PANTHER NEAR PECKVILLE

SCARED WILLIAM BARBER AND HIS COMPANIONS.

They Were, at Work on the New Airshaft of the Sterrick Creek Coal Company, High Up on the Moosic Mountain, When the Panther Made His Appearance—They Took to the Trees, and, After Looking at Them, the Panther Left Them in Peace and Disappeared.

A panther gave Wallace Barber and hree other residents of Peckville a scare vesterday that they will not forget for many a long day.

They were employed at the new airshaft of the Sterrick Creek Coal company, high up on the Moosic mountain, several miles from Peckville. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning,

Barber felt that some danger threatened and, looking about, saw the vicious eyes of a panther fastened upon

Barber is an old-time hunter, and he recognized the danger and the animal instantly, for the panther was only short distance away.

"To the trees," he shouted to his felow workmen, and instantly there was a rush for the tall hemlocks, which nature had kindly placed close at hand. And how these men did climb.

"It's quite a while since I shinned up tree before," said Barber last night, but I hadn't forgotten the knack. The way we did go up was a caution, I can tell you. Soon we were perched on the high limbs, and then we were seized by he horrible fear that his panthership would come up after us. When we went up we forgot for the moment that the panther is pretty good on the climb, too, and he was right close at "This particular panther must have had that tired feeling that spring inluces, for, after watching us and rouching several times, as if preparing to spring, he swished his tail and jogged off toward the Consumer's Powler company's plant. We didn't come down right away. We let the panther get a good start."

There was great excitement at Peckilel yesterday, when information of the presence of a panther in the vicinty was received, and Barber and his companions were the heroes of the nour, when they returned and told the tory of their adventure.

IT WILL GROW COLDER. Drop in Temperature Will Follow

Yesterday's Cyclone. Meteorologically speaking, a cyclon prevailed all of yesterday throughout this region. It was wanting in the devastating properties which would cause it to rise to the dignity of a tornado, but it had attendant features which would entitle it, at least, to a safe place in the simoon category. Fitful, gyrating winds, surcharged with dust, made life out-of-doors miserable in the extreme and covered everything in-doors, to which it had ecess, with a coating of grit that would cause one to believe he was living in the vicinity of Sahara.

According to Weatherman Clarke, this whirling wind storm has come all the way from Kansas, and like all cyclonic storms, is preceded by a hot and followed by a cold wave. In Michigan, where the rotary storm was experienced Tuesday, there was snow yesterday, and in the rest of the region there was a drop in the temperature in forty-eight hours of from 20 to 20 degrees. Mr. Clarke expects that by 8 o'clock this morning the temperature here will be down to 40 degrees. Tuesday it was in the neighborhood of 80 degrees.

A PROPOSED SUBWAY.

D., L. & W. Company Will Build One Under South Washington Avenue if Councils Permit.

An effort will be made shortly to secure the passage of an ordinance by councils providing for the construction by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western company of a subway under its tracks where the latter cross South Washington avenue and deeding to the company the surface now occupied and used as a street.

In other words the company wants the space now occupied by the street and would be willing to spend between $40,000 and $50,000 in the construction of a subway to secure this use, the subway to be used, of course, as a street. The first plans for the proposed subway are in the possession of Director of Public Works Roche and provide for a tunnel same 800 feet long beginning just below the iron railroad bridge and ending below the car shops. Before Director Roche will approve the plans the company must agree to have this subway 50 feet wide. A width of 42 feet is provided for in the plans now in his possession but this is not deemed wide enough.

The company proposes to construct this subway free of cost to the city and It is contended that it would be to the city's interests to accept the offer because by so doing the grade crossing would be done away with and the steep grade met with on the other side of the tracks would be rendered more easy for travel.

As soon as the plans meet with the approval of Director Roche they will e submitted to councils together with the ordinance above mentioned:

today not only one of the very few great orators of the world but he is the only surviving link between the splendid pulpit oratory of the past generation. Bishop Fowler has been in closer touch with the mightiest minds of two great periods in our nation's history than any other man now living. A striking illustration of this brought out last September. While the bishop's home is in Buffalo he was in Minneapolis at the time of the tragedy which appalled the world Hastening home after the announcement of the president's death, he was met at his hotel in Chicago by a delegation of members from a certain famous club in that city whose boast has been that it has made and unmade more presidents than any other similar organization in the country and was invited by them to give the funeral oration which the city was planning The bishop was struck with a singular coincidence. Thirty-six years before he had been approached by a commit tee from the same celebrated club and had been requested to give a similar oration over the death of a man, dear to him as his own life-the friend and hero of his young manhood-Abraham Lincoln, whose assassination seemed to arrest the sun of the uni-

It was a remarkable incident in this day of the swift passing of public recognition of even the most transcendent abilities that a man could thus hold his own through the vicissitudes of time and be still acknowledged as an orator whose power had not waned after the lapse of nearly forty years but was considered to be one best fitted to speak on a national calamity to the people of a great city who had selected him out of all his countrymen to voice their woe on the occasion of a previous affliction.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Colonel Fitzsimmons Says It Could en Brought Here.

Colonel F. J. Fitzsimmons, who returned last night from the meeting of the Democratic state committee held in Harrisburg, stated to a Tribune man that if any kind of an effort had been made to secure the convention for Scranton it could have been brought here instead of to Erie. "I had members from all parts of state come to me on Tuesday night," said he, "and offer to vote for this city if I put forward a claim for the convention but I was not able to do this because I had no right to make any promises on my own account. A good sized delegation was present from Erie but I believe that the supporters of that city could have been beaten had we had any kind of a committee from this city with any kind of an argument to offer. To my mind the convention was just laying there ready for us to pick up." The colonel said that there are in reality no full fledged prospective Democratic gubernatorial candidates in the field as yet. A few names are being mentioned. Attorney T. P. Hoban, chairman of the county committee, also attended the meeting.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY. Resident of Jones Street Mixed Up

in Trouble. Two gentleman from Jones street, North Scranton, named Barney Pitcavich and Barney Lineavich, have been having trouble of various kinds for some time. Lincavich caused Pitcavich's arrest last week on a charge of securing $10 from him by false pretense. Pitenvich was obliged to pay the $10 and some $9.90 in costs. This caused him to become much enraged and he swore out a warrant for Lineavich's arrest yesterday before Alderman Ruddy charging him with perjury. He swore that he owed no money whatever to Lincavich and that it was an outrage to compel him to pay over the $10. Alderman Ruddy held Lineavich under $300 bail, and also held George Ursa and George Walonis, who were arrested later on the same charge. Pitcavich claims that the latter two swore in Alderman Howe's court that he (Pitcavich) had loaned Lineavich $10.

EXPLOSION IN LEGGETTS CREEK Two Men Were Burned by an Explosion of Gas.

A serious explosion occurred in the China vein of the Leggett's Creek mine yesterday, in which Jerry Arnold and Mine Foreman Levy Emmanuel were seriously burned. The explosion occurred in the morning, while both men were at work fixing a portion of the roof, when the issued from a fissure in the rock and coming in contact with a naked lamp, an explosion followed. The roar of the explosion was heard throughout the mine and soon willing hands were on the scene to care for the injured. This was the first time that Jerry Arnold had been in the mine since the explosion of a week ago. It is believed Emmanuel inhaled the burning gas and that he suffers from internal burns. Both men were taken to their homes. They were reported last night

as resting comfortably,
