Good Friday Services in the Churches

Largely Attended—Burglars Enter a Hotel.

Well attended services were held in nearly all the churches on this side yesterday morning, in observance of Good Friday. In the evening services were again held at St. Mary's German Catholic church, and at St. John's church on Pike street, which were largely attended.

Hotel Broken Into.
The saloon owned by Alonzo Hubbard, at 1228 South Washington avenue, was burglarized at an early hour yesterday morning, but the house breakers were scared off before they had a chance to ransack the place.

The burglars gained admittance to the barroom by prying open the transom and forcing back the lock. The noise they made woke Mr. Hubbard, and he proceeded to investigate. They heard him coming evidently, and hastily grabbed two bottles of whiskey, over the bar made off, and disappeared without leaving a clue. The many petty cases of thievery on this side recently, has created quite a stir among householders, and the hardware dealers are disposing of large quantities of firearms.
