CONSERVATORY RECITAL.

Programme Rendered in Guernsey Hall Last Night. The forty-second recital of the Conservatory of Music was given by students last evening in Guernsey hall, to a full house. The programme began with two ensemble selections, played by a class of eight young ladies at four pianos, with excellent effect.

Special mention is due to the playing of Clara Haas, who may with all truthfulness be termed a "wonder-child." She played the last movement of Mozart's pianoforte concerto in G, with the orchestral accompaniment arranged for second piano, played by Mr. Pennington. This is a difficult work, yet she played it without a trace of nervousness, and with such charming effect as to fairly astonish the audience and provoke it to continued applause.

OF the older students, Miss Lillian Krauter, of Tobyhanna, played three selections with much poetical expression; Miss Nellie Schlager, of Scranton, gave a brilliant rendition of the Valse in E flat, by Durand. The most difficult solo numbers, the "Chopin" and the "Tarentelle" in A minor by Thome, were played by Miss Hildegard Conrad, of West Pittston. Miss Conrad is an advanced player, and although somewhat nervous, acquitted herself with great credit.

An exhibition of the results of a few months' study under the Faellen system of fundamental training was given by Melvin Corbett, Katie Graf, Curtis Larkin, Ethel Yost, Mary Bisbing, Thurlow Brown, Florence Kelly, Edward Kelly and Pearl Podolski. The recital was brought to a brilliant close by the playing of the allegro from Moscheles' "Homage to Handel" by Miss Browning, Miss French, Miss Wagenhurst, members of the faculty, assisted by Miss Bone.

MUST BE AMENDED.

Discovery That the Bond Ordinance Makes No Provision for the Payment of State Tax.

Mark K. Edgar, Recorder-Cornell's private secretary, was looking over the ordinance providing for the issue of $285,000 worth of city bonds on Wednesday, when he discovered that there was no provision for the payment by the city of the state tax on the bonds.

It is believed that should prospective bidders become aware of this omission in the ordinance, it would be impossible to secure even par bids, and there is a statute which prohibits any municipality from selling its bonds at less than par.

It was accordingly decided to prepare an ordinance amending the original bond ordinance, and this was done, the ordinance being approved by City Solicitor Watson. The state tax on the issue amounts to four mills on the dollar, or about $1,140, all told. An ordinance amending the bond ordinance so as to provide for the payment of the state tax was introduced in common council last night.

HE STOLE DYNAMITE.

John Tuffey, of Irving Avenue, Committed to the County Jail.

John Tuffey, a 22-year-old young man, residing on Irving avenue, was arrested early yesterday morning at his home by Detective Deiter, on the charge of burglarizing a storehouse of the West-End dynamite company, located near the old rail mill of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company.

The storehouse was broken into last Sunday night and some nineteen sticks of dynamite and ninety-five explosive caps were taken. The stuff was sold to certain parties for considerably less than its real value, and in this way the police fastened the guilt on Tuffey. The latter tried to conceal himself when Detective Deiter went to his house, but he didn't succeed.

He was arraigned before Magistrate Miller, and offered no defense except a general denial. He was committed to the county jail in default of $500 bail.

ORGAN RECITAL.

An organ recital will be given in Elm Park church on Tuesday evening next, April 15, by Mr. J. Alfred Pennington, assisted by Mrs. Lenore Thompson, contralto. Admission, silver offering.

PLEAD GUILTY TO SCALPING

ADOLPH BLAU HAD NO DEFENSE TO OFFER.

Had Six Lawyers Representing Him, but They Were Up Against a Recent Flat-Footed Decision of the Supreme Court and Could Do Nothing More Than Ask for Leniency—Jury Still Out in the Lotie Smith Case—Number of Important Cases Put Over.

Adolph Blau, proprietor of the Continental Loan and Ticket agency, 205 Lackawanna avenue, pleaded guilty, before Judge Kelly yesterday, of the charge of illegal selling of railroad tickets, preferred by Mark L. Smith, district passenger agent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company. He was fined $25 and costs.

Blau was warned by Mr. Smith to desist from ticket scalping and did so. Then came the Buffalo decision against the Lackawanna company in equity proceedings brought to restrain ticket scalping, and Blau seized upon it as an excuse to reopen business. Mr. Smith again warned him that he was engaged in an illegal business and that he would be prosecuted if he did not give it up. He did not heed the warning and was arrested.

