TROLLEY CARS CAUSE EXCITEMENT

Strikes a Wagon and Upsets It in One Instance and Frightens a Horse Again, Causing a Runaway. Both Happenings Stir Up Salem Avenue.

The first real public attention given to the trolley cars of the Scranton Railway company in this city, since the strike, was yesterday afternoon, when there occurred a smash-up and a smash-up, in each of which the moving car was the contributing cause. In the former, the horse's leg was broken, and in the collision, a wagon was overturned and the driver had a narrow escape from injury.

Of the two, the collision between the car and the grocery wagon of Merchant A. E. Myers, of Salem avenue, caused greater excitement. The motorist, who was driving up Salem avenue about 5 o'clock, just as a trolley car was coming down the street. As the car approached, the horse began to shy and in its fear started to back. The driver said he shouted and beckoned to the motorist to stop until he could control the horse, as he feared just what happened, that the horse would back the wagon on the tracks. The motorist insists that he couldn't stop sooner, owing to the fact that the horse was certain—there was a collision and a right smart one. The car, or the fender of the car, bumped the rear wheels of the wagon, while the vehicle was half way across the tracks. The wagon was fairly plucked up and cast aside, landing in its side. The driver was mixed up in the scatter of things, but luckily he escaped without any injuries, save a shaking up, and a good-sized scare. The horse was stopped from making away, and the wagon was slightly damaged. The street was well peopled at the time, and there was a heap of excitement and confusion until the horse and wagon were righted.

NEW THEORY ON Cause of Hay Fever.

Hay fever is not so much a result of climatic conditions as it is a disease of the "weak spot" in the general condition of the body. If a hay fever sufferer has a cold, it is a prime condition of health by the use of well selected food the chances are the hay fever will not appear again.

As an illustration, lady B. Cave Spring, Va. explains how the change of food affected her. "This past summer I found myself in a very low state of health. I was very nervous and I got down to 95 pounds, and was worried, especially as I had to look forward to my annual tussle with hay fever in September and fall. It would push me down further and further. One day a friend told me she had been using Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food and that she felt like a new person. With greatly increased strength and health I bought a box of Grape-Nuts and began the use of Grape-Nuts. The effect was really magical. In a week I felt strong and in a month began to gain flesh and strength. By September my weight had increased to 110 pounds and much to my amazement I discovered that when the hay fever sufferers began to complain I had not one symptom and escaped altogether. Inasmuch as I had suffered for years from this miserable disease and had made no other progress in my recovery, I naturally concluded that the improved condition was caused by the daily use of Grape-Nuts and by observing the usual laws of health. Grape-Nuts can be given by Postum Co., Little Creek, Mich."

SEQUEL TO SENSATIONAL MARRIAGE

Mrs. Phoebe Lestander of This City Sent to Jail on Charge of Living in Adultery with Elias Crandall. Took $275 of Crandall's Money. Says She Married Crandall Because Her Husband Was Unkind to Her.

There was a somewhat startling sequel yesterday to the sensational marriage in Forest City last week, when Mrs. Phoebe Lestander was committed to the county jail, in default of $500 bail, by Alderman Atkinson, on a charge of living in adultery with Elias Crandall, the young man whom she duped, Constable Michael Moran is the prosecutor in the case.

Mrs. Lestander was arrested yesterday morning in Scranton by Constable Moran. She and Crandall were living at 846 Capouse avenue, at the home of Mrs. Fred Moon, the sister of Mrs. Lestander. When the constable reached the place, the adventures, suspecting his coming, sought to hide under the bed. When escape was impossible, she prepared to accompany the constable, and reached this city at 2:08, her pseudo-husband, Crandall, accompanying her as a witness against her in the serious charge which faces her.

The hearing took place soon after in Alderman Atkinson's office, a crowd assembling there that filled the office. When Crandall was sworn it was elicited that he knew nothing of his having been duped, and that the false standing of his wife in a daily newspaper. This was a few days ago. He at once demanded an explanation, which came with a frank admission on her part that she was Mrs. Lestander, and that her husband was living in Carbondale. Crandall said as his money was gone, the woman who deceived him having gotten it all, he decided to make the best of a bad job and remain with her until he saw some chance of bettering himself.

Other interesting information that he gave was that he spent $100 on Mrs. Lestander for clothing, in order that she might get married, her raiment being dented until the year of the strike. Besides this, he gave her $175, some of which went to the purchase of household furniture, which was in the rooms on Capouse avenue, Scranton.

