It is useless to contend that there was no intention to imitate. The attempt to catch the trade that had been attracted by the name, style and device by which the plaintiff had made his goods known, is too manifest to be successfully controverted.

DEFEAT FOR BACKUS TEAM

GREEN RIDGE WHEELMEN TOOK TWO GAMES.

Game at Wilkes-Barre Had to Be Postponed Because the Alleys Were Under Water—Scranton Bicycle Club Game with the Elks Also Postponed—Tournament to Be Conducted on the Hampe Alleys—Playing of the Old Game of Nine Pins Is Being Revived.

The only games rolled in the Northeastern Pennsylvania league last night were rolled between the Backus and Green Ridge Wheelmen's team on the latter's alleys. The bowling throughout was exceptionally good. The Backus bowlers met defeat, losing two games and winning the third by the narrow margin of five pins. A crowd from the Electric City Wheelmen, whose team up to last night was tied with the Backus team, was on hand and rooted vigorously for the Green Ridge bowlers. The Backus bowlers claim that this disconcerted them, and as a consequence there is all kinds of trouble in camp. The score:

The following new applications came from Dickson City: Joseph Kelly, corner of Main and Bowman streets; Frank Sorts, of Boulevard avenue; A. J. Uder, Boulevard avenue, corner of Bowman street; Michael Foriki, Boulevard avenue, corner of Bowman street; Joseph Obelkevich, corner of Bridge and River streets; John Sants, corner of Main and Jackson streets; Jacob Grzenda, Carmel street; Walter Kalczencki, Lincoln street; Adam Michalowski, Carbondale turnpike, and Anthony Cwiklinski, Carmel street.

There was a remonstrance to the Santa application. It was represented by J. Gardner Sanderson. John R. Edwards represented the application.

Sumner had the following new applications: Donald Cooker, Main street; Michael J. O'Boyle, Blakey street; John Astock, corner of Throop and Leavess streets; Sabine Preziosi, corner of Apple and Mortimer streets; Salvatore Gattano, Mortimer street; William J. Egan, corner of Deiker and Blakey streets; Angello Costigliano, corner of Kerry and Brady streets; Patrick C. Langan, corner of Galway and Kerry streets; Antonio Capro, corner of Kerry and Donegal streets; John W. Brink, corner of Leavess and Blakey streets.

There was a remonstrance against the application of Michael J. O'Boyle, FK-Burgess Dan Powell, whose home is adjacent to the proposed hotel property, headed the remonstrants. He is represented by Attorney W. E. Brink, corner of Leavess and Blakey streets. The applicant's attorneys are O'Brien & Martin and Clarence Balentine. There was a licensed hotel there about seven years ago and it was destroyed by fire. An ordinance was passed at that time but would not re-issue a license.

REGAN TO RETIRE. The application of P. J. Regan, which was protested by the Municipal league, was withdrawn by Attorney C. P. O'Malley, to the accompaniment of a statement that the league was hounding Mr. Regan and he decided to retire from business. A rule to revoke the Regan license for selling on Sunday is now pending.

An application was received from W. J. Boland for a license for Regan's place. Attorney F. E. Beers, representing the Municipal league, objected on the ground that Boland is a former partner and relative of Regan and is simply asking for a license so that Regan may continue business under his name.

"We'll hear you on that," remarked Judge Edwards. Mr. Beers contended that it was the duty of the applicant to show that the application was made in good faith when its good faith was questioned. The court shook its several heads in disapproval and Judge Kelly said "We can't be expected to guess that the application is not made in good faith. The presumption on the face of the petition is that it is in good faith." Mr. Beers said he hadn't looked at it that way.

The most interesting hearing of the day was in the case of J. W. Brink, who wants a license for the Exchange hotel. His wife, Jennie E. Brink, was conducting the place, last year, and lost her license last January for selling on Sunday. The Municipal league which secured the revocation of the license, made objection to her husband being given a license as it meant, practically, a renewal of his wife's revoked license.

DETECTIVES ON STAND. To prove the allegation that Brink, at all events, was not a fit person to conduct a hotel, League Detectives Arthur Whitely and Frank Keene took the stand and testified that the hotel has been doing business right along since the revocation of the license, and that Mr. Brink himself has sold liquor there. Both detectives stated positively that it was Mr. Brink who served them.

Judge Edwards asked Mr. Holgate, attorney for Brink, if it was true that business had continued at the Exchange hotel despite the revocation of the license.

FRANK GOLD. The playing of the old game of nine pins is being revived on the Backus alleys these days, and a number of players can be frequently seen trying to knock down all the pins but one.
