

BIG CASES ARE ALL PUT OVER

NO IMPORTANT TRIALS ON THIS WEEK'S LIST.

Continuances Granted in Practically Every Case That Was at All Out of the Ordinary—Three Pleas of Guilty Entered—Petersburg Man Convicted of Striking His Wife on the Head with a Chair—Lineman Wants Damages—Mountford Case Settled—Other Court Matters.

Continuances, pleas of guilty, and absence of defendants left the first day of the second week of the April quarter sessions with only three cases open for trial.

Louis Ace, a 17-year-old boy, who has a mania for gambling and who is without relatives and friends, wanted to be sent to a reformatory, that he might be kept away from temptation. He pleaded guilty to a charge of gambling, preferred by Superintendent of Police Day, and Judge Newcomb committed him to Huntington reformatory.

Edward Ingham, of Blumentown, pleaded guilty to the theft of wearing apparel from B. A. Wycoff and E. A. Scott, fellow-boarders in Scranton boarding houses. He will be sentenced later.

Miles Finch pleaded guilty of stealing out, feed and the like from the barn of John N. Lillibridge, at Peckville, Charles Kestler and Chester Dennis will be tried for the same offense tomorrow. The trio, it is alleged, went about and took orders for feed and oats among their neighbors, and filled whatever orders they secured by making midnight drafts on the bins of the Lillibridge barn.

A nol pros. was entered, at the request of the prosecutor, in the case in which Z. P. Travis, an aged man, of Peckville, was charged with an attempted unnatural assault on the 6-year-old son of Edward C. Anderson.

Fred Schlack, of Petersburg, was convicted of striking his wife on the head with a chair. He admitted that he might have done it while crazy drunk, but remembers nothing of it. Judge Edwards fined him $10 and costs. He had been in jail two months.

Andrew Krasinski and Julius Sheminski were tried before Judge Edwards for aggravated assault and battery on Andrew Gobin, of Piceburg. No verdict had been reached at adjourning time.

Capitases were issued for Tedziano Martino, of Old Forge, charged with bigamy, and Michael and John Farrence, charged with aggravated assault and battery.

Cases continued were: Sylvester F. Cosgrove, Frank Kofchinski and Frank Kinsley, murder; W. W. Scranton, libel; F. H. Upton, embezzlement; George R. Stanton, embezzlement by tax collector; J. W. Guernsey, M. T. Keller and Charles W. Bennett, disseminating witnesses; Anthony Dunleavy, perjury; William Gaul, tipping house. These constituted practically all the important cases on the week's list.

Judge George S. Purdy, of Honesdale, will assist in quarter sessions the remainder of the week.

Archibald Borough Is Sued. By his attorney, C. A. Battenberg, Conrad Vernau, of Archibald, yesterday instituted a $1,000 damage suit against the borough of Archibald.

He claims that the street on which his property abuts is not kept in proper repair, and that as a consequence of this the gutters became blocked and caused surface water to overflow his land, filling his well and cellar and destroying a large quantity of provisions.

Lineman Wants Damages. Simon Maguire, a Central Pennsylvania Telephone company lineman, who was injured by falling from the top of a 60-foot pole at Piceburg, last October, brought suit yesterday against the company to recover $5,000 damages for personal injuries.

He alleges that the pole was not securely set in the ground, and that when he reached the top of it, his weight caused it to fall, throwing him to the ground. His foot was permanently injured.

I. H. Burns and Frank T. Okell are the plaintiff's attorneys.

Mountford Case Settled. The case of Mrs. Alfred Mountford, of Piceburg, against the Delaware and Hudson company was, yesterday, discontinued, a settlement having been effected out of court.

Mrs. Mountford was injured Dec. 31, 1901, at the Green Ridge depot by a passenger train running into an open switch. She sued for $10,000 damages. Joseph O'Brien and J. Elliott Ross were the plaintiff's attorneys.

Marriage Licenses. Kasper Lipieniski, Scranton; Mary A. Fyatak, Scranton; Asid Bitros, Scranton; Solmia Zehli, Scranton; John Emery, Scranton; Anna Bell Sturwin, Scranton; Edward Phillips, Scranton; Elizabeth J. Moore, Scranton; James McHale, Archibald; Barbara Batts, Archibald; Lorena Merkel, Jr., Scranton; Anna Brigg, Old Forge; George Gauder, Archibald; Mary Biliska, Old Forge; Giovanni Bugziesi, Old Forge; Mary Variglio, Old Forge; William Emmett, Carlisle; Elizabeth R. Swindeland, Sunbury.

COURT HOUSE NEWS NOTES. Judgment was directed to enter for the plaintiff in the case of P. D. Carter, administrator, et al., against J. D. Ingle, defendant, and Amelia W. Remondy, guardian.

Rules to open judgment were allowed yesterday in the case of J. W. Guernsey against the Lockport Silk company, and Elizabeth Tappan against the same.

