Sister Maurice was blessed with the talent of music, which she developed to a high degree by the zeal and application which her health permitted. She possessed a voice of rare sweetness of expression, and after entering upon her mission taught both vocal and instrumental music. Her mission work was mostly in Olyphant and Williamsport. She pursued the work of instruction at the latter place until not a great while before coming to Carbondale, not we months ago.

of her final vows on July 26, 1898

Sister Maurice's zeal and devotion exerted an influence among the Sisters that will survive. She entered the convent when just leaving girlhood, consecrating herself to the Master when the light of her young life was beginning to glow. Her spirit was kind and gentle and her charity remembered first among her qualities of soul. Though her illness lingered and she suffered physically, her patience was sublime and a beautiful example for the loving Sisters about her. She passed away anid the soulful prayers of her Sisters in religion and a legion of friends.

Reception Given the Count and Baron Magri by Their Countrymen, the Pugliano Brothers-An Enjoyable

The count and the baron are both natives of Italy, as are the Messrs. It was intended to have the exchange of greetings and the commingling in asocial way on Friday night, but neither of the midgets feit so disposed after their work of the evening. As the little men were to leave today for Sunbury, the reception was decided upon for yesterday. The gathering took place in the splendid new home of the Pugliano brothers on Dundaff street, the assembly hall on to the occasion. It was more after the manner of a family reunion, and there were those little touches that happily mark such gatherings, but which are regrettably absent at a more formal assembly. The hospitality which the few guests who were privileged to be present, was open and warm-hearted, which is characteristic of the Puglianos, when acting as hosts in any capacity. Interof course, centered in the count and the baron and the count's happy little spouse, who was likewise present, with a true appreciation of the spirit of enjoyment that prevailed. Partially Paralyzed by Stroke of Apoplexy-Result Cannot Be Fore-

Alvah Daley, one of Carbondale's best known citizens, was stricken yesterday norning with apoplexy. One-half of his body, the left side, is paralyzed. While he is conscious and has the power of speech, he cannot articulate well, owing o one-half of the tongue being affected by the paralysis. What the result of the attack may be, cannot be told in such cases for a few days.

Mr. Daley was found in his paralyzed condition in a chair in his home, on Washington street, about noon yesterday. He was apparently well in the morning. He dressed with the intention of going out. This was when the family was leaving the house for church services. Though it was supposed Mr. Daley would follow, he must not have left the house, for when Miss Daley, his daughter, returned she was dismayed with fear at observing her father in the chair, with a blank expression on his face. Physicians were summoned, who discovered that Mr Daley had burst a blood vessel on the left side of the head, which caused a paralysis of that side of the body. As mentioned before, there is no telling how these attacks will end. However, last night he was no worse, which was regarded as somewhat hopeful. Mr. Daley is one of the town's wellknown citizens. Recently he has been somewhat retired in his pursuits, but some years ago he was a popular Delaware and Hudson passenger conductor. His friends hope for a favorable and

MRS. EDWARDS' DEATH.

Unfortunate Woman's Tragic End by Falling from O. & W. Trestle. Fractured Skull, Cause of Death.

The last chapter in the unfortunate life of Mrs. Margaret Edwards, of the West Side, was ended early Saturday morning, by her falling from the trestle of the Ontario and Western onto the City; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Guard and Delaware and Hudson tracks, just below the Carbondale Machine company's plant.

Though Mrs. Edwards' left arm was cut off and the right hand had been badly crushed, these followed her death. it is believed, as the autopsy by Coroner Saltry revealed a fracture of the skull, which was the cause of death. Mrs. Edwards was found beside the ralls about 5 o'clock Saturday morning. The body was discovered by the engineer of Conductor John Maze's train as it pulled out of the yard on its south-bound trip. It is supposed that Mrs. Edward fell from the trestle while returning to her home on the West Side. She was at home all evening and her unmarried daughter urged her to go to The daughter bed about 11 o'clock. went to her room and to bed, supposing her mother followed. She didn't, however, but went out, stopping at a house for a drink on her way to town. It is supposed that it was on the return rip she took to the trestle, which is a shorter route home. In trying to get out of the way of a train that was coming across the trestle, it is supposed, she either fell, or, in her excitement, jumped to her death seventy-flye feet below. Falling partly across the tracks, her limbs were cut and crushed by a Delaware and Hudson train.

Coroner Saltry and County Detective Phillips made an investigation Satur day evening. The coroner's examina tion revealed a fracture of the skull, which caused death. The jury decided that the woman's death was accidental The jurors were J. Norman Gelder, Thomas V. Nealon, Edward J. Neary, William A. Phillips, E. J. McHale and Michael Moran.

Mrs. Edwards lived with her family n destitute surroundings on Scott street, and was given largely to dissipation. She was a native of Wales, but lived here for a long time. She was 50 years old. Her husband, William Edwards; two sons, Henry and Thomas, and two daughters, Elizabeth Ann and Mary Jane, survive her. The latter

CARS TO FOREST CITY.

Line Opened on Saturday Afternoon. The Regular Schedule. The trolley line to Forest City is now open to traffic. The cars were run through for the first time on Saturday afternoon. This was somewhat sooner than was expected, the officials not calculating on opening the line before the middle of the week.

The opening of this line is to the merchants of Carbondale the most gratifying feature of the resumption of street car traffic. The villages between here and Forest City contribute largely to the trade of Carbondale, and the loss has been sorely felt for the past six months. This is an element that has been lacking to quicken spring trade, which is now expected to boom.

A REMARKABLE INCREASE

Fruits of Late Mission Shown in St. Rose Blessed Virgin's Sodality.

