CAVE-IN AT MINOOKA.

An Acre of Surface and Two Houses Seriously Affected.

An area of surface in Minooka near Connell & Co.'s old brick yard, is seriously affected by a cave-in which ocurred on Thursday night. The cave is supposed to have been caused by the robbing of pillars in the old workings of the Greenwood mines.

The houses of Michael O'Hara and Eugene Driscoll have been seriously injured by the cave-in, obliging the occupants to seek shelter elsewhere. A large portion of Connell & Co.'s No. vein in the National mine has also caved in, throwing sixty men out of employment.

TWO BOYS DROWNED

Charles Neuls, Peter Haggerty and Christ Rose, did magnificent work in removing people from the deluged They were ably seconded by Superintendent of the Fire Department H. F. Ferber and a squad of firemen The patrol wagon was kept in constant use. Lanterns, like gigantic fireflies, flitted here and there. Many women and children were carried out on the backs of male relatives. At 11.30 p. m. the welcome news was given out that the river was shelding, and that unless another rain storm sets in, the danger may be said to be practically over. Fully nine blocks were under water, and the damage done to household effects and goods in cellars is incalculable.

Among the most severe sufferers are: Charles Greenberg, John Schwenk, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Kahler, Joseph Schultz, John Kennedy, John Corby, the Maloney property, Charles Stone, Michael Sweeney, Mrs. Dimler, William Luther, dresses followed. D. J. Davis acted as Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Carmody, John Galbish, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Louis Haas, John Murray, Michael Myers, Michael Flynn, Charles Major, John Schroeder, Thomas McGinnis, the Harvey properties, while among those flooded on Washington avenue are John Klien, Daniel Coleman, William Smith, John Burke, William Sheffler, Nicholas Gauz, Peter Hartman, Frank Rashelewski, Joseph

CAREFUL OF DOG.

The flood was not without its laughable features. One man, who threw his two children rather roughly onto an improvised raft, raised a laugh among the onlookers by the gingerly manner in which he, himself, stepped onto the life-boat, tenderly bearing in his arms a pet dog.

A cat and dog, which were unable to escape the flood, met on a high board fence and remained companions in misery for fully four hours, but there was not a particle of fight in either.

South of the city, along the course of the Lackawanna, the only serious damage, outside of washouts on the railroads, was the carrying away of a span of the railroad bridge at Lackawanna.

Moosic lived all day in dread of the breaking of the Spring Brook Water company's dam, located six miles up the mountain side. It was reported last night that eighteen inches of water was leaping over the spillway. Spring brook, which courses through the heart of the village, overflowed in many places.

WORK SUSPEMDED.

Water from the Lackawanna river and Sterrick Creek began to flow into the shaft of the Temple Iron company's Sterrick Creek colliery at Peckville early in the afternoon. A vigorous battle was waged against it, but the Cooper, New York. Both are doing fight proved futile for before nightfall the volume of water became so great that there was no hope of checking it, and the signal was blown that work at the mine is suspended.

The Eddy Creek mine at Olyphant was likewise flooded and the Richmond colliery near the city line was made to suspend by reason of the water putting out the fires in the boiler

, manuscommunica de la company Probably the most serious of the mine floods is at the Von Storch slope, the mouth of which overlooks the river length of about ten feet, just north of Green Ridge street. At the first sign of the flood the men and mules were taken out and the opening walled up. The water, however, rose higher than anticipated and found tis way into a branch opening. From this it poured into the main slope down to the Diamond vein where it leaped into an inside shaft reaching the lowest of the four veins, the China vein. Here it spread and sought, the lowest places submerging three pumps.

WATER RUSHED IN

Operations were suspended early in the day at both the Manville on Green Ridge flats and the Hampton on Keysey Valley creek on account of the water rushing into the opening.

At the Bellevue colliery the water made a sudden rush into the mine through the main shaft. Forty men at work in the lowest vein had to wade for a long distance through waist-deep they reached the surface by climbing on sixteen ladders, a distance of 350 feet. The Mt. Pleasant washery, situated on the flats along the old Love road, bad to suspend operations, the water from the river having completely sur-shortly before 3 o'clock, but could proceed no farther than the Steel Works station, and was taken back to the Lackawanna avenue station and the assengers unloaded. The tracks near he Marvine breaker, north of the Providence station, were under water last night for several hundred feet, and this prevented the running of trains to

A LANDSLIDE.

Besides the tracks awash at the Stee Works station, there was a serious andslide at Minooka station and a washout at Minooka junction, several hundred feet of the track being under-mined at this point. At Miners' Mills the middle pier of a bridge spanning a swollen creek was washed away and the bridge was ordered closed by the division superintendent, and a gang of men was set at work to repair it. The Delaware and Hudson station was thronged from early in the night with crowds of persons anxious to leave for either up or down the valley, but they were met with the announcement that no trains would be run, and had to make arrangements to spend the night in this city. As a consequence the hotels of the city were thronged last night.