The rule for new trial in the case of Luther Keller against George E. Fairchild was yesterday made absolute by Judge Kelly. It was a suit on a $200 judgment note and was decided last November in favor of the defendant. Judge Kelly says the evidence did not sustain the verdict.

Worthy of Consideration. An editor's opinion is always worthy of consideration, for he is accustomed to giving a matter due consideration before expressing his ideas of it. David R. Forbes, editor of the Sun, Quarryville, Pa., says: "The name Chamberlain is synonymous with everything that is good. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy I can particularly endorse, having used it myself quite frequently with the best results, whenever bothered with a cold." For sale by all druggists.

PECKVILLE.

George A. Price, the former proprietor of Hotel Harrison, was, on Saturday, taken to the Hillside home. Mr. Price sustained a fall down stairs a few weeks ago, at the hotel, and since then has acted strangely. He was becoming violently insane, and it was thought best by his family to have him taken to the Hillside home.

William Page received word Sunday, announcing the death of his mother at Franklin, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Page left yesterday to attend the funeral, which will be held today.

Roberts Bros., merchants, are now installed in their new temporary store building on Depot street.

George Williams is having a new barber shop erected, on the site of the one burned. The new shop will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

W. J. Lloyd is erecting a building at the rear of his Main street property. The new building will be used by William Lewis as a blacksmith shop.

O. D. Seor was a visitor at Carbondale yesterday.

George Burdick attended court yesterday as a witness in the Lillibridge case.

H. P. Woodward, of the Peckville Journal, has purchased a lot on Pleasant avenue and will erect a new home for the Journal. The present building, occupied as the Journal office, and owned by William Peck, will be moved from the present location on Main street to the rear of the lot owned by Mr. Peck.

Rev. H. J. Whalen, D. D., will deliver his famous lecture on the "Wit and Humor of the Irish People," in the Methodist church, this evening.

Daniel Doris, of Glen Lyon, a former Peckville resident, spent Sunday in town.

Now that the water company is about to lay larger water mains in Peckville, it is up to council to provide double fire hydrants in the thickly settled districts. Fire hydrants at the present time are so scattered that it is almost impossible for the hose company to get more than one stream on a fire.

TAYLOR.

A birthday party was tendered Mrs. Catherine Youngblood at her home on Main street on Saturday evening, in honor of her seventy-second anniversary. The evening was most pleasantly spent conversing over gone-by days, and other diversions, which made the evening an enjoyable one. The German Glee club and the Watkins family were present and rendered a number of excellent selections. Arthur Morgans sang several pleasing solos. At a late hour refreshments were served and all departed for their respective homes. Mrs. Youngblood was the recipient of many presents.

The entertainment and social of the Grulll Vereln Swiss lodge will be held in Weber's rink. The event promises to be an interesting treat, as the committee in charge have prepared an excellent programme, to be rendered by the Swiss Glee club, Prof. T. R. Davis, of this town, and well-known talent from Scranton. After the entertainment a social will be held. Music will be furnished by a first-class orchestra. The tenors and basses of the Oratorio society will meet tomorrow evening in the Calvary Baptist church to rehearse their parts in the oratorio, Judas Macabees.

The shooting match, to be held on Underline's shooting grounds on Thursday next, between James Jones and Daniel Underline, promises to be quite an interesting affair.

Arthur Morgans rendered a pleasing solo at the service Sunday evening at the Calvary Baptist church.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Harris, delivered a forceful sermon.

Tickets are being rapidly disposed of for the performance of "Judas Macabees," to be held at the Calvary Baptist church, April 28.

SOROSIS TRADE MARK.

Why "Sorosis" Is the Best Women's Shoe Made

The science of making and shaping a "Sorosis" is worked out on living models. The modern last inventions that are controlled exclusively by the "Sorosis" factory are acknowledged to be the most perfect. All leathers are critically examined before being cut and every part is made rights and lefts. Such modeling prevents that only too common fault—a flattening of the arch of the foot.

The various branches of making a "Sorosis" Shoe is controlled by the best talent that can be had; every one a recognized specialist in his particular line. This insures perfection, making the "Sorosis" Shoe as perfect as any ladies' Shoe you may ever hope to wear.

Such system and organization as is shown in the "Sorosis" factory does not exist in any other Shoe factory either in America or Europe.

These conditions are known to us by personal observation. We are satisfied in our own mind that the "Sorosis" Shoe for women is the best made. Ladies who have worn them tell us that the pronounced style and durability of the "Sorosis" does not appear in other makes of women's shoes.

Our Ladies' Shoe department is separate from any other in this store. Our experienced fitters will help you in selecting the last and size precisely suited to your foot. When you are once fitted with "Sorosis" Shoes we have no doubt of your future patronage.

ATTRACTIONS TODAY.

