AN AUSPICIOUS OPENING

Scranton Opened the League by Defeating Williamsport Team at the Park, Saturday.

Scranton has experienced a revival of the base ball fever and the game is on in earnest in this city. If any one doubts this assertion, they should consult any one of the twenty-five hundred or more rooters who assembled on the gronds Saturday afternoon and cheered Manager Al. Lawson's ponies Despite the rawness of the day, and the threatening clouds, the season was very auspiciously opened, and the game was well played, although the grounds were not in the best of condition, and one or two of the players have not yet rounded into playing form. There was sufficient ginger and snappy playing on both sides to indicate that the Pennsylvania State league is not slow.

Manager Lawson has corralled lively lot of youngsters in his team The day was anything but an ideal one for base ball, but the game was sufficiently interesting to keep the spectators in good humor throughout. The contest was in doubt until the last man was retired.

Both the backstops, Steinburg and Rainey, were given an opportunity to show their worth, and they were equal to the best. Pitcher Wiltze has the earmarks of a comer, and showed good judgment, pitching an excellent game, and pulling out of some tight places. The infield with more practice toether, will undoubtedly compare avorably with any in the league. The outfield is very fast.

Previous to the game both teams, eaded by the Lawrence band, paraded the streets, and when the grounds were reached there was a large crowd on hand to welcome them. The park has undergone a number of improvements and is now in first-class shape. Fences have been erected on both sides of the grandstand, leading out into the field and new bleathers have been erected back of first base.

The game started at 3.15 o'clock, and the band played after each inning. All of Scranton's runs were made in the first inning, but none of them were earned. Williamsport scored one ach in the fourth and fifth innings, and neither side tallied afterwards. Both center fielders made some pretty runng catches, and Croughan's running catch of a line drive was a feature. The hitting was light on both sides Blakely, Schmaltz, Sasse and Gross eading with doubles and a triple. Wiltze pitched the better game, although one more hit was made off his delivery than off Bell. Ferris, the local player, played a few innings, and showed that he can hold his own with any of them, both at the bat and in Williamsport has excellent players in Templin, Schultz, Hartman, Sasse and that is, there was a possibility when roughan. The game was umpired by paseman, and his decisions on the whole were satisfactory. Following is the detailed score of the game:

DYNAMITED HIS DOG.

Law-Breaking Fisherman Loses

Valuable Canine. A West Side man, whose name is not divulged, went out to Tobyhanna Saturday to catch trout with the aid of dynamite. He took along his New Foundland dog, which he had recently refused to sell to Clem Marsh for $150. Selecting a placid pool, in which there was every indication of the presence of big speckled beauties, he threw in a stick of dynamite, which would explode the moment it struck the water. The dog had been drained to jump in the water for sticks and the like, and the moment the fisherman drew back his arm to throw the dynamite, the dog plunged into the pool. The dog and the dynamite landed in the same spot in the pool at the same moment. The henter is now regetting that he did not sell the dog.

MINE WORKERS' OFFICIALS TO GATHER IN THIS CITY.

Not Having Been Able to Secure from the Operators Any of the Concessions Asked for at the Shamokin Convention Representatives of the Three Districts Will Meet Here with President Mitchell to Say Whether or Not a Strike Order Shall Be Issued.

District President T. D. Nichols, of the United Mine Workers returned Saturday night from the New York conferences with coal operators. Like all others who attended the conference the Great Wallace show is Friday, May he was not inclined to talk at any considerable length on what was done, On only two things he would permit himself to be quoted. One was that the heads of the coal companies accorded the miners' representatives a full and patient hearing and the other, that nothing was accomplished save that they were told that they could come again at any time and be heard, without any stipulations being made as to the capacity in which they might come.

