CHAIRMEN OF COUNCILS. Men Who Are Being Named for the Positions in the Two Branches.

The Democrats and Republicans of both branches of councils will caucus within the next week or two to determine upon an organization policy and to select candidates for chairmen.

The political complexion of each council will be materially changed after April 1. The Republicans now have a majority of one in select.

The Democrats in select council are in the majority for the first time in many years and are in high spirits.

A councilman stated to a Tribune man Saturday that he looked forward to a repetition of the memorable organization some years ago when the Democrats had a majority but when Colonel George Sanderson was elected chairman over D. W. Vaughan because of the defection of two Democratic votes.

The Republican members of select council have not yet decided upon a set and have not decided whether to give up the fight or make a try at wresting victory from apparent defeat.

E. E. Robathan, of the Fifth ward, has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for chairman of common council.

The changes favor the election of Assistant City Clerk Evan Morris as clerk though Harry Hutton and Edward R. Conley, who have announced themselves as Republican candidates are making an energetic canvass.

A city clerk is to be elected this year by councils in joint session and the present incumbent, Martin T. Lavelle, is a candidate for re-election as a matter of course.

There was a story current in one time that certain parties to whose conduct of affairs Mr. Lavelle has strenuously objected, would run a candidate against him but this has not been heard during the past two or three weeks.

DAILY PAPER A NECESSITY

SO THE REV. THOMAS B. PAYNE DECLARES.

Preached a Sermon in All Souls' Universalist Church Yesterday Morning on "What Shall a Busy Man and Woman Read in This Busy Age?"—Daily Newspaper is Something for a Thousand Reasons We Cannot Afford to Get Along Without—Sunday Paper a Tonic.

In all Souls' Universalist church a strong, practical sermon was delivered yesterday morning by the pastor, Rev. Thomas B. Payne, on "What Shall a Busy Man and Woman Read in This Busy Age?"

He took for his text the words in John 6:63. Mr. Payne spoke as follows: We are living, my friends, in an age of feverish excitement and killing intensity.

We are living, my friends, in an age of feverish excitement and killing intensity. The days now are long enough for the average man and woman to live through that all the time is crowding upon them.

In an age like the present, when so large a part of our time and strength is taken in the provision we must make for our material needs, and our time is more and more encroached upon by the demands of these needs.

This morning I want to ask and in a partial way answer the question, "What Shall a Busy Man and Woman Read in This Busy Age?"

I am going to take for granted that no intelligent person will deny, namely, that every busy man and woman should read something of each day to profit, thought and reading.

Before I give my attention to the things the busy worker in the present day must read if he would keep his mind from starving, I will speak of a few things that a man or woman in this day should avoid themselves to read.

Neither can the busy man, especially, afford to even try to read a thousandth part of the books of fiction that the press of the land is each year vomiting out upon the world.

The very fact that they have read it and you have not, may be the one proof wanting to demonstrate they are a bigger fool than you are.

There is one other class of books the busy man and woman should not attempt to read. They should avoid the "pulp" magazine, scientific or philosophical nature for which they have had no previous preparation.

was severely demoralized, especially by the clergy, its devotedness to duty was an instrument of the devil—to those who believe in it, which I don't—it did more harm than good.

Now, I am sure the Sunday paper is not issued in heaven. And for that matter, neither are the days now as long as they were.

But the Sunday paper also enters into competition with the daily paper, and the result is a confusion of the mind and a loss of the peace and quietness of the daily paper.

READ FOR MORAL MOTIVE. This is a beautiful world in which God has placed us, and we ought to be thankful for the privilege of living in it.

Every busy man and every busy woman, therefore, who is under obligation to read, should read for himself with that sort of reading that will furnish what we may call moral motive.

This need is met in two departments of the daily newspaper, the news and the editorial.

Every busy man and every busy woman, therefore, who is under obligation to read, should read for himself with that sort of reading that will furnish what we may call moral motive.