LYCEUM—The Bostonians in "Maid Marian." NIGHT—ACADEMY—Harry Jenkins. Afternoon and night. STAR—Al Reeves' company. Afternoon and night.

The Harry Jenkins Company.

The Jenkins repertoire company which has been achieving unqualified success in every city it has visited all season long, opened a week's engagement last night at a crowded house at the Academy of Music.

The leading character, "Lawrence Claymore," was portrayed most acceptably by a Scranton young man, Will F. Burke. His work had the nod of the true artist, and his Scranton friends who were present to greet him on his first appearance here in drama were unstinted in their expressions of appreciation. He essays both serious and comical roles and is to appear at each performance.

Harry Jenkins, the comedy star, is a clever film maker, and, before the week is over, will have surely anchored himself safely among Scranton's favorite comedians. Louis Leslie, the leading lady, is a beautiful and artistic young player. Other good players among the company are Geraldine Russell, Nina Falgig, Stella Stanton, Agnes McAnn, Charles E. Caruthers, James H. Stockdale and Frank Lynch.

Between the acts specialties are introduced in the shape of illustrated songs by Will F. Burke; monologue and dances by Harry Jenkins; an eccentric comedy sketch by Frank Lynch and dancing novelties by the McAnn family, four in number.

"A Runaway Girl." Augustin Daly's remarkably bright and catchy musical comedy, "A Runaway Girl," is every where taken as a model and criterion in making comparisons with others. Not so good as "A Runaway Girl," something like "A Runaway Girl," not in the same class as "A Runaway Girl," copied from "A Runaway Girl," don't touch "A Runaway Girl," wait till you see "A Runaway Girl," then you will see a musical production.

These expression and many others, equally complimentary, are often heard in the lobbies of theaters and on the streets, when musical productions are the subject of conversation.

STAGE NOTES.

Al Reeves has not been able to find any one in London to back her grand opera venture, and as a result she may return to this country, appearing in pieces along familiar lines.

A performance for the benefit of the McKinley memorial fund is to be given at the Grand Conique, Paris, Bernhardt, Coquelin, Jean de Resaie and many lesser lights have offered their services.

George Alexander has decided to visit America in the autumn of 1902, making his first trip across the Atlantic as an actor-manager. He will appear in Stephen Phillips' "Paola and Franz."

Charles Foulman has the right to regard himself as a grand mogul of the theater. He is said to be the owner of 234 plays, manages thirty-seven theaters and has rights in 505 actors of more or less eminence.

Sam T. Jack's old house in New York has been rented by the Gilsley estate and leased to Charles Evans and Samuel Shubert. The new place will be called the Princess theater, and a successful London play will be imported to open the house.

AL REEVES' COMPANY.

Al Reeves and his bunch of burlesques were greeted with full houses at the Star theater yesterday. Upon the whole, the troupe is better than usual this trip. The olio acts were presented by Mazzy and Maxette, who have few equals as acrobats; Hecy and Leo; Cliff Gordon and others. A novel sketch by McCabe and Sabine and Mlle. Vera, the dancer, was among the good features. Al Reeves and his bunch were well received by his old friends. The popularity of the troupe is probably due to the fact that his tenors are never harassed by the thought he may at an unexpected moment spring a new joke. As a rule he remains true to tradition and the audience knows just when to laugh without taking time to think it over.

A laughable burlesque at each end of the performance affords opportunity for the introduction of some pleasing musical numbers rendered by Fanny Fern Thatcher and Louise Auer. The Reeves company will be at the Star today and tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The Bostonians.

William MacDonald Dorrington is the name of a young baritone who will appear this season with the Bostonians, having been engaged for their coming tour. Always mindful of securing youthful talent, the management of the Bostonians are highly pleased with the success Mr. Dorrington has made in principal roles. The young gentleman has spent several years abroad completing his vocal studies and upon the accounts credited in the European papers he will shortly figure prominently before the music-loving public. Mr. Dorrington is a nephew of William H. MacDonald of the Bostonians and his success-

VASSAR GRADUATE A SUICIDE.

Miss Granger, of Winsted, Wrecked Health by Excessive Study. By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Winsted, Conn., April 14.—Nervous prostration, brought on by excessive study and work as a teacher, led to the suicide today of Miss May Granger, daughter of S. E. Granger, of Centre street, one of this town's leading citizens. She drank prussic acid.

Miss Granger was 28 year old and a graduate of Vassar, class of '98. During her college course, Miss Granger received high honors, winning a Greek scholarship at graduation, which entitled her to a year's post graduate study. Afterwards she became teacher of Greek and German in the Keene, N. H., high school, but was compelled on account of her health, to give up the position.

The Fight at Brags. By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Muskogee, I. T., April 14.—It transpires that two persons were wounded in the fight at Brags, in the Cherokee nation, where it was reported yesterday that four men had been killed and several injured. A dozen men quarreled over a quantity of whiskey. It is believed the wounded men will recover.