He engaged O'Brien & Martin, Rice & Donnelly, George S. Horn and John F. Murphy to defend him, but they looked about in vain for a line of defense, and finally advised him to plead guilty. It was explained to the court that Blau was honestly mistaken in his belief that the Buffalo decision, which was in the "Critic" States court, gave him the right to do a scalping business. Major Warren, counsel for the company, did not oppose the extension of leniency, and Judge Kelly decided not to impose a severe penalty.

In passing sentence, the judge told Blau that the law in Pennsylvania on ticket scalping is clear and distinct, and positively makes it a scalping offense. The nominal fine of $25, the judge stated, was not to be construed as a precedent for dealing with future cases of the kind. He would not be inclined to such extreme leniency, he said, with the next person convicted before him of this crime.

The Buffalo decision did not decide anything as to the merits of the case at bar. The court decided against the company on the ground that it was violating interstate commerce law in its trunk line ticket arrangement, and that it was, therefore, forbidden a standing in equity court, under the maxim that "he who seeks equity must do equity." The question as to the legality of ticket scalping was not passed upon at all. Three months ago, the Pennsylvania Supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the law against ticket scalping, in an appeal from Pittsburg.

The jury in the case of the commonwealth against Lotie Smith, charged with keeping a house of ill-fame, went out yesterday morning and had not agreed at adjourning time. Onifer Mienarski, of Old Forge, was found guilty of assault and battery on Storekeeper Joseph Sommers. The offense was committed February 15, when Sommers went to the defendant's house to collect a bill.

A verdict of guilty was returned in the case in which Matthew and Anthony Strokos, of Olyphant, were charged with assault and battery on Joseph Keote. In the case in which Farmer H. S. Parks, of South Abington, charged his neighbor, Carpenter Alfred Rossiter, with assault and battery, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and directed that the defendant pay two-thirds and the prosecutor one-third of the costs.

Patrick Harris pleaded guilty to poisoning a constable, Patrolman Finley Ross, and was given thirty days in the county jail. Frank Novack was acquitted of the charge of forcible entry and detainer and the cases were placed on the prosecutor, Joseph Pava. Continuances were directed in the following cases: S. E. Wayland, obstructing justice; Robert Wilson, prosecutor; Simon Thomas, bribery; Robert Wilson, prosecutor; Arch Danlop, adultery; John Hawk, prosecutor; Matthew Puff and Thomas Gilboy, selling liquor illegally; Joseph Gardner, prosecutor; Ian Romanoski, attempt at rape; Joseph Warrinski, prosecutor; Joseph Hotchkiss, malicious mischief and assault and battery; D. W. Richards, prosecutor; Michael Sizer, larceny and receiving; Frank Robling, larceny, prosecutor; Patrick McNulty, felonious wounding; James T. McAndrew, prosecutor; James Kearney, embezzlement; H. H. Dever, prosecutor; Rachel Williams, riot; Stephen Dyer, prosecutor; Arthur Morris, felonious wounding; Harry Newman, prosecutor.

Bail was forfeited in the cases in which Dominick Reilly and L. J. Peisner were defendants.

Rule for New Trial. Judge Simonon, of Dauphin county, before whom the case of W. F. Smyth against J. E. Williams and others was tried last week, has granted a rule to show cause why a new trial should not be granted. He has ordered that the testimony of the trial and the charge of the matter be transcribed for use when the matter comes up in argument court.

The verdict of the jury before whom the case was tried last week was for the defendant.

LIZZIE WAS DEFIANT.

Seventeen-Year-Old Girl Found in a Disorderly House, Refused to Go Home with Her Sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dolan, of Jersey, walked into the Centre street station house about 8 o'clock last night and told Acting Sergeant Goepfert that they wanted his assistance in getting 17-year-old Lizzie Hennessy out of Daisy Miller's disorderly house, a few doors away.

Mrs. Dolan said the girl was her sister and that she had been away from Jersey since last Friday. Lieutenant of Police Feeney was sent for and the girl, accompanied by her father, Patrolman Karlus and Mr. Dolan, they found her in the house in an upstairs room, clad in scant attire.

She was taken to the station house and stepped jauntily up to her sister, with a bold, insolent air and the look of a hardened rouser on her face. She was chewing a piece of gum when she came in, and she kept on chewing it for a full minute before she deigned to talk.

"Well, what do you want with me, anyway," she said at last. "It's none of your business where I go, is it?" Mrs. Dolan looked helplessly around for a minute, and then turned pleadingly to her sister.

