health are investigating the affair more fully and are prepared to act if the case warrants further procedure.

ACCIDENT NEAR ALTOONA.

Pullman Car Turned Over—Twelve Occupants Injured. By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Altoona, Pa., Jan. 23.—The second section of the Pennsylvania railroad Atlantic express, east-bound, the Pullman section due here at 8:15 this morning, met with an accident at McGarvey's station, three miles west of Altoona. An east-bound freight train having broken in two descending the mountain, the first section was brought to this city, and the rear section, consisting of twenty-eight cars, was brought to a standstill on the main track near McGarvey's. The first section of the Atlantic express ran around the obstruction safely, but when the second section was crossing back to the main track the rear Pullman was struck, swayed by the freight, which, not being tightly held by the brakes, had moved down the switch. The Pullman was turned over on its side and its twelve occupants were thrown from their berths.

Four persons were slightly injured, one being Mayor Fritchey, of Harrisburg. The injuries consisted of cuts and bruises. All continued on their journey.

The fact that an Italian escaped from quarantine several days ago and fled from Bangor on a trolley car is believed to be the incentive that prompted the order barring them from traveling on trolley cars hereabouts.
