

The News of Carbondale.

FOR SALE cheap to settle the estate, house and lot, No. 135 Wyoming street. Inquire No. 80, Eighth avenue.

RAILROAD TIME TABLES.

Delaware and Hudson Railroad.

November 24, 1901.

Trains leave Carbondale at city station as follows:

For Scranton and Wilkes-Barre—6:00, 7:00, 8:00, 9:00, 10:00, 11:00 a. m.; 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, 4:30, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, 11:30 p. m.

Sunday trains leave at 8:30, 11:30 a. m.; 1:30, 4:30, 5:30, 8:30 p. m.

For Albany, Saratoga, Montreal, Boston, New England points, etc., 7:00 a. m.; 4:30 p. m. (daily).

For Waymont and Honesdale, 7:22, 11:05 a. m.; 2:51, 6:22 p. m.

Sunday trains leave Waymont and Honesdale at 9:30 a. m.; 4:45 p. m.

Trains arrive at Carbondale from Wilkes-Barre and Scranton as follows: 6:50, 8:37, 10:30, 10:50 a. m.; 12:37, 2:00, 4:15, 4:28, 6:08, 7:04, 8:31, 9:51, 11:37 p. m.; 2:05, 2:20 p. m.

Sunday trains arrive at 9:37 a. m.; 12:10, 2:13, 2:28, 4:29, 11:55 p. m.

Sunday trains arrive at Carbondale from Waymont and Honesdale at 12:17 and 7:55 p. m.

New York, Ontario and Western.

September 17, 1901.

Trains leave Carbondale for Scranton at 7:00 a. m.; 4:00 p. m.

Sunday trains at 7:00 a. m.; 6:00 p. m.

Trains leave Carbondale for points north at 11:10 a. m. On Sunday at 9:30 a. m. daily.

Trains leave at 11:10 a. m. week days and 9:10 a. m. Sundays make connections for New York, Cornwall, etc.

Trains arrive from Scranton at 11:10 a. m.; 6:40 p. m. from points north, 1:00 p. m. Sundays from Scranton at 9:10 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. from Carbondale at 6:05 p. m.

Erie Railroad.

June 23, 1901.

Trains leave city station, Carbondale, daily (except Sunday) at 7:00 a. m.; 4:30 p. m. for Buffalo and Niagara; at 9:30 a. m. daily (except Sunday), for Binghamton, making connections for New York, Buffalo, etc.

Trains leave at 9:30 a. m. for Binghamton, with western connections; and 6:27 p. m. with same connections.

Trains arrive at 8:30 a. m. and 4:45 p. m. Sundays at 8:30 a. m.

TWO WEDDINGS

AT ST. ROSE CHURCH

Miss Mary Scott, of the West Side, and Richard Cole, of Mayfield, and

Mrs. Ellen Leslie and Martin McDonald, both of the West Side, the Principals.

Two weddings were solemnized at St. Rose church yesterday afternoon, and though no public announcement preceded either the nuptials, there was quite an assemblage of friends to witness the impressively simple ceremonies that united each couple.

The principals were Miss Mary Scott, of the West Side, and Richard Cole, of Mayfield, and Mrs. Ellen Leslie and Martin McDonald, both of the West Side.

Scott-Cole.

The first wedding took place at 3 o'clock, when Miss Mary Scott and Richard Cole plighted their vows. Very Rev. T. F. Coffey, V. G., being the officiating priest.

Miss Muggie Munley was the maid, and William Cole was groomsmen. The bride was most becomingly gowned in a tailor-made suit of dark blue, while the maid's appearance was enhanced by a handsome suit of gray.

There was a reception at the bride's home, on Scott street, which was attended by the members of each family and a few relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Cole will begin housekeeping at once.

The bride is a member of one of the oldest and most highly respected families on the West Side. Her parents were pioneers in Carbondale and were of the sturdy stock of which this city can boast. Her character is adorned with womanly virtues, and she has a wide circle of friends, who have the sincerest regard for her and heartily wish for her married happiness.

Mr. Cole is a prosperous resident of Mayfield.

Leslie-McDonald.

In the wedding of Mrs. Ellen Leslie and Martin McDonald, which took place at 5 o'clock in the evening, additional interest was given their union by the fact that it was the second time that the bride walked to the altar to plight her vows, and it was the third time that the groom led a bride up the church aisle. Very Rev. T. F. Coffey officiated.

