LACK OF LIFE IN CHURCH TODAY

SERMON BY REV. E. J. MORRIS, OF WILKES-BARRE.

Christ's Gospel Must Be Accepted Thoroughly and Truthfully if the Purpose Is Attained—Services Yesterday in Various Churches—David B. Evans Presented with a Watch by Employes of Oxford Mine—Debate This Evening—Other News Notes of General Interest.

Rev. E. J. Morris, of Wilkes-Barre, occupied the pulpit of the Plymouth Congregational church at both services yesterday, and preached two excellent sermons. In the evening he spoke from the text found in the second chapter of the acts of the apostles, and the forty-seventh verse.

The speaker contrasted the difference between the church of Christ's time and church of today and noted the progress, hopefulness and growth of religion in those days and the lack of life and interest in Christ's work today. The secular pursuits of modern times he said are along the line of advancement and expansion, but he feared that the church of today is not receiving the support and encouragement it deserves.

Progress is everywhere else apparent, he said, but the church is slumbering at the present time. The Lord has still the same interest in his people and cause, but the people have not the same interest in the Lord Jesus Christ. It is the will of God that His word should be preached to all the world, and His good will is the same today as it was in the time of the apostles.

People now days are attracted by anything new, and it may be argued that the gospel was new in the time of the apostles, but it is the same yesterday, today and forever. It can and should be made new to unbelievers today, and there are many who have not yet known the newness and power of the gospel of Christ. Some may know the texts and scriptures, but the gospel has never really come to them in its true light.

It is not new to hear about God, but it is new for people to live in dread and terror of Him, for without a sense of the reality of God you have lived without Him. One must be touched by the real gospel of Christ if it is to be made to them, for the revelation of the love and glory brings new light and new life to them.

The more we take hold of the gospel the more we learn of it, and if we want to know the gospel we must think more of it and learn more of it. Another element of God's purpose is the entire singleness of aim in Christian work.

Many people are engaged in Church work who have no time for Christ. All that is needed is to accept Christ and live for Him. The gospel must be accepted thoroughly and truthfully, if the purpose is attained. We must all be co-laborers with Christ, to win sinners for Him.

We must make it our business to help Christ, and our daily lives must be saturated with the spirit of Christ, and live in the fear of God. Do what you can for Him, and appeal to Him for assistance. More real living faith is needed in the church today to accomplish God's purpose.

Presented with a Watch. David B. Evans, select councilman from the Fourth ward, who has resigned the position of inside foreman at the Oxford mine, which he held during the past two years, was tendered a surprise by the employes of the mine at Co-operative hall Saturday evening, and presented with a gold watch, chain, and Masonic charms, all valued at $125, as a token of the appreciation in which he was held by the workmen employed under him.

The presentation speech was made by David R. Davis, who is the eldest employe, in point of service, at the Oxford mine. Mr. Evans responded feelingly and expressed his appreciation of the substantial gift. A large number of the employes were at the meeting, many of whom, in one way or another, contributed to the evening's enjoyment.

Michael Cannon was chairman, and Benjamin Griffiths acted as master of ceremonies, and made one of his characteristic speeches. Piano and harmonic selections were rendered by James and George Mawson, and ad-resses were delivered by James Jenkins, Joseph Phillips, Thomas Hopkins, sr., John Cawley, Alfred Paine and William Reese.

Songs, dances and other specialties were rendered by William S. Davis, Job James, Thomas O. Jenkins, John Evans, Fred Wadsworth, Thomas Abrams, Charles Watson, Walter Williams, Joseph Jenkins, James James, Harry Holly and others. Refreshments were served by a competent committee, and the event proved to be one of much enjoyment for all who participated.

Bennie Phillips Surprised. A surprise party was tendered Master Bennie Phillips, of West Elm street, last Friday evening. Various games were played, and at a late hour very dainty refreshments were served. An enjoyable time was had by all. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. William Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Williams; Misses Annette M. Phillips, Irene Moses, Elizabeth Lewis, Marjorie Ott, Gladys Jones, Gwendolyn Phillips, Anna Mackin, Gretta Freeman, Anna McNulty, Susan Proberts, Lulu Jones, Frances Watkins, Helen Pilling, Edith Davis, Adeline Williams, Odessa Phillips, Jessie Sains, Beulah Highfield and Ethel Nichols.

Messrs. Bennie Phillips, Berton Thomas, Albert Morgan, Samuel Corney, Thomas Thomas, Edilson Phillips, Adam Pulver, Herbert Jones, Wilfred Thomas, Havlock Phillips, Edgar Davis and Charles Ott.

Debate This Evening. The Men's League of the Plymouth Congregational church will meet this evening and enjoy a debate on the subject, "Resolved, That Our Representative Form of Government Is a Failure."

The affirmative speakers will be Prof. John T. Jones and Gomer D. Reese, and the negative side will be upheld by J. Hayden Oliver and Charles E. Daniels.