As to whether or not the miners' consider this latter as the gain of an important point, Mr. Nichols silent. It is likely however that it is considered 'important, for it is only logical that if the president of a coal company is willing to hear from his employees through the officers of their union, the local superintendents can not with becoming graces refuse to do the same thing. It was stated, during the time the conferences were on, and since verified that one of the coal mer at the conference expressed surprise in hearing that one of his district superintendents had refused to grant an audience to Mr. Nichols, when the latter approached him with a veiw of adjusting some grievance.

CANNOT EVEN GUESS. It would seem from the best in formation obtainable that no one can give even a guess as to what will be the result of the convention of district officers called by President Mitchell for this city, Wednesday next. There are trict and as many more in each of the present structure. other two districts. Only 25 of these were in New York. The sentiment of these twenty-five was not formally canvassed, and there is no one with any definite idea of how the eight absentees stand. When all come together, President Mitchell will report the re sults, or rather lack of results, of the conferences and submit to them the question of what they propose to do about it. Under the action of the Shamokin convention the district officers have full power to declare a strike or adopt whatever measures seem to them best suited to meet the

Leaving aside the privilege perman ently accorded them of having a hearing before the heads of the coal companies, the mine worker's representatives never at any time during the conference were given any encouragement that the operators would grant a single one of the concessions except that of weighing coal. They were told that the eight-hour day was an impossibility, because it meant a twenty-three per cent, increase in wages, with an equal per cent. decrease in the earning capacity of the collieries, and this contention was persisted in despite statistics produced by the miners showing that last year the mines of the whole region averaged only 194% days of work, and that recently the average for a year was six hours a day.

WEIGHING COAL.

The question of weighing coal where it was practicable was not definitely decided by the operators until Saturday; the conference ended Friday that the Al. Blandin, the old Y. M. C. A. third operators might grant this concession. They said when it was brought up they were not acquainted enough with it to say they would not have their administrative officers adopt it in place of the present method. That, however, was all that was heard of it.

The matter of a minimum scale of day wages and a minimum price per ton for miners was not very deeply delved into. The declaration of the operators at the outset that they were not prepared to enter into any agreement with the union blocked consideration of these details. Matters like these, it is quite certain, could have been compromised, but there was no occasion for attempting to compromise them, as they would be tantamount to an agreement and the operators were steadfast in their decaration that they were not prepared to make an agreement. When the conferences adjourned it was as good as certain in the minds of the miners' representatives that they had accomplished nothing in the way of securing any of the concessions demanded by the Shamokin convention. Saturday, President Mitchell received from the operators a simple message to the effect that "We cannot do anything." STATEMENT GIVEN OUT. It was then decided to give out the statement made public by President Mitchell, Saturday night, declaring that the conferences were devoid of results and that the question of declaring a strike would be passed upon by a convention of district officers in Scranton Wednesday.

President Nicholls and most of the other district officers returned home Saturday. President Mitchell remained in New York and will not come to Scranton, it is believed, until tomorrow.

The convenience a bank will be to the people of South Scranton, coupled with the fact that the West Side and North End banks have been so successful, led to the establishment of this new institution. The avidity with which the stock was subscribed augurs well for success. The South Side business men were willing to take all the stock themselves. The promoters of the bank, however, thought it better to have some of the central city business men, particularly those associated with larger banks, identified with the new concern, and, accordingly, half the stock was sold in the central city. The directorate will be composed mainly of South Scranton men. This will make Scranton's thirteenth

BEING ON TIME

FIRST OF SERIES OF SERMONS ON THE "FOUR ONS."

Rev. Dr. C. M. Giffin Bitterly Denounced the Laggards and the Listless Folks in a Telling Sermon Delivered Before a Large Congregation in the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal Church Last Night. Some people, He Said, Have About as Much Stability as Jelly.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Giffin, pastor of the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church, began last night the first of a series of sermons on what he calls the "Four Ons." His topic last night was "On Time" and the laggards and weakwilled people generally came in for sharp denunciation. The sermon to be delivered next Sunday night will be or the theme "On Your Feet." The doctor chose for his text last night II Samuel 20:5; "So Amasa went to assemble the men of Judah; but he tarried longer than the set time which he had appointed him." He spoke in part as follows:

"Amasa is a splendid sample of the loiterer who never takes a note of time and who manages to put every well ordered plan out of order. If the procession is to move at 2 o'clock he and others of his kind fuss around and fool about until they manage to delay t for at least an hour. They never heed or hear the clock ticks. The race of Amasa has not run out. There are few left in the world. They are to be found on every side. Brother Slow is in the church and out of the church and suffering a loss.

