SCRANTON AGAIN WINS.

Defeated the Williamsport Team by a Score of 14 to 5-Some Sensational Plays.

Scranton took Williamsport into camp esterday, by the score of 14 to 5. Mc-Jarry did the twirling for Scranton, and up to the eighth inning he pitched good ball. It was during this inning that Scranton went up in the air. They quickly came down, but not until four of the Williamsport men had crossed the plate.

Scranton started out in the first inning with one run, and Williamsport did like-wise. Williamsport didn't get another

Blakey put up a great game, both in the field and at the bat. He had one two-bagger and two three-baggers to his credit. Stroh's fielding was superb. and in the sixth inning he especially distinguished himself. A hot one came toward him, and it was a little too high to catch easily, so he sprang in the air and made a beautiful one-hand catch of what would, in all probability, have been a two-base

Schmaltz also made a pretty catch of a low ball, at the same time making a double play. In fact, the game abounded in sensational stops and catches

THE MARKETS

Wall Street Review.

New York, May 5.—The disturbance and anxiety which were felt in the financial world this morning were much relieved before the close of the day on the stock exchange. It was known before the stock market opened that the hopes entertained on Saturday of securing means to tide over the firms threatened with embarrassment had failed and there was nothing to do for these houses but to announce their inability to meet their contracts. In two cases the failures were fully expected, but the third came as something of a surprise. There was heavy liquidation on the stock exchange when they were announced, but the effective support offered the general market checked the indiscriminate liquidation and induced more sober reflections. There is no doubt there was considerable distrust felt of the fabric of credits generally, owing to ignorance of the extent to which the collapse of the Webb-Meyer stocks had involved others. The development in those stocks in themselves was recognized to be not of first importance. The collapse of their prices naturally reduced the basis of credits which had been acquired on the fletitious and manipulative valuation, but it did not appear that the local money market had been their credits. Neither had the daznling rise in the prices for these securities attracted any great speculative following. The trouble was thus localized within a comparatively small circle of immediate participants in the speculation. This was soon demonstrated by the movement of the general market and the absence of financial trouble in other quarters. There was the fear that the same results must be faced of similar operations of other pools in various specialties and even of manipulative advances in standard railroad stocks; but the readiness with which offerings were absorbed quicted the nervous excitement and induced some buying back of stocks by hasty sellers. In fact the day's net losses are found to be quite misginificant as a rule and not a few important stocks closed higher than Saturday. T Wall Street Review.
