CONCERT BY SOUSA'S BAND.

Sours and his band fresh from their conque of Europe, delighted two large audiences at the new armory yesterday afternoon and evening, with programmes well calculated to keep Scrav-ten whistling and humming for at least the proverbial nine days.

There was a variety which only Sousa would present, or rather which only Sousa would have the good grace and consideration to present. There was music for all the people. A Liszi Polonaise came close on the heels of the rag-time "Coon Band Contest," and the latter was given as an encore to a suite of Sousa's own composition, that needed little more than the labelling to make it a high class symphony. Sandwiched between two classics was the Flora-dora melodies, "Tell Me Pretty Maiden," "O' My Dolores," and "I Want to Be a Military Man." As a sort of prelude to a Zieber valer was "Honeysuckle and Bee," with the chorus as a solo in turn by cornet, trombone and flute This effort to cater to all ears obtained like wise with the solo assistants. Miss Mande Reese Davis, soprano, followed a Verdi aria with dainty, simple love song. Miss Dorothy Hoyle violiniste, played Sarasate's "Ziegeurnerwersin," and for an encore gave the piquant and—despite its name—popular "Cinquantaine." Arthur Pryor, the trombone soloist, master as he is of this difficult instrument, condescended for his encore number to show what could be done with a trombone in the matter of range. Some would say some of his tones were not musical but they would have to admit them to be interesting. These same some would say there was too much of "popular" in the programmine but they did not occupy all the highest priced seats. It was a programme that the audience would have itself selected had it the taste and discrimination

While Sousa is the march king, he is no le gifted composer who can write along classical ines and produce rare work of a singularly riginal and high order. The programme last night was varied enough to show this versalility. The suite "Maidens Three" is misnamed for the verses quoted and the titles are too trivial for the delicate and refined songs-for they were all that. "The Summer Girl" was exquisite and the band played a number of the marches so dear to the public, none of which surpassed "The Stars and Stripes Forever," and probably none ever will be so generally inspiring as that favorite. He gave the "Invincible Eagle," which delighted the multindes at Buffalo this summer and the Seranton sudience wanted to hear it at least three times. He was gracious as usual with his encores. The overtime "Di Bello," by Sullivan, was one of the most fascinating numbegs. His new waltz contained some of the best work he has done and was delightfully rendered.

The List Polonaise was the most dramatic selection, with its weird, wild climaxes and its effective scoring for the wood wind instruments and which Sousa's own compositions make so

Miss Maude Reese-Davies, a very attractive young lady, sang with wonderful execution and taste the difficult aria from La Traviata. She was warmly encored.

Arthur Pryor's trombone solos were a revela-tion in the handling of that much abused instrument. One would not mind having him for a next door neighbor, if he evoked such softly ceiled and mellow notes from the formidable ombination which he held.

The violiniste, Miss Dorothy Hoyle, played Massenet number with most artistle interpreta-tion. Her execution was exceedingly brilliant. Not the least interesting feature of the concert was the gracefulness of the leader. He has all the old familiar moves and a few new ones, probably picked up "at court," in some of the European capitals. As he stood in front of his band slightly elevated on a dias and "directed" with his baton, and left hand in that peculiar Sousa way, one would sometimes unconsciously, perhaps, find the eye more interested than the ear. The decoration bestowed on Sousa by King Edward was worn on his breast alongside the other medals that have come to him from time to time as marks of distinction and favor.

Mr. Sousa when seen at the conclusion of the wonderfully effective for so large a place. He par ticularly noticed the total absence of echo and the clear and distinct manner in which the light rather surprised a large number of perearth the opinions expressed during the past few years on Edward Noyes Westcott's "David Harum," which has already become an American classic.

Rev. Mr. Smith was addressing a gathering in the Grace Reformed Episcopal church, the occasion being the celebration of the tenth anniversary of he Christian Endeavor City union. He was talking on "The Religion of the Wordling.'

"There are too many people," said he, 'who are taking the words of David Harum as their guiding motto and who are literally following out in their lives the advice which he lays down for the man who aspires to be successful. 'Do unto the other fellow as the other fellow would do unto you, but do it first.

"There are too many professing Christian people, I say, who have never lived five minutes in the realm of the spiritual, but are living all the time for number one and for the gratification of their own selfish desires. There are too many David Harums among us. Some people, when they want to get a moral code, will follow out the advice of a vulgar, tobacco-chewing, whiskey-drinking barroom country trickster like David Harum, instead of seeking the truth as found in Christ Jesus for their enlightenment.

Rev. Mr. Smith, in the rest of his address, eulogized upon the necessity of obeying the instructions laid down by the Savior in the Sermon on the Mount. 'If thine hand or thy foot offend, cut them off and cast them from thee," and 'If any man shall compel thee to walk mile, go with him twain."

The exercises were opened with reading of Scripture by Rev. W. J. Clymer, pastor of the First Christian church, after which Rev. Luther Hess Waring, the president of the city union, made a brief address on "Our Tenth

RICHARDS IS UNDER BAIL

MUST ANSWER CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY AT COURT.

