There was no sun yesterday to east his shadow, but the hances are that Mr. Groundhog retreated to his quarters on general prinbeen snowed under for it was one of the worst days of the winter.

The man who has a hankering fo variety got it yesterday to satiety. In the early morning it rained, at noon it snowed, in the afternoon it snowed, in the evening it snowed, last night it snowed and it would not be surpris ing if it is snowing yet.

When the snow made its appearance, flakes came in bunches, then it crowds and in a short time the flakes looked ike snow balls, then paper sacks and finally pillow shams. Everything was snow, the trees, the telegraph poles, everything. By evening the soldier in the park looked like a big snow man and the roads, in the language of February 16, and will continue for four "Dorle" Burdick, "looked not unlike weeks, in unbeaten trail in the Klondike." How much snow fell nobody knows; there's no weather man on eight story buildings here; but there was plenty, it was a mighty long tall, for it still "swacking" and with more force death throe; if so good luck to it and creasing their fervor. Lord speed it to Scranton or some other small town. It was a wild blow, the wildest blow of the winter winds and no one who could avoid their keen blasts dared to venture out. It was a wind that blew the snow to beat the cars, and in the words of "Chuck" Connors, it stalled them properly be fore nightfall.

The storm, however, offered some admiration of those ladoors.

FIRE DESTROYS DWELLING.

Disastrous Blaze at the Home of

The house was discovered to be i flames at 3 o'clock. At 10 o'clock Sat urday evening a small blaze was noticed in one of the rooms, but was speedily extinguished by the use of ouple of buckets of water. The blaze was caused by a defect in the terra cotta chimney. The family thinking all wakened at 2 o'clock in the morning by smoke. The second blaze was also aused by the defective chimney. An alarm was turned in from Box 58, at the "Lookout," and the Columbia Hose ompany responded. The nearest fire plug was on Sand street, near Pow derly road, but the fire company did not have sufficient hose to make a coupling and consequently the fire fiend had full sway. The plug was about two thousand feet away, as was also another plug on Gordon avenue

But little of the household effects were saved. There was no insurance on them. The family carried some insurance on the house.

FEAST OF CANDLEMAS.

Observed at St. Rose Church by Blessing and Distribution of Candles.

The Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin, or Candlemas day, was observed in St. Rose church yesterday. The customary blessing and distribution of candles took place at 10.30 o'clock. The ceremony preceded the high mass. Rev. George Dixon officiated, and Very Rev. T. F. Coffey, V. G., assisted. At the conclusion of the ass the candles, which are intended for religious ceremonies, particularly in the administration of the Sacrament of Extreme Unction, the last rites of the Catholic church in the case of a dying penitent, were distributed. Father Dixon spoke briefly on the ignificance of the feast, pointing out hat the candles symbol the light of faith-Christ; the coming forward of the faithful for the candles following the custom of the Gentiles in seeking this symbol of the Savior, who was to them the light unto the revelation of faith.

Storm Blocks Trains.

The storm played havoc with the train running north of the city. The gale which the wind blew drifted the snow in heaps that it made it impassable in cuts. Though there was embarrassment in the moving of trains on both the northern branch of the D. & H. and the O. W., the most trouble was on the latter road. A train of 50 coal cars which left here in the early afternoon got stalled in a cut this side of Orson. The three engines which pulled the train over the mountain ould not budge the heavy load. A train was dispatched to assist the powerless trio, but it was about three ours before the train was moved. The consequence of the tie-up was that the passenger tran from the north was neld at Orson until the coal train was released. At a late hour the train had not arrived in this city.

LONDON'S IMMENSITY. Forty Thousand Weddings a Year and Three Times as Many Births. rom the London Express.

The immensity of London can only e understood when we come to deal with the many sides of the people's lives. Every year about 130,000 bables are born in London, some 5,000 of whom are not wanted and are not welcomed. There are always mor boys born than girls.

More than 400 out of every 1,000 never ive to be 2 years old, over 30,000 little coffins being used every year to bury their remains. More than 20,000 people die every year in London workhous and infirmaries; but, in spite of th fact that about 82,000 Londoners go to their last account, there are 50,000 mon persons alive in London each No Year's Day than there were on th previous occasion.

There are more than 40,000 weddings each twelvemonth, 30,000 of which a celebrated in the churches of the e ablishment. Strange as It may seen eeing that we have had compulsor education now for over thirty year there are every year more than 2.6 ersons married in London who ca selther read nor write.

It is a common mistake to suppos that everybody who can comes London, and that its population is in creased almost entirely by this proess. As a matter of fact, close upor 40,000 Londoners leave the metropol every year for the country or for place
