SNOW BOUND IN NORTH DAKOTA

EXPERIENCE OF G. T. DAVIS IN NORTHWEST.

Encountered Snow Drifts from Five to Twenty Feet High—Thermometer Registered 15 Degrees Below Zero—Snow Piled Up to Second Story Windows—Initial Suppers at the Simpson and First Baptist Churches—News Notes and Personal Paragraphs.

Griffith T. Davis, of North Main avenue, arrived home at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, after a week's experience in the great Northwest, which he will not soon forget. He left Scranton on

GRIFFITH T. DAVIS.

Wednesday, March 22, for North Dakota, but before reaching his destination was compelled to abandon his trip, on account of the blizzard, and return to Minneapolis. In conversation with the Tribune correspondent last evening, he told the following interesting story of the trip:

"We left Minneapolis Friday evening, March 14, via the Great Northern railroad, bound for Des Moines, North Dakota. A friend of mine, Mr. Wheelock, boarded the train at Fargo at 5:15 a. m. Saturday, and reported a nice balmy morning with a little rain. About 10 a. m. we discovered we were running into a blizzard, arriving at Crary, a little later. It was impossible to go any farther, snow drifts being reported from five to twenty feet deep. "About 5 p. m., after suffering considerably from the cold, and realizing that it would be an awful night on the train, we mustered courage to go to a country hotel, situated about a city block from the train. I had my car frozen and others had their cars and hands similarly treated as a memento of the occasion. After resting up and getting supper, Wheelock and I retired to a room where your breath would freeze, for the night. "We went to bed with most of our clothing on, and put our overcoats on the bed to help out the covering, and awoke Sunday morning tired from holding up the bedclothing. We were forced to stay in the hotel all day Sunday, as the storm had not abated for even a minute. The wind kept blowing steadily for about sixty hours, and I must say it was the fiercest storm I have ever seen. Early that morning we discovered there were quite a number of people on the train, mostly women and children, who had no money or food. I am happy to say there were those present who were very ready to take care of them.

"Monday morning the wind had abated, but the thermometer registered about 15 below zero. At 11 o'clock we boarded the train and traveled about twenty miles, going through snow drifts about twenty feet deep, arriving at Devil's Lake. We stayed there until evening, when our train was ordered east. The snow was two feet deep in the vestibules of the train. "I saw houses where the snow had drifted all about them to the second story. Trains that were due Saturday morning had not been heard from Tuesday noon. Railroad men said it was the worst storm ever experienced in the northwest."

NORTH SCRANTON NEWS.

Excellent Concert Given in the Auditorium—Institute to Be Opened Tonight—Other Notes.

A very large audience was splendidly entertained last night at the Auditorium with an excellent musical programme, which was rendered by an orchestra composed of Prof. Walkinshaw's pupils, assisted by Prof. John T. Watkins, the well-known baritone singer, and Prof. Walkinshaw's brother, F. Walkinshaw, who is a 'cellist of rare skill.

The excellent programme printed in its entirety in yesterday's Tribune, was carried out. The orchestra played with a fine discretion, and there was a harmonious blending of tones surprising in a musical organization which has done little concert work. The Misses Summer and Hill rendered two piano duets, and violin solos were contributed by Miss Marion Hill, Miss Belle Cousin and James Lomax.

The orchestra is comprised of the following players:
Violins—Miss Hill, Miss Cousin, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Anderson, Miss Bright, Miss Bergin, Miss Rose, Miss Wolff, Miss Simpson, Miss Barnes, Miss Barnes, Mr. Benjamin, Mr. Walkinshaw, Mr. Evans, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Reese, Mr. Peet, Mr. Bertley, Mr. Allen, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Mulley, Mr. Jones, Mr. Hawkins, Mr. Reid, Mr. Lomax, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Donaldson.
Cellos—Miss Silkman, Miss Barnes, Mr. DeMotte.
Double Bass—Mr. Reid, Mr. Jones, Mr. Cunningham.
Flutes—Mr. Putney, Mr. Tate.
Clarionets—Mr. Evans, Mr. Capnel.
Cornets—Mr. Lewis, Mr. Murray, Mr. Millman.
Trombones—Mr. Jay, Mr. Reese.
Drum—Mr. Roberts.
Pianist—Miss Hill.