Mrs. Lestander, who was splendidly dressed, told Crandall's money had been spent by her to the best advantage to meet her tastes, was inclined to be pouty, but finally she admitted all that was charged against her and declared that she went through the marriage with Crandall's money because she was ill-treated by her husband and wanted somebody to take his place who would support her. She rebelled at the suggestion that she would have to go to jail, but later she was resigned when she had no security to offer. She was taken to the county jail on the 320 Delaware and Hudson train.

ROMANCE OF MISS FONTAINEBLEAU

The Star of the Schiller Stock Company to Wed Her Manager, Edward Schiller—An Interesting Love Tale—Other Gossips About the Company.

Those of The Tribune's readers who attended the plays of the Schiller Stock company, at the Grand this week, will, perhaps, recall reading in the local columns of this paper, some time ago, the romance of Manager Edward Schiller, of the company, and his star, Miss Ella Fontainebleau. This week they saw and enjoyed one of the principals of the interesting love-tale recited in The Tribune at the time. It was Miss Fontainebleau, the graceful heroine of the plays, whose deeply dark brunette complexion suggests her home in the revived Isle of Cuba, where the star of freedom has begun to shed its light of hope and relief. Mr. Schiller, the other character in the romantic tale, is not in the city this week, being temporarily with the other company, of which he is owner.

The interesting history of the events that led up to the engagement of Miss Fontainebleau to Mr. Schiller is told as follows: When Mr. Schiller organized his company in New York he selected Miss Fontainebleau as head-actress. She had been living in Cuba and there and in Spain. From the very first she could talk around to shake a chubby little fist or point at her nose, not one of her friends or admirers ever doubted that some day she would become a great actress. An so brightly did she promise to shine as a star in the little organization that the manager went down deeply into his pocket and drew out a check for $100,000, which he gave her to go to Cuba and get ready to start on her tour.

SEWER FLOODS HOTEL. Considerable Loss and Damage Sustained by Landlord Williams, of American House.

For several weeks the basement of the American house has been filling with water which appeared to come from the street, and which has necessitated the almost constant use of a pump to keep it down in the cellar. Several times the water flowed in from the street, and it was pumped out, and numerous times the fire in the furnace was extinguished by the rising water. The consequence of the fire going out was shown in guests leaving the hotel by reason of the odorous atmosphere. Quite a loss was felt by Mr. Williams from this source alone, while there was a world of inconveniences and annoyances to put up with. Until yesterday it was supposed the water was coming from the street, but the cellar of the new building that is being put up next door. But during the day, with the odor of sewer gas, was noticed, and the belief was aroused that the water came from a break in the sewer pipe of the hotel.

A NEW DISCOVERY

MADE BY A MAN IN ALLEGHENY, PENNSYLVANIA. George C. Eldridge Finds Something Which Many Consider to be Better Than Gold—His Statement.

There is much talk in the town of Allegheny, Pa., over the discovery made by Mr. George C. Eldridge of that place. After a long search he has found something better than gold. In a recent interview he says: "Yes, I have made what I consider to be an important discovery. To tell you about it I must start at the beginning. "This was a number of years ago," he continued. "The nature of my work forced me to be very irregular with my meals and that, together with a general misuse of my stomach, brought on nervous dyspepsia. My trouble commenced with bloating, constipation and this was accompanied with pain in the back and stomach. I suffered with shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness and an absolute miserable feeling at all times. About three years ago I had an attack which confined me to my bed for three weeks and times without number after that I was obliged to give up. My kidneys also became affected and caused me considerable trouble. "Four different doctors attempted to cure me but they gave me only temporary relief. I became utterly discouraged. Then I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Relief came in ten days and at the end of four months I was entirely well. "I can only say that I believe I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and can find no words to express my thanks for what they have done for me. Better soon, but I can't praise them enough. Everybody who knows me remarks the wonderful change. I can eat anything now, sleep like a child and do my work with ease. I do not need medicine any more although I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People on hand."

Mr. Eldridge lives at No. 255 Carroll street, and is but one of thousands who always speak of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the highest terms of praise. Several of his friends, who are well known for they have used it. It acts directly on the blood and nerves. This makes these pills invaluable not only for stomach trouble but also for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion and all forms of weakness either in male or female. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box, or six boxes for two dollars and fifty cents in advance. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk or by the hundred; by addressing Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Be sure to get the genuine; substitutes never cured anybody.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE.

