told him they could not hold the ten Republicans in line for him. There-leaders waited on Mr. Vaughan and upon, Mr. Vaughan decided to go into onight's Democratic caucus. The Democratic situation also underwent a complete change. Prof. Costello withdrew and left Mr. McAndrew in the field alone. The Costello supporters will not have Mr. McAndrew, it is said, and can be expected to choose Mr. Vaughan as their candidate the moment he comes into the caucus. It is almost as good as certain that the fight in the Democratic caucus tonight will be between McAndrew and Vaughan. There is another movement afoot mong the Republicans to elect Mr. Oliver to the chair. It was rumored last night that the necessary one Democratic vote had been secured. Whether or not this is so will develop when noses are counted at tonight's Demoevatic caucus.

The Democrats of common council claim they have effected a combination with enough Republicans to insure the election of Mr. Calpin as chairman. To do this they had to sacrifice the clerkship and agree that the assistant city hool against L. A. Roberts to come clerk should be named as clerk of the common council. The Republicans, on the other hand, say that they have the and when court opened yesterday necessary twenty votes secure and that they will control the organization with- still at it in their room. been done in the county commissioners' office, John P. Mahon having been detailed to that work. It is probable that Mr. Mahon will be assigned to other work in the commissioners' office.

Mr. Neuls is one of the most popular young German Republicans in South Scranton and is a moulder by trade, For the four years preceding last February he was the school controller from the Eleventh ward and made a most enviable record for himself. He is a prominent member of the Scranton Athletic club, and for some years

JURY IN GILHOOL CASE COULD NOT AGREE.

After Being Out All Night the Jurors Decided Upon an Amount Gilhool Was Entitled to but Subsequently Could Not Make Up Their Minds as to Whether or Not It Included Interest-Dean-Winton Ejectment Suit Will Go to the Jury Today-Orphans' Court Matters.

Nothing could be done in the main court room Tuesday afternoon because of lack of jurors and the court waited patiently for the jury that was wrestling with the case of J. B. Gilinto court and report its findings. It did not come up to adjourning hour, still at it in their room. At 10 o'clock they came in with a verdict and Judge Kelly called their attention to the fact that they did not say the sum mentioned in the verdict included the amount of the claim and interest. He told them to decide or not the sum menwhether tioned included interest. They all agreed that it did except one, and again they had to go back to their room to reconcile their differences. Half an hour later they asked Judge Kelly to discharge them, saying they could not agree. He told them they had agreed once and he saw no reason why they could not do so again. An hour later they returned to the court room and said it was impossible for them to agree and he discharged them from further duty in connection with the case, which will have to be tried again. When this jury retired a second time. Judge Kelly decided that the business of the court could not be delayed any longer, and directed the sheriff to draw eight talesmen to complete the panel from which to select a jury to try the case of Martin Corrigan against Dr. John Stanton, Following were the talesmen drawn: Wallace Moser, J. J. Clark, Joseph Gray, Francis J. Hayes, D. M. Davis, John Tunstall, William

Kane and J. B. Gillespie, WINTON EJECTMENT SUIT. Practically all of the evidence in the ejectment suit of A. D. Dean, trustee, against B. M. Winton, executor, has been heard and the case will probably go to the jury this afternoon. Two witnesses are to be called this morning by the plaintiff in surrebuttal and the case will then be ready for the

The trespass sult of Joseph Mikulski, of Peckville, was next taken up before Judge Simonton. The plaintiff alleges that on June 5, 1900, he got on an outbound Providence car at Penn avenue

He gave the conductor five cents, he says, and asked as a high honor that he had been for a transfer, as North Main avenue named after him. was torn up at the time, preparatory to paving. The conductor refused him a transfer and when he declined to planation of the ins and outs of Wall give it Mikulski says he demanded the street life, revealing a wide knowledge five cents he paid as fare. HENRY HOUCK

TWO TALKS BY

The Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction Proved Himself as Popular as Ever-Dr. Winship Gave a Most Interesting Lecture on "Longfellow," and Spoke Knowingly on the General Subject of Finance-Miss Arnold Told of Child Life Influences.

Henry Houck, deputy state superinendent of public instruction and undoubtedly the most popular of all the institute speakers who have ever addressed institutes in this city, was the bright particular sing at the High chool auditorium yesterday.

Mr. Houck made two addresses, one at the morning session and one in the afternoop, and though he didn't do much except tell funny stories, and good stories, too, he brought in such a delightful atmosphere of cheeriness and good nature that work was made pleasanter because of his coming. Though Mr. Houck is an old man he is extremely popular with the lady teachers, and before each session he was surrounded by animated groups of oung women.

Perhaps the best lectures given yesterday were those of Dr. A. E. Winship, who spoke on "Longfellow" in the afternoon, and on "Commercial Arith-metic," in the morning. It could be easily seen that Dr. Winship is a devout worshipper at the shrine of the author of "Evangeline." He had a personal acquaintance with the dead poet and recounted several incidents dealing with his personal observation of Longfellow.

POET LONGFELLOW.

Dr. Winship urged his listeners to always refer to the poet as Henry Wads-worth Longfellow because of the brave and heroic exploit of his relative, Lieutenant Henry Wadsworth, who gave up his life for his country while serving in the navy, having volunteered to go upon a mission which he knew meant certain death to him. Longfellow himself, he said, always revered his dead relative's memory and considered

In his talk on "Commercial Arithmetic," Dr. Winship gave a practical exof financial matters,

Miss Sarah Arnold continued her lectures yesterday. In the morning she spoke on "Reading" and at the afternoon session she gave an informal talk physical condition since has been bad, on the influences outside of the school room which have a controlling effect upon the lives of the children.

She dwelt especially upon the influence of mother love and told of some of the good mothers, who have come under her personal observation and some of the other kind who are not altogether bad, but who do not do right by their children. She told of the mother who answers the questions of the child with a snappy answer and a request not to be bothered, and of the other mother who takes pains to answer every inquiry of the child with care and accuracy.