"What is the reason for this tardiness? Its the result of a drag in the rhythm of the afflicted person's being. It is a congenital defect and no cure but a constitutional one will make the laggard hasten. He must be regenerated. He must be born again.

"It is the result often of the slowing effects of habits. It is a motive that impels men to do things and it is my wish to try and instill the definite purpose of being always on time into some of our young men and some of our young women. It means more than I can tell you to be on time and to be always reckoned among those present, Young men frequently get into the way of dilly dallying until slowness and inaction becomes part of the very grain of their being.

"The laggard is self-centered and self-conscious and becomes before long letters is a statistical statement, by a sublime egotist. He forgets entirely the injustice he does his friends by reason of his laxity and becomes oblivious of all else but his own interests,

"Tardiness is often, too, the result of veakness. Do you know there are ome people in this world who remind me of nothing so much as the dessert jelly we sometimes have on our table. It looks all right when its turned out of the mould but soon a crack appears in it and it flattens out into a shapeless mass.

"There are people in this world who are just about as flabby as that jelly and if it were possible to analyze their real substance I'm sure you'd find that the basic elements would be pretty soft stuff. These people seem to be happy despite their weakness, chuckle and they keep it up through life. Once in a while they wake up but the soon drop back into duliness again and when they go to their final sleep they go to one but little deeper than the one they've been enjoying al through life.

FOLLY OF TARDINESS.

"Did you ever consider the folly of tardiness? It's contrary to the method watch the embryos which are living rives at the proper time if you watch their growth. If the larvae is to swin

"Then there is the folly of neglect ing opportunity; of seeing it but not accepting it. Oh. that every young man could learn that the only for him to do is to see what he has to do or what God has placed in his way union in deciding to refuse to handle to do and then rush to do it. Young men so often spend their opportunity in little dribs and drabs. An hour here, a half day there and a day over yonder. Little things in themselves but mighty when massed together. "I would have everyone present here tonight to be on time in starting, on time in stepping and on time in stopping. It is essential that you should be on time in starting-that you should be up and ready to start with the rising of the sun. * * * The Chinaman who said that the 'Melican man 'too muchee bime-by' had the condition of sized up to a nicety. There are so many who procrastinate and who instead of being on time put off until tomorrow and then until tomorrow that which should have been done at once."

THREW A LIGHTED LAMP.

John Wilson Hurled It at His Wife, but It Missed Her and Set the House on Fire.

John Wilson, of River street, threw i lighted lamp at his wife on Saturday night, and it was only by the merest chance that she did not receive serious injury. As it was, the house was set on fire, necessitating the calling out of the firemen, as well as the police.

The couple had been drinking all Saturday afternoon and when night came both were in a quarrelsome mood. Hot words passed between the two and their little child became so frightened that she ran from the house, screaming for help. An instant later Wilson picked up a lighted lamp from the table and threw it full at his wife. It missed her head by about an iach and crashing against the wall sent blazing oil flying in all directions. The carpet was ablaze in a moment and Wilson, sobered for the nonce, made a desperate effort to quench the flames and in doing so burned one of his hands and the side of his face in a frightful manner. An alarm was turned in from Box 41 by some of the neighbors and the blaze was extinguished by the firemen before any damage of any consequence was done. Wilson and his wife were locked up by a squad of policemen and were yesterday morning committed to the county jail in default of a fine of $20 imposed on each by Magistrate Howe.
