EXPLODING GAS SHAKES BUILDING

A Body of the Illuminant, Set off by Gas Company's Workmen, Causes Consternation at South Main Street and Eighth Avenue.

There was a lively commotion in the vicinity of South Main street and Eighth avenue about 7 o'clock last

A body of gas, the accumulation from n leak that has existed since the recent flood, was set off by an employe of the gas company, who was endeavoring to locate the trouble, and who indiscreetly lighted a match. In an instant there was a sheet of flame, followed by the noise of an earthquake, that went rumbling over the southern part of the city. Buildings within the radius of a block felt the shock. The stores and residences within a few hundred feet of the spot where the gas exploded shook until the windows rattled, and the occupants were filled with the fear that their destruction was at

A big hole was torn in the ground surrounding the spot where the gas issued forth.

Mud and stones were dug up and thrown against the neighboring houses. Edward Houston, the employe, who had the misfortune to light the match, was caught in the force with an upheaval of mud that covered his face and almost blinded him. Medical attention, however, relieved him, and no bad consequences are looked for.

Houston, who is employed in the gas house, left his home after the supper hour, and was passing the spot where the odor of gas was strongest. There is a stand pipe at the Eighth avenue bridge, where a valve is located in a box. It was here that Houston began his investigation. He raised the cover, when a sickening odor of gas burst or him. This was certainly evidence enough that there was a dangerous leak there, but Houston did not feel satisfied until he lighted a match. Why he made such a dreadful mistake, no one, not even himself, can explain now, However, he did. The result and consequence are plain. There was an explosion, and a mighty one, which caused all the ruction heretofore described.

Houston's escape from dangerous injury was marvelous. It might be mentioned that he was acting on his own responsibility in his endeavor to locate

While all the houses in the neighborhood were shaken, until the windows rattled, the meat market and dwelling of W. H. Evans, at Eighth avenue and South Main street, and the residence of Contractor P. Y. Moran, on Eighth avenue, were agitated more than the rest In the Moran residence, the family feit that the house was collapsing.

The noise of the explosion was distinctly heard in that section of the city and caused many to believe that there was another blow-up at the Jermyn powder mills. The Carbondale Gas company has endeavored to correct the trouble ever since its presence became known, over a week ago, by the almost overpowering smell of gas in the vicinity. The leak is supposed to be located somewhere in the main that runs under the river at this point. The break is attributed to the action of the recent floods, which greatly disturbed the river bed, also the gas main. The depth of the river and the presence of frost in the ground prevents the work of repair from being carried on just now When these conditions are removed th company will abandon the main under the river and will carry it overhead across the stream. Permission to do this has already been granted by coun-

THEFT AT HIGH SCHOOL.

A Buzz of Excitement Caused by the Loss of Seventeen and a Half Dollars-Taken from a Scholar's Desk. Fruitless Search of Pupils.

Quite a buzz of excitement was proluced in the Carbondale High school yesterday forenoon over the supposed theft of a sum of money, $17.50, from the desk of one of the scholars.

When the disappearance of the mone; vas reported, a diligent, but fruitless, boy, who said they saw the money, were called into Superintendent Garr and made to submit to a search. Later Constable Henry Pierce was called into he case to make an investigation, but ne met with little success in locating the money or the supposed thief, The money disappeared from the Lillian Penuckert, of Hospital street, was the victim. The scholar came to school in the morning with the $17.50 to send away at noon through the local postoffice. When she came into the lass-room, she placed the money, which was in bills and in an envelope, on her desk. She had a St. Patrick's lay badge, which was side-by-side with the money as it lay on the desk. The badge attracted the attention of severai of the scholars, who commented on it, as they flocked around the Peuckert girl. She went to the cloak room, leaving the money, she claimed, n her desk. When she returned the money was gone. The loss was reported and caused a great flutter when the announcement was made. Superintendent Garr was notified. His nquiries brought out the six scholars, five girls and one boy, who saw the enclope in which the Penckert girl had the money. These were asked to step into the superintendent's rooms, where they submitted to a search. No trace of the reported missing money was ound on any of them. The search con irmed the statements which the scholars made with reference to their connection with the loss of the bills. Sub sequently, Constable Pierce, of Alder man Morrison's court, was sent for. He made an investigation, which, however vas as barren of results as was the onby the superintendent.

The circumstances of the case were such that not the least tangible clue of explanation of the girl's loss developed. It was a case that balked the officials, and all that was left to be done was for them to bide their time for some clue or explanation which would disover how the money went, and where, The Peuckert girl was visibly depressed at her misfortune. She was so disconsolate that she remained in the school building during the lunch hour until her father visited the school and relieved her mind.

DANGEROUS SURGERY Should Be the Last Resort.