At a Hearing Before Alderman My-Was Introduced to Show That the Accused Was Associated with Others in an Effort to Injure the Business of John U. Hopewell. Bondsman in Sum of $500.

Thomas J. Richards, of North Scranton, was last night held in bail by Alderman Myron Kasson, on a charge of conspiring to injure the business of John U. Hopewell, publisher of the Providence Register. Martin F. Miller, who was arrested on a similar charge, and entered ball in the sum of $500 for his appearance at court, M. J. Leonard becoming his bondsman.

At the hearing last night the prose cutor, John U. Hopewell, was represented by Attorneys Everett Warren and Joseph O'Brien, and the defense by Attorney C. W. Dawson. It is alleged that Richards went to certain business men of North Scranton, as one of a committee, and told them they had better take their patronage away from Hopewell for the reason that he rode on the street cars after the strike

Mr. Hopewell was the first witness sworn last night. He testified that he is the proprietor of the Register and also does an extensive job printing business. About Nov. 1 William Chap pell and W. C. Cowles, two of his oldest and best patrons took their adver tisements out of his newspaper and declined to give him any more job printing. These gentlemen told him that a committee had waited upon them and told them to take their patronage away from the witness because he was unfair to union labor and rode on street cars. They did not want to have trouble at their stores and accordingly complied with the committee's request FIXED HIM WITH TWO.

Mr. Hopewell said that he heard the defendant, Richards, say at Miller's barber shop that he had fixed witness with two men already and would fix him with others.

William Chappell, the proprietor of a large general store in North Scranton, said that he had advertised in the Register since 1884 and had his job printing done at that office and that everything was entirely satisfactory so far as his business relations with Mr. Hopewell was concerned.

Some time around Nov. 1 he received an unsigned communication which advised him against patronizing Mr. Hopewell for the reason, as the letter evening performance by a Tribune reporter said stated, that he was unfair to union the acoustics properties of the new armory were labor. Later a committee waited upon labor. Later a committee waited upon him and advised him against dealing with the prosecutor. They did not say who they represented and he did not know the names of any of them.

It was not because of this communication or the visit of the committee that he ceased his business relations with Mr. Hopewell. From what he had heard and seen he believed that Robling, ir. OPENING OF THE KIRMESS.

Performance Will Be Seen Tonight at Lyceum.

The first performance of the kirmess are going at a great rate as this is the only occasion when all of the evening dances will be presented. After tonight several dances will be omitted

The performance will begin at 8 o'clock sharp. It should be understood that this is no dress rehearsal, but that the entertainment will be as finished and beautiful as on any of the succeeding nights. The costumes are so magnificent that it will be worth an admission to see the general effect on the stage at the raising of the curtain. The music is new and most characteristic and embodies the latest New York successes The dances on for tonight are: Gipsy, Woodenshoe, Hornpipe, All Nations Spanish Manola, Oriental, Spanish, Folly, Red Cards, Rose, Seasons, Military Drill, Pages.

The boxes and loges are in charge of M. B. Fuller and are going rapidly, The rehearsals yesterday and last night ere very satisfactory.

FULLER IS OPPOSED.

M. P. Reilly Files Nomination Papers as an Independent.

M. P. Reilly, hotelkeeper of Penn avenue, yesterday filed nomination papers as an independent candidate for common council in the Sixteenth ward. It had been practically agreed be-tween the Republicans and Democrats that the present Democratic common councilman, E. J. Coleman, should go to the select council to succeed Adam Schroeder, Republican, who would not take another term, and that Theodore Fuller, Republican, should become the common councilman to succeed Cole-

The fact that Rellly is a Democrat will probably result in a Republican being put up as an independent against Mr. Coleman.

SLASHED BY HIS BROTHER

MARTIN WALSH ON THE RAM-PAGE YESTERDAY.

Martin Walsh, of Minooka, attempted to shoot his wife yesterday morning, and when his brother, Patrick, caused his arrest he slashed him frightfully with a razor. Walsh is about 45 years old and lives on Gilmore avenue, Minooka. He became engaged in a quarrel with his wife yesterday morning and his brother Patrick came into the house while the two were fighting. Martin went upstairs and got a revolver which he brought into the room where his wife was. Before his brother could interfere he had fired two shots at the defenseless woman, neither of them taking effect, however. His brother disarmed him and then left the house to consult with some of his friends regarding the advisability of having an examination as to Martin's sanity made. He finally decided to cause his arrest on the charge of attempting to kill his wife and secured warrant from Justice of the Peace O'Neill. He went with Constable St. John in the afternoon when the latter went to serve the warrant and assisted in placing his brother under arrest. When Martin was searched the revolver was found on his person. When the three reached the front gate he asked for permission to get something from the ouse and was allowed a few minutes. When he came out again he had an open razor in his hand, and before he could be interferred with he had slashed Patrick on the right thigh, the keen edge of the razor severing a large artery and cutting into the groin. Patrick bled profusely and was removed in a cab to the Lackawanna hospital, where he was said, last night, to be in a very dangerous condition. Martin Walsh was committed to the county jail without bail by 'Squire O'Neill to await the result of his brother's injuries.