Since the recent mission at St. Rose church, there has been a remarkable revival of interest and zeal in the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Yesterday there was enrollment of members, which brought the number of candidates received since the close of the mission to 225. This is a most gratifying result and it speaks eloquently of the fruits of the labors of the missionary fathers, as it was their efforts which stirred up the interest and devotion of the younger people who make up the sodality.

A story that is being discussed among allroad men is the shifting of the Erie railroad's centre of activity on the Jefferson branch from Susquehanna to Carbondale. While it could not be officially confirmed yesterday, yet it was discussed as an early certainty that the runs of the crews that now end at Susquehanna will be shifted to this city; all of the trains to be made up and moved from Carbondale. This is the proposed change expressed in a general way. The details of the plan, how many men it would bring to Carbondale, and the reason for the change could not be asertained yesterday. A Happening That Will Be Recalled by Old Carbondale Residents.

A happening that old-timers in Carbondale will recall, perhaps, was that forty-three years ago Saturday last, April 12, fire broke out in the office of the late Alfred Darte, burning the Harrison hotel and several stores and buildings on the west side of Main street, between Salem and the parade ground, which is now Memorial park.

This was one of the most disastrous fires in the early history of Carbondale, for it wiped out almost the whole bustness section. The happening impressed itself vividly on the inhabitants and many a pioneer of Carbondale discusses it now and then, when brought up by some incident or reference.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

John Cahaney, a well known young man of Jermyn, died at his home on South Second street on Saturday night. after a severe illness of several months' duration of Bright's disease. The deceased, who was 30 years of age, was born in County Sligo, Ireland, and when 8 years of age, came with his parents to this borough, where he has since resided. He was a young man, whose exemplary life had won for him a host of friends and who stood high in the esteem of the people of the vicnity. For the past two years he has been an agent of the Prudential Insurance company, and fifteen months ago was appointed a member of the porough council, to fill an unexpired term. He filled the office so acceptably that the voters of the ward elected him again at the last election for three years. Deceased is survived by his parents and three sisters: Mrs. James Edmunds, Miss Bridget Cahaney and Mrs. Patrick McNealy, of Olyphant. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning. "CRIME" AMONG ANIMALS. Evil Deeds and Propensities Among Brutes Corresponding to Those

Facts show beyond question that in the animal kingdom there are many curious equivalents of crime appong men. Cannibalism is not unknown in the animal world. Wolf eats wolf, and n certain circumstances, and despite dog. Well-neurished dogs are not often guilty of this savage custom, though it has been observed where necessity did not impel; but Arctic travelers have frequently fed their famished Esquimo team on the carcases of brethren that died from effects of cold or hunger, and under such conditions mothers have devoured their pupples with no hesitation or lack of Domestic cats have killed and eaten their young, and rabbits have been known to feed on one another even when plentifully supplied with ood to their liking. The rat is nearly always a cannibal under stress of circumstances. The cannibalistic propensities of the pike need very little stimulus. Young crocodiles are occasionally gobbled by their parents, or at least by their mothers. Warrior ants devour in a fury the ants they have killed in

A certain famous case in the reptile nouse at the Zoological Gardens was evidently not one of genuine cannibalism, but serpents have been guilty of the act. Infanticide, parricide, matricide, and fratricide are aggravating circumstances of cannibalism in the animal world. There are crimes known to our calendar of which the only or the chief motive appears to be the inveterate dislike of one individual (the assailant) for another (the assaulted), and these strange antipathles exist in the animal world, and are the cause of assault and battery and often of the death of both parties. Horses, dogs, and monkeys furnish, many examples of violence proceeding from antipathy rage which impel the Malay to run amuck through his native High street, seize at times upon the gentlest of animals, and the results are much the same as in the Malay Peninsula, un-his drivers until they are compelled to fly before his rage or to strip off and throw him their garments that he may tear and trample them to pieces. Every one knows to what a pass the docile elephant will carry his desire for revenge when his dignity has been badly insulted or his good nature abused. More curious it is to note that, among animals as among men, some of the worst offenses that can be committed have their origin in the passion of love. Jealousy burns flercely proverbs to the contrary, dog will eat brute's bosom, and when affected with the "universal distemper of love" the whole animal creation, from the tiger to the dove, is capable of any excesses against its disturbers, whether of its own or the human kind. Association for deliberate purposes of wrong-doing is not rare among animals, both of the higher and the lesser order of intelligence. Other animals steal in bands, Baboons go out in troops to rob orchards difficult of access. Conditions of climate and change of atmosphere have their influence upon the temperaments of animals. Speaking generally, wild creatures inhabiting very hot ountries are more savage than those inhabitating cold or temperate climes.

Beard 10 Feet 10 1-2 Inches-Mustache a Yard and a Half Long. rom the Chicago Record-Herald.

Jean Coulon needs a shave more bady than any other living man. If his strength lay in the length of his hair, this Frenchman would be a very Hercules. His beard measures 10 feet 101/2 inches in length, while his mustache is over a yard and a half long. Of course he has taken his time to cultivate these amazing adornments, as you may gather from the fact that he is 76 years of age. He is very proud of them and this is perhaps one reason among many why he does not permit the vulgar to gaze on his grandeur every day of the week. The inhabitants of Montucon, in the department of Allier, where Coulon resides, are very proud of him, and by way of acknowledging helv appreciation, the man with the mlimited beard exhibits his luxurious growth to all and sundry who care to come and see him any Sunday. Inleed; it may be said that for him the Sabbath is scarcely a day of rest, for madness can be caught or slain. Dif- when not on view he is carefully dressing his amazing appendage and musverbial for their patience, which may tache. During the week he rolls his beard in a sort of bag, so that he may The dromedary, ordinarily a model of be able to go about his occupation the