"Won't you come home, Lizzie," she said. "Why did you go to that place? Why did you go? Won't you come back to Jersey and live with us?" There was a fine defiance in Lizzie's bearing while her sister was talking, and she shrugged her shoulders insolently when she had finished.

"No, I won't go back," she said. "I wouldn't live with you if you paid me to. The last woman I worked for wouldn't have me because my brother's in the penitentiary, and I went to where else. I couldn't get any work, and I had to go somewhere. I won't live with you, though."

"Well, you'll have to go to jail or some institution if you don't come with us," said Mrs. Dolan. "Come, Lizzie, be sensible, and come back with us, please do."

"I told you I won't, and I won't," retorted Lizzie. The next moment she was in a cell and Mr. and Mrs. Dolan were on their way to the Delaware and Hudson station.

The girl is a half-sister of John Kinney, who is serving a nineteen year's sentence in the Eastern penitentiary for the murder of his wife in Carbonate, some three years and a half ago. She claims to have been led into the Miller woman's house on Wednesday night by an older girl.

GREEK PRIEST IS ENJOINED

ORDERED TO VACATE THE CHURCH PROPERTY.

Judge Kelly Grants an Injunction Against Rev. John Armand, Former Pastor of the Olyphant Greek Catholic Church, Who Was Excommunicated by Bishop Hoban for Unpatriotic Utterances in Connection with the Assassination of President McKinley.

Rev. John Armand, the Greek Catholic priest of Olyphant, who was excommunicated by Bishop Hoban for unpatriotic utterances regarding the assassination of President McKinley, was yesterday ordered by Judge John P. Kelly to surrender possession of the Greek Catholic church property, which he has been adversely holding since Feb. 22 last.

The Greek Catholic churches of this region having no episcopacy of their own elected to place themselves under the jurisdiction of the Roman Catholic bishops, and the Greek Catholics of Olyphant, with others of their faith hereabouts, placed themselves under the jurisdiction of Bishop Hoban. When Rev. John Armand was called to the Olyphant church, he applied for and secured facilities from Bishop Hoban.

Besides attending to his pastoral duties the Greek priest edited a paper called "Svoboda." Its editorials were of a rather extreme socialistic trend, and some of them closely approached the anarchist. When President McKinley was assassinated the "Svoboda" contained an editorial which sought to extenuate the crime. Bishop Hoban's attention was called to it and he summoned the writer to come before him. Just what took place is not disclosed, but the action of the bishop, whatever it was, resulted in Rev. Armand declaring against the bishop's authority. On Feb. 22, after the usual forms had been gone through with Bishop Hoban ex-communicated him, and sent another Greek priest to take charge of the pastorate.

Rev. Armand refused to give up possession of the church property, and proceeded to establish a new church of a political-religious character. Those of the congregation who would not subscribe to the new faith were refused admittance to the church, and recently, one of the old parishioners was prohibited from burying his child in the church cemetery.

Yesterday, the members of the old congregation, through a committee consisting of George Simiawa, Samuel Rusen, Joseph Pechina, Alex Tomaskovich, Harry Blomayr, Simon Hamaruk and Paul Polka, went into equity court, by Attorneys O'Brien & Martin, and reciting the facts set forth above, asked for an injunction restraining Rev. Armand from holding services in the church, and compelling him to surrender the keys of the church and pastorate to the pastor.

Judge Kelly granted a preliminary injunction as prayed for with a rule, returnable April 16, to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

BASE BALL NOTES.

The players of all report here April 17, and a series of practice games will take place until the opening of the season. Work on the grounds is being pushed along as fast as the weather will permit and by Saturday night it is expected the improvements will be completed.

It is Manager Lawson's intention to give a thorough trial to several local players during practice games and if any of them are found strong enough they will be signed. The local men to be given a trial are Ferris, outfielder, and Frank, catcher, of the South Side; McLaugh, short-stop, of Minooka; Taylor, pitcher, of Taylor, and Cleary, short-stop, of Olyphant.

The signed contract of George Willis, the clever young left-handed pitcher from Syracuse, N. Y., and a brother of Pitcher White, of the Philadelphia club, was received by Manager Lawson yesterday and one more player has been added to the Scranton club's roster. This makes nine pitchers signed to date, McCarty, McGarry and White, with two more twirlers yet to hear from.