Among the Churches. Rev. Hugh Davies, of the South Main Avenue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church, preached a Welsh sermon in the Bellevue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church yesterday morning, and in the evening, at the 6 o'clock service, he spoke in English.

At the 10:30 o'clock mass in St. Patrick's Catholic church yesterday morning, the choir, under the direction of Miss Johnson, repeated the music rendered at the Easter services. They gave a fine rendition of the various numbers.

Two excellent sermons were delivered in the Plymouth Congregational church yesterday morning and evening by the Rev. E. J. Morris, of Wilkes-Barre. Special music was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Prof. David Owens.

The sermon at the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning was preached by Prof. James Hughes, of the High school faculty. At the evening service, the choir repeated the Easter music, under the direction of the chorister, Prof. W. W. Jones.

Rev. Iwerth Jones, of Wales, who is visiting in this city, occupied the pulpit of the First Welsh Baptist church yesterday, speaking in Welsh and English.

Rev. A. L. Ramer, Ph. D., pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, preached yesterday morning on the subject of "Christ, the Good Shepherd," and in the evening spoke about "Steadfastness of Purpose."

Rev. Dr. Morrow spoke in behalf of the American Bible society at the Washington Street Presbyterian church yesterday morning. A number of infants were baptized at the service.

Rev. S. F. Mathews, at the First Baptist church yesterday, gave his impressions of the recent Twentieth Century conference, and the lessons to be drawn from the meetings.

Rev. E. B. Singer occupied the pulpit of the Hampton Street Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning, and W. W. Adair, secretary of the Railroad Young Men's Christian association, spoke in the evening.

Rev. B. D. Thomas, D. D., pastor of the Jarvis Baptist church, Toronto, Canada, was expected to preach in the Jackson Street Baptist church last evening, but was not feeling well enough to do so, and in consequence a large congregation was disappointed.

Mrs. M. R. Kays, of Sanderson avenue, attended the funeral of her uncle, James Fordham, at West Pittston, Saturday.

MOTHER.

Dear mother: It is the sweetest name that ever mortal lips could frame. It takes us back through weary years, And calls to mind the many tears That we, in latter anguish, shed Around a mother's dying bed.

Some fifty years have passed away Since that sad and eventful day, When we, in sorrow, had to part With a mother's true and faithful heart; And I, a child of tender years, Wept many, many, bitter tears.

Her memory is sacred still, For none a mother's place could fill— For fancy still can see that face, That length of time can never erase, And oft the yearning feelings come For mother love and childhood home.

—Mrs. A. C. Green. Peckville, April 17.

FUNERALS.

The funeral of the late Thomas Houser will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, corner of West Linden and Chestnut streets.

THE USES OF MILLIONAIRES. They Are the Busy Bees That Fill the Hive with Honey.

The bees of a hive do not destroy the honey-making bees, but the drones. It will be a great mistake for the community to shoot the millionaires, for they are the bees that make the most money, and contribute most to the hive even after they have gorged themselves full. Here is a remarkable fact, that the masses of the people in any country are prosperous and comfortable just in proportion as there are millionaires. Take Russia, with its population a little better than ours, and living at the point of starvation upon the meaneast possible fare, such fare as none of our people could or would eat, and you do not find one millionaire in Russia, always excepting the emperor and a few nobles who own the land, owing to their political system. It is the same to a great extent in Germany. There are only two millionaires known to me in the whole German Empire. In France, where the people are better off than in Germany, you cannot count one-half dozen millionaires in the whole country. In the old home of our race, Britain, in the richest country in all Europe—the richest country in the world save one, our own—there are more millionaires than in the whole of the rest of Europe, and its people are better off than in any other. You come to our own land, with its population least four-fifths of it, many reasons put together, although we have not one in every ten that is reputed so. I have seen a list of supposed millionaires prepared by a well-known lawyer of Brooklyn, which made me laugh, as it has made many others. I saw men rated as millionaires who could not buy their debts. Many should have had a cipher cut from their $1,000,000. Some time ago I sat next Mr. Everts at dinner, and the conversation touched upon the idea that men should distribute their wealth during their lives for the public good. One gentleman said that was correct, giving many reasons, one of which was that, of course, they could not take it with them at death. "Well," said Mr. Everts, "I do not know about that. My experience as a New York lawyer is that, somehow or other, they do succeed in taking at least four-fifths of it. Their reputed wealth was never found at death."

Under our present conditions the millionaire who toils on is the cheapest article which the community secures, at the prices it pays for him, namely, his shelter, clothing, and food.

Better Than Deduction. "Now, I rather pride myself on my ability to read character," said the man who was given to buying detective tales, "and yet why should I? It is really a very simple thing—requires nothing but close observation. For instance, it is very easy to tell a man's occupation. His facial expression, his actions, even his dress, are stamped by his daily work. You see that man sitting opposite me? Well, I'm just as sure as though he had told me that he is a butcher."

"How do I know?" replied his friend. "That man is a butcher."
