of Phil Boiden. At night, "The Bond of Honor," a play written by Mr. De Vonde, was presented. The bill for this afternoon is "Night in New York" and for tonight "Ten Ton Door."

Tuxedo Burlesquers.

A bright and snappy performance was given yesterday at the Star theater by the Tuxedo Club Burlesquers, who opened a three days' en-gagement. The first part of the programme consists entirely of an olio which introduces several elever acts including a really laughable sketch entitled "A Pleasant Evening," by Hodge, Hayward and Laneaster, and a clever song and dance turn by the two Reed sisters.

There is also a povel act by Arminta a wo derful revolving trapeze performer, who received much applause. A burlesque entitled "Camping Out" winds up the entertainment.

Della Fox.

There is a breezy lot of quaint characters in "The Little Mam'selle," the new comedy in which we are to see here shortly that delightful artiste, Della Fox. In addition to the roles played by Miss Fox-her's is a dual part-there maid-of-ali-work who is passionately in lov An irascible old country wife, a young rustic who wants to be considered a real devillish rake, and a host of other more or less interesting per sonages are included in this stage family.