Many people suffer from piles, beause after trying various lotions, salves and ciniments without relief or cure, they come to the conclusion that surgical operation is the last resort, and rather than submit to the shock and risk to life of an operation, prefer suffer on: very often, however, the afflicted one is over persuaded to resort to the knife, and even though the operation is apparently successful, and there is complete recovery from the shock incident thereto, the result is invariably the same; the piles sooner or later return because their cause has not been removed. This result is a logical one, inasmuch as the knife removes the effects of the disease only, while the cause remains as before There is claimed to be a remedy which does remove the cause, hence eradicatsearch was made. Five girls and one ing the disease, and that is the Pyramid Pile Cure; it is in the form of a suppository, is applied directly to the parts affected, and brings about a complete cure, quietly and painlessly. In this conection the testimony of Mr. John Cullen Bryant, the well known bookseller of Haverhill, Mass., is of unusual interest. com taught by Miss Julia Kilhullen.

"I desire to contribute an unsolicited. but purely voluntary testimonial in favor of Pyramid Pile Cure. I have suffered for more than twenty years with hemorrhoids, and have consulted numerous physicians and expended a great deal of money for medicines that did me no good. I had often seen Pyramid Pile Cure advertised, but hesitated for months before buying same, thinking it a patent or quack remedy that had no merit; but having tried every other remedy prescribed I was finally persuaded one year ago, to try Pyramid Pile Cure. I bought a fifty cent package at the drug store, and while I may not be permanently cured, the past year has been the only year of my life worth living during the past twenty years, and nothing but the Pyramid remedies have wrought this hange. I offer this testimony for the benefit of suffering humanity."

make the best of them. DROPPED INTO CELLAR.

Sidewalk on South Main Street Takes a Tumble While Two Men Are Walking Over It-Given Quite a Scare.

A Carbondale resident, George Curis, and an out-of-town man, Dr. Stevens, of Canaan, had quite an unique experience last night, one that gave them quite a scare and made then feel somewhat queer for awhile. The doctor and Mr. Curtis were com-ng up South Main street about 9 o'clock. When they were passing the Delmonico restaurant, kept by E. H. W. Burke, the sidewalk gave way, dropping into the vault-like cellar beneath. Both men also dropped. There was no way or no chance of escaping and in an instant they were six feet below the surface of the street, scrambling about in a dark, unlyiting spot The distance they dropped was the east alseomforting part of their exserience; It was the hour of the adventure that agitated them and made them think that for all they knew The ordinance making the appropri- they were making a descent into the tine. It was the most sudden hanthird reading in common council last pening in their experience and one calculated to put their nerves on the ragged edge. To be walking along the reading, without debate or delay, as in street, deeply absorbed in a discussion, and in the twinkling of an eve to have the sidewalk drop from under you and land you-well you don't know where-is not going to fill you with peace of mind. The contrary, however, is true. And this made up the most of the injuries of the singularly overtaken men. Their nervous systems were thrown out of plumb. until they managed to pull themselves out of the cellar and were once more in a more inviting place in the lighted thoroughfare. Injured feelings and thumping hearts, battered hats and soiled clothing, with perhaps a few brasions, were the extent of their mishap. The mental pictures they had during the lightning-like descent into the cellar were as rapid as the kineto> scope in the picture shows. A flaw in the walk was the cause of the trouble.

SUCCESS ASSURED.

The Colgate Glee and Mandolin Clubs Will Have a Good Audience.

This concluded the periodical tist church. This means that the success of the Easter concert is fully assured:

When the diagram opens at Clark's drug store next Monday night, the rush for seats will doubtless equal that which has attended the most popular entertainments of the season. The ladies feel that their audience of 700 is already in sight. The patronage of that many people will make the society secure in their venture. Twenty-three college men ought to give a royal entertainment.

Observance of Evin's Patron Saint in Carbondale.

One of the quietest and most uneventful observances of St. Patrick's day in Carbondale marked the recurrence yesterday of the feast of Erin's patron

While the day was generally observed among the sons of Erin, the mines and some workshops being shut down, there was no public demonstration of any character. To those who made the day one of rest and recreation, it had all the aspects of a holiday. There were a number of visitors in town, which is the survival of an old custom, and numerous persons left the city to spend the day with friends. The theatre was quite an attraction, and both performances at the Grand were crowded with audiences, through which there was a generous sprinkling of green ribbons and other novelties of emerald, significant of the feast that is always a joyous occasion to an Irish-

The religious observance of the feast was marked by the celebration of two masses in St. Rose church, the first at and the latter at 9 o'clock. The 'clock service was the more import int. Opens to Crowded Houses at the Grand Opera House.

The Schiller Stock company, at the Grand yesterday afternoon, made the most successful opening of any repertoire company that has appeared in Carbondale this season.

There were two performances. the matinee, the house was so crowded that there was but little standing room. In the evening the house was again packed. Of the two productions, the evening bill, "City of New York," was the more meritorious. It was a strong melo drama, with splendid scenic accessories, that made a performance that was keenly enjoyed. In the afternoon "A Woman's Enemy" was satisfactory, the upper part of the audience particularly being enthusiastic in its applause.

The company has many features to make it popular, and among these the specialties are deserving of special notice. The sweet-voiced little miss who sang two numbers has what can be called a phenomenal voice. No one, of her years, has ever been excelled if equalled, at any performance in this city. The boy juggler is another wonderful performer.