When an officer in a public body can suit both sides of the house, irrespective of party affiliations, it is a safe proposition that man has more than ordinary ability to commend him to those whose votes obtain him in office.

Such is true of A. P. Loftus, the clerk of common council. Mr. Loftus has held the record for discharging his duties so efficiently that he has assured another term and without being opposed. A clerk in a legislative body can either be of untold assistance in expediting matters or he can be a right big stumbling block in the progress of legislation. If he is competent he can make a record for himself for so many details are left to him which he has a grasp he can marshal and dispose of to the city's advantage. In all these points, Mr. Loftus has been tried and not found wanting; on the contrary he has earned a reputation for method and despatch of which he may be well satisfied. What is true of his career in office is likewise true in his daily employment, for only a few days ago, Mr. Loftus was awarded with an advancement to the position of cashier in the Erie freight office in this city. Here was a recognition of merit, and no less important will be the one he will receive by being re-elected clerk of council for another term.

Henry T. Williams, the secretary of the Carbondale poor board is another example of the young man who plods along the road to success while others in the word of All Baba, pass life away by cheating the rag.

Mr. Williams comes in a broader view of the public life by his advancement a few days ago from the position of chief stenographer to Superintendent Manville, of the Delaware & Hudson street car line. Perhaps the necessity is greater in this body than in any other, but at any rate Mr. Williams seems to be the bureau of information usually the arbiter in cases where there is a clash and where a finer sense of determination is called for. Absolute reliance is placed on him, and to such an extent is his judgment sought and respected that it would be likely to turn the head of most young men. Not so with Mr. Williams, whose modesty and poise are most conspicuous in his make-up.

Mr. Dimock's recent efforts his sayings at the late banquet of the Carbondale Cycle club, were the best that have come from him in many months of bright talk. One of his happiest features is he never surfeits his hearers. One of the chief requisites for a successful after-dinner speaker is to know when to cease speaking; to be able to know when he has made an impression or a hit and then sit down. Mr. Dimock has this faculty and when he does sit down, he has given you just such a taste of his good things that you hunger for more and always welcome him at another time.

While Mr. Dimock usually speaks in a light vein, he is at the same time a profound reader of the classics and has a knowledge of Shakespeare that ranks him as a student of the world's greatest poet. His knowledge of Shakespeare is the foundation for whatever sort of superstructure he may choose to build.

WHAT YOUR MIRROR TELLS. It Will Tell a Different Story if You Will Use Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Your mirror will tell you the bitter truth. Healthy women look younger than their age, but you look far too old for your years. The hand of time dwells lightly with woman, but the wasting hand of disease spares neither her youthful looks, beauty, nor complexion. It is the vandal hand of disease which robs her of her beauty, yellows and muddies her complexion, lines her face, pales her cheeks and lips, dulls the brilliancy of her eye, which it disfigures with dark circles, aging her before her time.

Good health means youthful good looks to every woman; and it behooves women to restore and maintain their health by taking that greatest and best of all health restoratives, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will build up the health, cleanse and purify the complexion, restore brilliancy to the eye, make rich, red blood and strong, steady, and vigorous nerves. Dr. Greene's Nervura will make you every one of the young and restore your energies, vivacity, and enjoyment of life.

Especially should you take this remedy if you are afflicted with nervousness, indigestion, and invigorant store, for everybody needs a spring remedy, and this is the ideal spring medicine.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Berry, Hampton, N. H., one of the most skillful nurses in this country, says: "Through trouble and overwork," she writes, "I grew feeble, nervous, weak, dizzy, faint, and exhausted from nervous prostration. I was entirely helpless. Thanks to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, I am now so well and strong that every one who sees me is very much surprised. I would like to tell the whole world of women what Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy like to use the wonderful medicine. I run a nurse, and when nursing my sister I gave her this wonderful medicine. She says she has never felt better than since using it. I gave it also to a lady suffering from great nervous prostration, who could not help from three physicians. She is now well, strong, and healthy, and says she should have been in her grave if it had not been for Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I have recommended it to many others with the same wonderful success, and I would especially say that if women believe in the change that takes place, I bear this wonderful medicine named and blessed everywhere, and I am glad to add my testimony to its great value, and truly call it a savior of us women."

Women have absolute confidence in Dr. Greene's Nervura, more so than in any other remedy, because a famous regular physician prepares it, which is a guarantee that it is perfectly adapted to cure. As an additional assurance of cure, Dr. Greene, 101 Fifth Avenue, New York City, gives you the privilege of consulting him without charge, either by calling or writing about your case.
