NEW SHORTSTOP.

He is George Stroh, of Syracuse, N. Y.

The latest addition to the Scranton baseball club is George Stroh, a shortstop, from Syracuse, N. Y. Stroh is a young athlete, 22 years old, stands 5 feet, 8½ inches, and weighs 150 pounds. He began his professional career with the Syracuse Stars in 1898. The following season he played with the Iliam club of the New York State League. During the season of 1899 he was a member of the Watson club of Weedsport, N. Y. Last season he played with the Ogdensburg club of the Northern New York league.

Steinberg recommends Stroh as a lively fielder, fast on his feet, covering a great amount of territory, a splendid thrower, an excellent base-runner and good batsman. He will arrive in time to participate in this afternoon's practice.

Next Saturday will be the day of the opening of the Pennsylvania league championship race, and Williamsport will be the first opponents to face the strong Scranton team. It is expected that a great throng of spectators will be present at the opening game.

Manager Lawson has decided to give a street parade prior to the game. The two teams in carriages, headed by the Lawrence band, will parade the principal streets and thence to the ball park. Between the innings the band will give selections of their choice music, and an enjoyable time may be expected.

TWO KILLED, ONE INJURED.

While at work robbing pillars yesterday morning in No. 10 colliery of the Erie company at Houghton, near Pittston, Daniel Collins, a miner, and Charles Ruane, his laborer, were instantly killed, and William Boland, another laborer, was probably fatally injured. The men have been working for the past few weeks in the Marcy vein of the old Paradise workings and were cutting away a pillar when a large fall of soap stone fell on them.

It is thought Boland is fatally injured, Collins resided on Parsons street and was a married man with a family. Ruane was a single man, whose home was at Cork Lane. Boland is married and lives with his family on North Main street.

PITSTON.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Pittston, April 22.—Miss Mary Densley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Denney, of High street, were united in marriage at an early hour this morning to John Ford, of Pine street, who is a quiet one in all respects, and was performed at 6 o'clock St. John's Roman Catholic church by Rev. Father John J. Hayes. The bride was attended by Miss Grace Gauthier, a bridemaid, and the groom's best man was David Falvey of Inkerman. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party was driven to Wilkes-Barre, where they took breakfast at Hotel Steel. Ford left for the 11 o'clock Lehigh Valley train and will include a visit to Washington, Philadelphia and New York City. Upon their return two weeks hence they will make their home with the bride's parents.

Last night Chief Lotius and Patrolman Somers served an injunction on the members of the board of revision of taxes and appeals regarding their robbing of the business.

A board of revision of taxes and appeals was appointed by Mayor Corcoran who claims the right to act as the president of the board. An interesting point is at issue. At a recent meeting of the council in joint session, Mayor Corcoran received enough votes to elect him a member of the board. Councilman Buss, a member of the board, voted for him, and refused to recognize the votes cast for the mayor. The mayor will contest the case, and the members of the board have engaged Attorney Strauss, of Wilkes-Barre, to look after their interest.

united by honest and untrammeled by dictation, and the entire Republican party in solid front against the Democratic party rolled up a vote for the state ticket this fall which will exceed the 220,000 plurality given for our martyred leader, William McKinley, in 1900.

Sixth, We have just cause for pride that in our city and county governments Republican men are upright and able, fulfilling the requirements of the various positions to which their party has assigned them.

Seventh, We appreciate and commend the honorable, manly, dignified, yet energetic campaign for nomination to the legislature from this district, waged by Messrs. Oliver, Thomas and Simpson, and their supporters. Recognizing the soundness of the expressed will of the majority we pledge the same support at the polls to the nominees, Joseph Oliver, esq.

MR. OLIVER'S REMARKS.

A committee was appointed to escort Mr. Oliver before the convention. He was received with hearty cheers, and made a brief address, in which he said he could not at that time find words to express his feelings of appreciation and gratitude for the nomination which had just been given him. The battle was hard fought, he said, and he hopes that any animosity which may have arisen as a result would be effectively wiped out, and those who fought for supremacy will rally to the support of the party candidate.

In his canvas, Mr. Oliver had made but one pledge, and if elected, to act at Harrisburg as a Republican within the lines of the Republican party. With respect to all other matters, he said, he would not be presumptuous enough to anticipate anything else. His purpose in wanting to be in line with the party was that he realized that nothing could be accomplished otherwise, as the Democratic party is a hopeless minority as far as the legislature is concerned, and to be of any service to his constituents and the district at large, he must be with the majority.

D. Phillip Williams, who was named as one of the state delegates, was called on for a speech. He said those who had placed confidence in him, can depend upon his reliability to properly represent them at Harrisburg.

A motion, made by Thomas Gwynn, was unanimously carried to the effect that all the representatives present take off their coats, roll up their sleeves and work for Joseph Oliver for representative.

MR. REYNOLDS CALLED UPON.

Hon. T. Jefferson Reynolds, the present representative, was present, and was called on for a speech. He was seated in the middle of the hall, and when it came to come forward and address the convention, remarked that he felt that it was his pleasure to "Go back, back, and sit down."

"I sincerely trust, however," he said, "that you have assembled here today as loyal Republicans, and that the majority vote shall rule, and that every Republican in the First legislative district will rally to the support of the party nominees and give him a rousing majority next fall."

The secretaries and tellers then made a report on the number of votes cast for the delegates and alternates to the Republican state convention. It was as follows:

For delegate—D. Phillip Williams, 2140, votes; Thomas E. Mills, 2131; Ivotes. Alternates—John H. Williams, 1747 votes; A. C. Terwilliger, 185 votes.

Candidate Oliver passed the cigars around, and the convention adjourned.

SABBATH WORKERS.

Annual Convention in Providence in M. E. Church on Tuesday, May 6.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Chairman Davis, of the resolutions committee, then read the following, which were unanimously adopted:

First, The Republican convention of the First Legislative district unqualifiedly endorses the policy of our national government which has gained us nation the admiration, confidence and respect of the civilized world and gives us an era of domestic prosperity of which our country is the envy of the world.

Second, We heartily commend the faithful and efficient services of our representative in Congress.

Third, In our own Keystone state we can point with just pride and commendation to the conservative and economic administration of state affairs. There is, no doubt, honest difference of opinion as to the wisdom of some of the legislation enacted by the last legislature, but we heartily condemn the popular supremacy of prejudice and mislead the public by devoting all their attention to one or two bills which they conceive to be bad and entirely ignoring the other five hundred and fifty bills passed by the last legislature.

We recognize that the last legislature placed in the hands of the people a fairly large number of laws that were urgently required and the wisdom of which will be even more apparent in the future.

Fourth, In the person of Hon. L. A. Watres, Lackawanna county presents a candidate for the state legislature record and private character and standing is second to none. We heartily endorse his fitness for the office.

Fifth, In a state like ours, where a nomination by the Republican party is equivalent to an election, we heartily endorse the man whom the gubernatorial nomination is to be expected. We believe that such contests within party lines by which the will of the majority can be ascertained and carried out, in a convention
