THE THIRTY-NINTH RECITAL. Delightful Programme Rendered by

Conservatory Students. There is no question that the Conservatory of Music has learned the secret of drawing large audiences, the one at the recital last evening being one of the largest of the season. Although purely educational exercises to he students who participate in these ecitals, they are, on account of the ainstaking care with which every number has been worked up, and the really musical manner in which they are played, productive of great enjoyment to these who attend.

In this, the thirty-ninth of the series several students played for the first time. Pianoforte solos were rendered by Karl Ammerman, Eva Meixsell, Berha Eurgett, Romaine Spruks, Lillian Benson, Rath Hull, of Olyphant; Mary Hodges, Margaret Law, Caroline Neubauer, Clara Haas, Anna Voris and

Harry Wilkins. The last mentioned, Mr. Wilkins, is deserving of special mention. He is a young man who, whenever he plays in these recitals, invariably plays well. His selections last evening were three in number. The first was an exceedingly graceful valse in A flat major. and willing assistance whenever I came to you his own composition, which received and I had occasion to come to you almost daily ingly graceful valse in A flat major, hearty applause. The other numbers for same favor. There can be no question of your carnestness in behalf of the ticket and your faithfulness to its head, Mr. Morris. In fact Chopin, and the difficult Staccato Etude in C major, by Rubinstein. These numbers were played exceedingly well, and, the audience demanding more, Mr. Wilkins repeated his Valse. The ensemble numbers, played by three classes of eight players each, were the overture to Zampa, by Herold; Polka Mazurka in G major, by Juliet, by Bellini. Near the close of the recital the director, Mr. Pennington, gave a short talk on the educational value of pianoforte study, in which he remarked that the leading educators of the day were more and more inclined to convider music study, under the proper conditions, second to no other, as a tting preparation for life, its present and the great hereafter.

STORIES ARE NONSENSICAL.

What Superintendent Manville Says

About the Absorption. Superintendent Manville, of the Pennsylvania division of the Delaware and Hudson, when seen at his residence in Carbondale last evening, declared that the stories of the proposed purchase of the Delaware and Hudson road by the Pennsylvania were all nonsense, so far as he knew. "Such stories are nonsense, quite ionsense." he said. "I don't mean to deprecate the importance of this territory," he went on, "but I can't see what advantage it would be to the Pennsylvania to come to Carbondale. Why not go to Forest City or Union dale and make either of these places its terminus, Just now the Pennsylvania enjoys practically the same facilities and advantages that it would by an absorption. The trackage contract between the two companies gives the Pennsylvania the right to use the Delaware and Hudson tracks; it can run its trains to Scranton if it cares to. The same contract is in force beween the Delaware and Hudson and the Lehigh Valley. This contract has existed for about eight years. I can't see, therefore, what would induce the Pennsylvania to come up this way: there is nothing in this field, and, as I said before, it now enjoys the same advantages and facilities as might come from a change."

CHANGES IN CITY HALL.

New Office for the Department of Public Works. changes in the arrange ment of the offices on the third floor of the municipal building were made yes-The office of Director of Public Works Roche has heretofore been merely a sort of cubby-hole cut off by board partition from the old board of health room, which has been occupied by the board of assessors.

The partition was removed yesterday and the entire room will now be devoted to the uses of the department of public works. The office of Superinendent Thomas, of the bureau of highways and sewers, was removed from the front of the building to the department office, and the board of assessors take the quarters vacated by him.

The new arrangement will place the wo principal clerks of the department of public works in one office, and will give Director Roche the use of a private office of his own in the southeast corner of the building. The oak counter and office grillwork, which was used in the city controller's office during the first few years the present building was occupied, has been removed to the new office of the department of public works, and persons having no personal business with the director will have to transact their business over this.

SUDDEN END OF FRANCHISE FIGHT

North End. West End and South Side Companies Withdrew Their Ordinances at Select Council Meeting.

The ordinances asking franchises for the North End, West End and South Side Street Railway com-panies were withdrawn at last night's meeting of select council but not before they had been amend-ed to provide for a tax on the gross receipts and limiting the franchise to forty years. After the meeting opened F. H. Clemons, a member of the railway company, presented a report containng amendments to all the ordinances. Phese amendments were as follows: Striking out that part which would bind the company to pay a tax of 1 per cent. of its gross receipts in 1907 and 1908; two per cent, for the following three years and three per cent. thereafter, and substituting a provision to the effect that for the year ending Dec. 31, 1904, the company should pay 1 per cent. of its gross receipts; the second year; 2 the third; 21/2 the fourth; 3 the fifth and sixth; 31/2 the seventh, eighth and ninth; 4 the Directing that the duration of the franchise shall be forty years. The amendments contained provisions for ascertaining the amount of the gross receipts by having the treasarer of the companies make a sworn eturn to the amount of business done within the city limits. At the end of forty years the city was to be at liberty to sell, lease or operate the franchise. If they decided to do the latter appraisers were to be appointed to deide upon the value of the plant.

enth, eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth, and each year thereafter 5 per cent.

Another amendment provided that no urnout or double track should be laid on a street that was not at least thiry-three feet from curb to curb. A number of minor amendments were offered to the North End ordinance. There was considerable discussion about the amendments offered by the committee, several members holding hat it was not the regular report Chairman Chittenden ruled that it was the regular report and Mr. Wagner moved that it be received and filed, as he understood it there was a communication in the hands of the clerk withdrawing the ordinances askng for franchises.

Mr. Clemons objected to such action and Mr. O'Boyle moved to indefinitely postpone, but did not have a second. The motion to adopt the report of the committee made by Mr. Clemons was hen passed by the following vote: Yeas-Ross, Finn, Wagner, Schneider, Merri nan, Oliver, Clemons, Vaughan, O'Malley, Me-Andrews, Chittenden-II.

Superintendent Day, Sergeant Reese Jones, Patrolman Ross and Assistant Sanitary Officer T. V. Lewis made up the party. All were armed with doublebarreled shotguns, and a start was made from headquarters at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, just as the day was breaking.

The officers separated, some stalking Jefferson and Madison avenues, and others Monroe and Quincy. The noise of the first shot aroused the neighborhood, and small boys got up earlier than usual and came out in force. The police stopped at 8 o'clock, when the streets began to fill up and when th rowd of onlookers began to get se arge as to be annoying. Eleven dogs in all were killed, and of this number Officer Lewis, who is crack shot, had six to his credit. All of the dogs except one were either street dogs or mongrel curs. The one exception was a valuable buildog, whose owner was the maddest man in town when he came on the scene a moment after it had been shot. A wagon from the Hewitt Fertilizer company gathered up all the carcasses. Another expedition will start out this morning.
