SEVEN DAYS OF SELF-DENIAL

IT WILL OPEN ON SUNDAY, APRIL 6.

Members of the Salvation Army Throughout the World Are Expected to Join in This Special Service. John Spencer Hurt in the Brisbin Mine—Funeral of the Late John Astringer from St. John's German Catholic Church—Some of the First of April Removals.

The local corps of the Salvation army, which is commanded by Ensign and Mrs. A. W. Lentz, are making preparations for the observance of the annual self-denial week services, which begin April 6 and continue until April 13, inclusive.

All members of the army throughout the world are expected to join in this special week of self-denial, and the money saved is devoted to the general funds of the organization. Total abstinence from certain foodstuffs and customs is rigidly observed, and friends and sympathizers of the army are also requested to add their contributions.

During this week of self-denial, the members of the army make a special effort to feed the poor, clothe the naked, nurse the sick, reclaim the fallen, house the homeless, and in every way live out their religion. Special prayer will be continuously offered for the salvation of the lost, and the members will abstain themselves of part of their daily fare, and absolutely cut off all creature comforts, handing over the money thus saved to the general fund of the army.

The members of the different churches and all other interested in religious work are asked to contribute to the self-denial fund, and the members of the army will make a canvass for contributions and donations.

Tomorrow, Sunday and Monday evenings, Captain John Lyons, an old officer of the Salvation army, will lead the special meetings at the hall, 1620 Price street. He is well-known in this city, and will be glad to welcome his many friends. Special meetings will be held every evening next week.

Harry Miner, theatrical manager, etc. His wages were $15 a week, without prospects. An opening appeared in the New York office of the Carnegie company, and after much hesitation Ollie left Miner. When the Carnegie company was absorbed by the Steel corporation and Mr. Schwab became the active head of the trust he retained Ollie as his clerical assistant. Not long after things got settled down the man who did not break the bank at Monte Carlo said: "Ollie, do you speculate?" "I do not," replied Wren. "That's right; I'm glad you do not," Schwab went on. "You will find many opportunities in this business to speculate, but let that game alone and I'll take care of you. Attend faithfully to your duties and I will make you a rich man."

Oliver Wren's first year with Mr. Schwab brought him $10,000.

STICKING TO SCHWAB.

In the corridor of 71 Broadway, writes Victor Smith in the New York Press, some one pointed out a handsome young man as the confidential secretary of Mr. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation. I recognized Ollie Wren. He cannot be over 28. Ten years ago he was a typewriter and private secretary to his uncle.
