The latter being anxious to get work, submit to anything that the miner sees fit to impose. As a result, it is claimed the laborer not only does not get his full share of the Peter follow Him. earnings of a chamber, but is required o do work that belongs to the miner. The miner, it is contended, earns from $3.75 to $4 a day, for three or four hours' work, while the laborer gets only about $2 a day, and must work from eight to ten hours. Some miners, it is averred, simply mark where the holes are to be irilled, and after they are drilled charge and fire them, requiring the laborer to do the drilling, as well as his regular work of loading and cleaning

The laborers, it is said, propose to demand equal pay with the miner, and that the miner shall do his own work. The miners declare that if such a denand is made, according to one of their number, the laborers will be discharged and the miners will do the work them-

THE SERIES OF EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS WAS BEGUN.

Binghamton Evangelist Spoke in the Penn Avenue Baptist Church Last Night on Christ's Injunction to S. Peter, "What Is That to Thee! Follow Thou Me''-Meetings to Be Continued Every Night This Week the Afternoon.

Rev. Dr. L. M. S. Haynes of Binghamton, a powerfully eloquent preachand a clergyman well known throughout the east as a revivalist of the first of a series of evangelistic sermons last night in the Penn Avenue Baptist church. He took for his text a part of the twenty-second verse of the twenty-first chapter of John, "What is that to thee? Follow thou "What me," and spoke in part as follows:

You alt, no doubt, recall the circumstances which led Christ to say these words. He had given Peter to understand that he was to feed His lambs and sheep. Peter was apparently satisfied in his own mind as to what he had to do, but he took occasion to ask the Lord about John. 'What shall that man do, Lord?' he said, and Christ replied, 'What is that to thee? Follow

DIFFERENCE OF CONDITIONS. "One of the things which attracts the attention of men and which prevents many from accepting Christ is the diference between the conditions of the ich and poor. This has been the great question of the ages. Why should there be some supplied with all he luxuries of life, and others too poor to buy themselves bread? There has never been a time in the history of the world when there have not been both rich and poor, and there never will be a time when these two classes will not exist. It is not for us to ask lod's reason for these conditions of life. It is rather our Christian duty to accept that life which God has seen fit to place us in and to remember the words of Christ, 'What is that to thee'

Lost we truly are in the depths of a great forest, and without Christ as our guide we shall never find the open. Put your trust in Him and follow His guiding hand until the end of life's journey. It's the only safe way,"

The evils of procrastination or the putting off of conversion day by day were forcibly pointed out by Dr. Haynes, who told a little incident of two shipwrecked men cast ashore on a bleak and barren isle, with only one broken match between thm. He told of the infinite care with which they guarded this match and how each was ofraid to take the responsibility of kindling a fire with it, for fear it would go out. Finally, after hours of hesitation, one of the men struck it and set fire to the dry wood which they had gathered together.

DON'T DELAY

"My friend," said he, "you may have but one match left and but one more day left in which to strike it. It may go out if you wait longer or you may Won't you try to strike it for Christ tonight and have your hearts kindled with God's ever-burning love." Dr. Haynes will preach in the Penn Avenue Baptist church every night this week except Saturday and will give Bible readings this afternoon and also on Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The night services proper will begin promptly at 7.45 o'clock nightly, but they will be preceded by a song service, beginning at 7.30 o'clock. The afternoon services will begin at 3.30

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Talk at Elm Park Church by Rev. Hugh Cork, of Pittsburg, a Well-Known State Worker.

Rev. Hugh Cork, of Pittsburg, superitendent of organization and houseto-house work for the State Sabbath School association, addressed a gathering of Sunday school workers yesterday afternoon in the Sunday school room of the Elm Park Methodist Episschool work in general, and sought to inspire his listeners with greater energy and with a definite purpose in their work.

The Sunday school, he declared, presents today the greatest and most fruitful field of activity for those Christians who may desire to invest their talents for eternity. Those who are brought into the fold of the Christian faith during childhood, he said, are in nearly every instance the best and truest Christians.

"Oh, the opportunities for good that are being constantly neglected," said he. "Fifteen years ago a little chap, who couldn't speak much English, was wandering about near Allegheny. He wasn't looked after to any very great extent by his parents, and there was no place into which he was called to learn of the Master. Last September that neglected boy sent two bullets into the body of President McKinley, and threw the whole country into sorrow. Perhaps the neglect of some Sunday Frank Stout, of the Carpenters, all of school worker, when that fellow was young, was directly responsible for his wandering away into sin and wicked-

He declared that the Sunday school is a hindrance in one respect, and that he sometimes thinks that for this one reason the world might be better without it. "I refer to the habit which some Christian people have," said he, "of bringing their children to us to train for them. The Sunday school has its place, but it is not intended to supplant the home. I send my children to the Sunday school and I am glad to do so, but when they go to heaven, I want myself and my wife to receive the major part of the credit for sending them there. The work of the Sunday school is simply to supplement the work of the Christian home and to do for the un-Christian homes what they are not doing for themselves."

He pointed out the necessity of Sunay school workers giving up the idea that all wisdom and understanding is to be found in their own denomination and of profiting by the experience of workers in other churches.

"Our Sunday schools are not doing chat they ought to do," said he, in conclusion. "We have methods and plans enough to turn the world upside down, if they were only properly applied and rightly operated. There are too many of us doing the work without any definite purpose and who are unable to give a reason for their doing of it except that they drifted into it and find it hard to get out again. You must have a definite purpose, a definite preparation for the accomplishment of that purpose, and you must be able to definitely present the work to your mapils.

INDUSTRIAL

MILD WEATHER HAS COME TO THE RELIEF.

Has Prevented the Coal Famine That Otherwise Would Have Followed in the Wake of the Flood. Working Hours at the Allis-Chalmers Works Fixed-Hugh Frayne Has Appointed State Organizers and Committees-George H. Holden Has Retired-The Board.

A spell of mild weather-unseasonably warm, in fact-has come to the relief of producers, and the most destructive flood in the anthracite region has ever known has resulted in little discomfort to producers. Had will be sure to emerge sometime from the weather for the past week been as cold and raw as a year before, there would have been a great how! for-coal and all manner of newspaper talk about a coal famine. As matters stand, consumers want coal only for immediate needs, and those who have a little on hand wait until that is gone before ordering more. As a result, the demand is not strong, and jobbers and dealers have been able to meet orders without much trouble.

Most of the railroads have repaired the washouts along their lines, and all are moving coal. The Reading, the Delaware and Hudson, and the Lackawanna are about in shape, so far as transportation is concerned, to get through their ·usual tonnages.

As regards the prospects of a general strike at the mines, present indications are against it. The miners are making good wages, and there is every prospect that the companies will announce a continuation of the present wage scale for another year. At the same time, they will probably refuse to grant any such drastic demands as those made at the Mine Workers' convention at Indianapolis. There is no prospect of the companies announcing their spring prices until it is seen that there is no probability of a strike.-Engineering and Mining Journal.