The last train into this city on the Jersey Central arrived here at 12.20 o'clock. The flooding of the tracks at various points between this city and Wilkes-Barre prevented the running of any further trains, and announcement of this fact was posted at the station Traffic on the Ontario and Western railroad was entirely suspended early The Scranton Railway company's big in the afternoon, because of washouts viaduct, just below, had its central pier up the valley at Mayfield and Olyphant. The train which arrives here at 4.40 p. the current swept along like viciously m. and the train which leaves at 6.10

TRAIN WAS LATE.

A slight washout at LaPlume delayed traffic on the Lackawanna railroad in the morning, but trains were running on fairly regular time in the afternoon. Train No. 5, due here from New York at 6.50 p. m., was delayed nearly two hours by water on the tracks at various points between Manunka Chunk and Stroudsburg. Trains were running regular late last night.

The Keyser Valley branches of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and Ontario and Western railroads were covered by water from the West mountain, and several culverts were washed out, preventing the movement of cars to and from the mines in Keyser Valley.

SEWERS CHOKED

The rain which began yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock and which was flood, was again deluged. Several the direct cause of yesterday's flood pumps were submerged. It was only fell continually until after 3 o'clock in the afternoon and proved once more that the sewers so far constructed in various parts of the city are not sufficietnly large to properly carry off surface water.

Sewer basins in all parts of the city were blocked and Linden street from Washington avenue to Penn avenue presented its usual lake-like appear-

The most serious results from the clogging of sewers were at the corner of Phelps street and North Washington avenue and at the corner of Prescott avenue and Mulberry street.

The Fourth district sewer, into which the basins at the corner of Pehlps street and Washington avenue empty, was far too small to carry off the water which ran to this corner from up and down Washington avenue. The basins overflooded and great quantities of earth washed down from the higher ground above were deposited on the street railway tracks for depths varying from two feet to six inches,

The opening of the sewer near the wheel works became clogged early in the morning and the water from Dunmore which should have flowed through it was diverted down to Washington avenue and Phelps street. The water which flooded down Mulberry street from Nay Aug park to Prescott avenue carried with it great quantities of soil and it was only a little while after the rain began before the sewer basins at the corner were clogged and street car traffic stopped. A gang of men under the direction of Superintendent Thomas, of the bureau of highways and sewers, hurried to the scene and after several hours' work succeeded in cleaning the basin out.

The railway company's employees had a hard time cleaning the earth off the tracks at both places and passengers had to be transferred for several hours. Large quantities of earth were washed upon the track on Luzerne street also, and traffic was temporarily suspended on that thoroughfare.

NOTES OF FLOOD

Residents of Sport Hill where houses are along the line of the creek, which is an outlet for the Gypsy Grove dam, water to a man-way through which were fearful of the dam giving away and moved themselves and belongings to the houses of neighbors atop the hill. All the Scranton hotels were crowded o the garrets last night by suburban-ites unable to reach home. Cabmen reaped a harvest from those who were ompelled to go to homes at a distance. Delaware and Hudson trainmen reported that the dam at Luke Lodore gave way. The report could not be verified. There was ten inches of water on the level of the Lackawanna yard at Clark's Summit.

The report was current yesterday afternoon that the Scranton Gas and Water company's Elmhurst dam was in danger of bursting and that the company was warning people living along the Roaring Brook to prepare for a serious flood in case the rain should continue. Superintendent Robert Reeves last night characterized this report as absurd. "There has not been the slightest fear that the Elmhurst dam would burst, let alone overflow, said he. "There is still room in the reservoir for a number of feet of water and we could stand two more days of such rain as yesterday without the least danger of any of the water escaping. The person who started that story should have known better. It was quickly passed from mouth to mouth until many people actually got out of their houses in anticipation of a flood. I went down in the afternoon and done the best I could to assure these people that there was no danger,'

Mr. Reeves said that the "inkey condition of the water has been caused by the soil washed into the reservoirs by the rain. He believes that this will have practically all settled today.

Among the serio-comic incidents connected with the flood one was observed by a rescue party which was trying to aid a colony of Hungarians up above Peckville. The water was rapidly ris-ing and the residents of the huts were in great danger. About every other man who appeared had a pig under his arm. Intermingling with the squeak of the pigs were screams of women who were being left by the male members of the household to their fate while they saved themselves and the Superintendent Davis, of the Saquoit silk mills, gave permission to his Taylor employees to leave early in the afternoon and when he learned that the tracks were blocked made provision for them to stay over night in this city. A notice was posted at the South mill yesterday notifying the men to quit work upon the sound of the whis-tle, which was to be blown in case the river was to a dangerous height. There was no necessity for the sounding of the alarm as the river had not reached the mill at quitting time.

Although the shortest month of the year was further curtailed by two holldays and handicapped by the most severe storms of the winter, industrial and trade results were most satisfactory. The closing week brought a general resumption of activity in the lines that suffered from the weather, and preparation for an exceptionally heavy spring business was reported at many points; southern cities alone being backward. Crop prospects are considered encouraging, in so far as anything can be learned at this time. Numerous interruptions would account for a considerable loss in railway earnings yet reports thus far available for February show a decrease of only 8 per cent, from last year's figures, and a gain of 13.5 per cent, as compared with the traffic in 1900.