The attendants were Miss Mary Burke and Francis Burke. The bride and her maid were both attired in gowns of blue.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will commence housekeeping at once on Hospi tal street.

SLEIGHRIDE TO FOREST CITY.

Merry Crowd of Young Folks Guests at Dance of Philharmonic Society.

About a score of well-known young people of Carbondale made up a merry party that enjoyed a sleighing and social ride to Forest City on Monday evening. At the end of the pleasant journey the young ladies and their escorts were guests of the Philharmonic society, which entertained a dance in the opera house.

The evening was spent with social enjoyment and a happy crowd returned to Carbondale.

The young people, who were chaperoned by Miss Minnie Bowen and Mr. McDonald, were:

COFFEE EYES.

It Attacks Many Persons There.

To illustrate how coffee can affect the eyes, the words of a lady in Woodland, N. J., are quoted.

"I was brought up to believe that tea was innocuous but was allowed to drink coffee from childhood. Ever since I can remember I have been subject to severe attacks of headache, otherwise my health was pretty good until a short time ago my eyes became affected. They itched and burned and I continually rubbed them and they became inflamed. I also had queer, dizzy feeling in my head almost continually.

One time we were obliged to do without milk or cream for a few weeks, and not relishing my coffee I left off its use. In a short time I was surprised to find my eyes improved, and I felt better in every way, still I did not mistrust the coffee, and began its use as soon as we got cream. Within a few days my eyes were worse than before. Then I resolved to quit coffee absolutely, and I took up Postum. This I did and my eyes quickly recovered.

My experience shows that while coffee caused headache and eye trouble Postum Food Coffee does not produce such bad effects whatever and is greatly strengthening and nourishing." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ash Wednesday Services.

Today, Ash Wednesday, the beginning of the Lenten season, will be observed by services in St. Rose church and Trinity Episcopal church. At the FRIED ONIONS.

Indirectly Caused the Death of the World's Greatest General.

It is a matter of history that Napoleon was a gourmand, an inordinate lover of the good things of the table, and history further records that his favorite dish was fried onions; his death from cancer of the stomach it is claimed also, was probably caused from his excessive indulgence of this fondness for the odorous vegetable.

AN EVENING WITH GEN. JOHN GORDON

The Distinguished Confederate General and Cultured Son of the South Fascinated a Large Audience With His Descriptions, His Pathos and His Humor.

As many of the residents of Carbondale as could be seated in the Grand last night enjoyed a rare evening with General John B. Gordon, of Georgia, whose services in the cause in which he fought were right distinguished him as a brave soldier and an officer of rank, force and tact.

The audience that listened to this distinguished son of the South was fascinated by his interesting manner of describing the unpublished incidents of the war; it was charmed with his personality; it was gladdened with his wit and humor, and it wept with him in sympathy when he pictured the awful struggles and sufferings of the heroic boys in blue and gray.

General Gordon's lecture, an earnest, soul-bruising talk, would be better with its wealth of description and pathos and humor, gloved with a patriotic fervor that warmed the hearts of his hearers and made them forget that the man who talked to them was once their enemy in arms. What he said did a good deal to rekindle the fire of love of country within the hearts of all present and it revealed General Gordon to them as the most loyal of sons of the stars and stripes against which he was once arrayed. His feeling which filled them overran when in paying tribute to the "glorious boys, the sons of the men who wore the blue and gray who marched in the same line and mingled their shouts of victory on the Cuban heights at Santiago," he said that his son and all his grandsons were volunteers in that war against Spain's oppression. There came a spontaneous outburst of applause that came from every corner of the play house. Here and there the most beautiful patriotic sentiments burst forth from General Gordon, which he expressed with a burning fervor and thrilling force that struck a responsive chord and filled his hearers with a patriotic glow that was radiant.

General Gordon's splendid appearance—he is the typical fine old gentleman of the South—his splendid voice and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy," begins with the battle of Gettysburg and ends at the surrender of the army of the South at Appomattox court house. It is not dry dust historical facts that he presents, but the most thrilling and the most humorous incidents that came under his personal observation. Here in lies the charm of his entertainment. The audience was most enthusiastic and the reserve force that shows itself, made him an ideal speaker.

The title of his lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy