

Theatrical.

TODAY'S ATTRACTIONS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC—Mads Brothers' company. Night. MUSIC HALL—"The Ramblers." Afternoon and night.

"Up York State."

A most peculiar play is "Up York State" produced at the Lyceum on Saturday by its manager, Dan Higgins and George Waldron and apparently enjoyed by two large audiences. It is extremely hard to classify. One moment it is a delightful rural play, with a vein of pretty sentiment when heigh presto!

Then comes the jewel casting episode when the beautiful actress dresses him to do his worst and says that she will never see him, never live with him, it turns out in the end that there was no marble on the farm at all and that the villain has been fooled. He proves to be a western criminal and is taken down by Darius holding the heroine's hands and promising to be her's after she gets a divorce, certainly a decidedly original climax.

Mr. Higgins as Darius gave what has come to be known as a "natural" performance. He was a quiet, unobtrusive throughout and never let his angry passions rise to a dangerous height. The villain was enacted by Walter G. Horton, who was the exact antithesis of everything that Mr. Higgins was. If the director, any competent piece of machinery of the stage, either of voice or gesture, that he did not employ it was because he forgot to. He was well dressed and the hair over his temples was just beginning to turn grey like every other popular stage villain.

One of the characters introduced by Mr. Higgins, that of Sarah Bassett, an maiden aunt of Darius, is a house for him, was a libel on the warm-hearted, Christian spirited farm women of this country. It would be difficult to find such a mean, narrow-minded, utterly selfish and mercenary woman in our cities let alone among the country people and farmer folks of this country. The part was acceptably played by Gabriella McKean.

Georgia Waldron, who enacted the heroine, has a strength of emotional power and the other characters were in a capable hands. The scenic effects were noticeably good especially the mountain road shown in the last act.

Hermann the Great. The sale of seats will begin at the box office of the Lyceum this morning for Hermann, the Great, who comes to this theatre Wednesday night, an entirely new and original programme of magic and mystery. Hermann has been an annual visitor to this city for the past three years and his clientele has enormously increased with each visit.

Aside from his wonderful sleight-of-hand feats, he has secured in Paris several sensational illusions among which are "The Cabinet of Enchantments," "The Ark," "The Escape from Sing Sing," and "The Turkish Elephant." Each of these illustrations are entirely new to this city. Another feature of his programme will be the vaudeville interruption of the McWatters, Tyson company, consisting of four comedians who will present their latest musical skit entitled "Scenes in the Dressing Room," for which special scenery and effects are carried.

"San Toy." The Augustin Daly Musical comedy will present that delightful "San Toy" at the Lyceum theatre, February 29, in the same elaborate manner that brought the players pleasant words, and Daly's theatre, New York, much revenue, and the management much thanks for providing this pretty entertainment. It is a funny and witty musical comedy with a nicely adjusted mixture of oriental and occidental atmosphere and color.

The musical comedy will be produced here in the same elaborate manner as at Daly's with its magnificent scenic production, a picturesque view of a Chinese street and a view of the emperor's palace. The costumes are elaborate and embrace many varieties of Chinese styles and are absolutely correct in every detail, as they have been especially imported for the production. The orchestra will be under the direction of John Braham, so there will be opportunity to hear the delightful music at its best. There will be a chorus of sixty-five trained voices.

The sale of seats of this important engagement will open at the theatre box office tomorrow morning, and the largest sale in the history of the house is predicted.

Everybody likes the circus and ten thousand throats will cheer the marvelous performances to be given at the C. E. A. midwinter circus at the new grandery Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week with a grand matinee Saturday, Washington's birthday.

Tany of the benefit performances to be given at the Lyceum on Saturday. "The Ramblers" at Music Hall.

"The Ramblers" who were to appear at the Star theatre for three days commencing this afternoon, have transferred their attraction to Music Hall, and the performances will be given there instead. Owing to Music Hall having been previously rented for some local event on Tuesday night, no performance will be given out at that night, but a matinee will be given Tuesday afternoon. There will therefore be five performances, viz: Monday matinee and night, Tuesday matinee, Wednesday matinee and night. The prices will be in the afternoon, entire lower floor, 25 cents; entire balcony 15 cents. In the given in this and other cities lack the merit of professional performances, but at the coming circus the amateur end of it will be very small as the programme will include many of the very best artists in the circus and vaudeville profession. It has been a great undertaking this midwinter circus and only the backing of such an organization as the I. C. S. A. could bring to a successful termination such a gigantic scheme. The different performers are being brought from all parts of the United States for this big show. The Japs from Chicago. The pony and dog circus from Boston. The gymnasts from Indianapolis. Two of the clowns from Cincinnati. Several from New York and Philadelphia and many from the winter circus headquarters at Bridgeport, Conn.

If this performance proves successful as it now seems likely, the I. C. S. A. will give one like it every year and it will prove a welcome feature to Scranton's amusement season as there is no reason we should wait for summer for the style of entertainment we so much admire when we have such spacious place as the new armory in which to spread the circus canvas where all will be made comfortable in even the coldest of weather.

Look out for the parade Thursday noon. If the weather permits it will be a grand affair but should it be stormy the public will miss that feature, although every promise will be kept to the letter inside the armory where the circus will be given no matter what the weather may be. The seats are now on sale at Powell's music store. General admission 25 cents. Reserved seats 50, 75 and $1.00. Twelve boxes seating six persons each, $8.00.

The Paderewski Recital. No event in the musical line has ever created the enthusiasm in this city and vicinity which the coming of Paderewski has caused. This is not strange as the same interest is shown everywhere, and his visit to this country at this time will surpass in every city his former great triumph. In New York during the past week his reception both on the occasion of the production of his opera "Manru" and his first piano recital was such as no artist has received in years. Of his great success in our cities let alone among the country people and farmer folks of this country. The part was acceptably played by Gabriella McKean.

Monday, Feb. 10.—Hold the picture upside down and the King's hat forms the Queen's hair. Her nose and the King's ear are close together. Tuesday, Feb. 11.—If it were not for the heart would break. Wednesday, Feb. 12.—The horse's nose points to one brother. His front feet enclose the second and the third is just above the horse's hind leg.

Thursday, Feb. 13.—The outline of the vendor's face forms one boy. Another is his arm, and the ladder in the background rests upon the chin of the third. Friday, Feb. 14.—Chinese quarter. Saturday, Feb. 15.—One dog's back is just above the side. One in the middle of the picture, and one is under the large boy's right hand.

though every promise will be kept to the letter inside the armory where the circus will be given no matter what the weather may be. The seats are now on sale at Powell's music store. General admission 25 cents. Reserved seats 50, 75 and $1.00. Twelve boxes seating six persons each, $8.00.

STAGE NOTES.

Sadie Martin's vaudeville sketch is called "Fashionable Intelligence." Pilar Merill will head the permanent burlesque company soon to be started in San Francisco. A new play called "My Pretty Maid," by Captain Basil Hood, will soon be produced in London. De Reszke is reported to have been offered $200,000 for forty performances by Colonel Mapleson.

Bernhardt and Rejane are both of the opinion that a permanent French theatre would pay in New York. Champion Jim Jaffrey will do a monologue when he goes out with one of Ed. Rash's attractions.

Peter F. Daily has said Weber & Fields to break contract so that he can appear at Proctor's theatre in New York. Mrs. Le Moyne's tour in "The First Duchess of Marlborough" has closed. It was highly praised by the critics.

Henry Miller will play a fifteen weeks' engagement under the direction of Charles Frohman in San Francisco next summer. Margaret Anglin will be the leading lady, and the Empire theatre plays will be presented.

PITSTON.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Pitstion, Feb. 15.—W. B. Richards yesterday relinquished the duties of chief of police and health officer of West Pittston borough, which position he has held since 1901.

Joseph Smith, aged 55 years, a resident of Parsonage street, was seriously injured on the Lehigh Valley railroad Saturday afternoon. Smith was walking along the road between Coston and Pittston Junction and to avoid an approaching train, jumped from one track to another, falling to the ground, his right arm broken and his right hand crushed. He is now in the Pittston hospital.

The children of the church, which was held in the Welsh Congregational church, February 28, has been postponed to March 21. Owing to the epidemic, the several choirs were to meet for rehearsal.

Miss Ella Jacoby, of Lestershire, N. Y., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. D. L. Lyons, on Toga street, returned home on Saturday.

The Baptist Young People's Union, of the Baptist church, will hold a social at the residence of Edward Wintermute, near the Brown grist mill, on Wednesday evening, February 19, for the benefit of the Evangelical church. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Hanna O'Brien is the guest of Mrs. F. H. Platt, who has been seriously ill with neuralgia for some time, is convalescing.

The German Medicine company will be at the opera house this week introducing their medicines. They advertise to give an entertainment each evening.

Miss Ella Jacoby, of Lestershire, N. Y., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. D. L. Lyons, on Toga street, returned home on Saturday.

The infant daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Borghese, was baptized Saturday, February 16, at 10 o'clock, by Rev. W. C. T. U. held their usual business meeting at Mount Cobb on Thursday, February 13. The day was stormy, only seven members attended.

The Hollisterville school went for a sleighride yesterday to Salem, Moscow and Noble town.

Mr. W. J. Emery and Mr. Edge attended the temperance lecture at Scranton given by Mr. Woolley.

WIMMERS. Special to the Scranton Tribune. Wimmers, Feb. 14.—Cora Masters, Anna Denick and William Borghese were united with the Evangelical church Sunday, February 9. Gladus, the infant daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Borghese, was baptized Saturday, February 16, at 10 o'clock, by Rev. W. C. T. U. held their usual business meeting at Mount Cobb on Thursday, February 13. The day was stormy, only seven members attended.

died at his home on Lambert street yesterday. Funeral, Monday morning. There is a continual improvement in the small-pox situation in this city, and ere long the city will be entirely freed from the disease. Today the quarantine was raised on the Morgan home on Tompkins street, where the disease first broke out, six weeks ago, and the inmates of the Williams, Deeble and Arvidson homes, in that vicinity, which have been under quarantine, were released yesterday and today. There has been no new case reported in this vicinity within two weeks. The quarantine against the city of Pittston by the health authorities of Wilkes-Barre is still maintained, and the opinion is general that the enthusiasm of the sanitary committee of Wilkes-Barre in endeavoring to keep the disease from that city borders somewhat on insanity. The ridiculousness of the quarantine against this city is shown by the fact that only people travelling between here and the East Side line are held up for permits. There is nothing to prevent those without permits from crossing the bridge and going to Wilkes-Barre on the West Side car line, or by taking a train on either of the railroads. Besides only about fifty per cent. of the people who reach the county seat by way of the East Side line have permits, the other half borrowing them from their neighbors. The quarantine is little more than a pure and simple joke.

A young man named Kenley is confined to borough lockup at Inghelton town on complaint of his mother, who says she has fears for her life. The son has been abusing her shamefully, it is claimed, and had made threats to shoot her.

The child of the church, which was held in the Welsh Congregational church, February 28, has been postponed to March 21. Owing to the epidemic, the several choirs were to meet for rehearsal.
