

"Atterbury" Tailoring

The strongest points of the "Atterbury" System of Readyto-Wear Clothes are in their workmanship --- their hidden parts. It has come to our notice that some imitators are trying to palm off suits that they say are "just as good," or "just the same" as the "Atterbury" System, and in their frantic effort to make a sale know no limit to the use of fabrications.

This Original Can't Be Copied

This fact is being demonstrated every day, and those who are wearing-and have had the "Atterbury" System explained to them realize that it's almost impossible for other tailors to reproduce clothes made by this system.

The Proving Evidence

To those who have not yet visited our "Atterbury" show rooms, we ask the privilege of giving this proving evidence. It can't be explained here, neither can it be explained in our show windows. If you're interested in this much-talked-about system of clothes making, we are ready and very willing to prove to you that no imitation can take the place of this original and proved system. -

Theatrical.

ATTRACTIONS TODAY.

ACADEMY-Charles Leybourne's Bon Ton Stoe ompany. Matinee and night. STAR.—Blue Bleed Burlesquers.

"Merchant of Venice."

Wagenhals & Kemper's production of "The Merchant of Venice," announced for Thursday Merchant of Venice," announced for Thursday evening at the Lyceum theater, in which Madame Modjeska and Mr. Louis James will be seen as joint stars, is among the few really important offerings of the present season, "The Merchant of Venice" has not been presented lately, so the element of rovelty is not entirely lacking. No artist more delicate and subtle than Madame Modjeska has appeared among the women of the steep of this or any other terms. men of the stee of this or any other time, and essentially patrician and womanly qualities of Portia, the part she is to play. She played Portia to the Shyleck of Edwin Booth, when she stored an artistic triumph, still fresh in the memory of the veteran play-goer. An equal interest will doubtless he shown in the assume terest will doubtless be shown in the assumption of Shylock by Louis James. In the more subtle and absorbing characters of Shakespeare, Mr. James has scarcely had a rivl.

"Bonnie Brier Bush."

John H. Stoddart will reappear at the Lyccum Saturday afternoon and night in the "Bonnie Brier Bush," in which he scored such a distinct success here earlier in the season. In this play, Mr. Stoddart has done the greatest work of his great carcer.

The comedy element in the piece, too, is strong and persistent. Its chief exponent is Posty, whose droll philosophy and witticisms form an excellent foil for the more serious portions of the play. The piece is staged and acted with that fineness which characterizes Kirke La Shelle's attractions. Seats go on sale this merning at 9 o'clock.

Schiller Stock Company.

That the name of E. A. Schiller is synony ous with excellence in theatrical production an accepted fact in every town or city visited by his successful attraction, The Schiller Stock company, so much so that many tickets are sold before the repertoire of plays is announced. This ompany will be seen at the Academy next he has ever attempted. "The City of New York," "Sappho," "Woman's Enemy," "Monte Cristo," "Dora Thorne," "Jesse James," Heart of Fice," "Daughters of the Poor," etc., is a list that certainly is well worth the serious consideration of every theater-goer. The opening play is the "City of New York." Seats on sale tomorrow. Ladies' tickets for Monday.

The Blue Bloods.

Have you seen the Blue Bloods, who have been howing in all the principal cities this season? They are at the Star today, and will remain for the balance of the week. The Blue Bloods are the funniest burlequers that have ever performed this city. An essential feature is the personof the company and the Americanism of the FOR SALE-A desirable and well improved farm type and style of heauty of its girls.

A mass of loveliness and beauty never before equalled on any stage. Verily, they set the eads of ordinary mortals in a whirl, Lilly one of the principals and is nightly deluged with flowers Eva Mitchell, the original "Mag Me-Guire the Bowery Girl," late of the New York theater, is also a member of the company, Matince this afternoon.

STAGE NOTES.

Mabelle Gilman will be one of the next sea son's stars, Baldwin Sloane and George Hobart having been contracted with to furnish a musi-cal comedy for her. A prominent comedian, probably Themas Q. Seabrocke, is being negotiated with for her chief support.

The run of "Du Batty" in New York will close May 31, although from present indications the piece could continue far into the summer with undiminished patronage, Mr. Belasco, however, does not wish to endarger the health of Mrs. Carter and will close before the intense heat sets in.
William Collier will be a member of the Weber & Fields' forces next season, somewhat filling the void created by the desertion of Lil-lian Russell and De Wolf Hopper. Mr. Collier's salary is said to be in the neighborhood of $1,500 a week. Weber & Fields had to buy his release from Jacob Litt.

Again it is announced that "Sis Hopkins" is o be relegated to the rear and made to stay in a box. According to report, Rose Melville will really appear next season in "A Hoosier Cin-Kirke La Shelle's four new plays for next season's production are Illwyn Barrou's "For Love of a Lady," Augustus Thomas "The Love of the A. R. Hovey's "O Kiku San," ( a mod ern comedy of diplomatic circles in Washington), and Eugene Walters' "Comrades in Arma." Mr. Barron wrote the "Romola" dramatization for Julia Marlowe and Robert Taber. Mr. Hovey wrote "Jesephine" for Rhea.
