RAILROAD OFFICE CORPS ARE SUSPENDED

Ontario and Western Company Sends Home Its Clerks at Mayfield Yard Until Further Notice-The D. & H. to Do Likewise-Merchants Will Not Refuse Credit During the

The numerous offices of the Ontario and Western company at Mayfield yard are all but deserted. Of all the force there, none is at work but the heads of departments, perhaps a half-dozen.

The enforced vacation took place yes terday, when the clerks were notified that there would be no work for them until further notice. While the notice was depressing, it was not a surprise. What work remained after the strike was declared was cleared away on Saturday. As no trains are moving on the there is nothing to engage the clerks. Hence their suspension.

The coal inspectors of the company are included in the order, as there is no effort being made to operate even the several washeries which the Ontario and Western controls between here and Scranton.

It might be said that only a handful hands at Mayi been laid off. In all, clerks, shop hands and trainmen, there are over 200 men out of work on the Ontario and West-

The Eric has laid off its office help. This order, however, does not affect so many as the Ontario and Western. The Delaware and Hudson has not issued a suspension order, but it is looked for almost any day this week, The clerks are now getting their work up to date, which will take only a few days. After this, there will be nothing to do, save for some of the clerks in the freight office, and the company will be certain not to carry any unemployed help on its pay rolls. During the last coal strike, the Delaware and Hudson clerks were not suspended, but those in the Ontario and Western offices were. The work in the repair shops of the Delaware and Hudson is necessarily slackening, with the consequence that an order has been issued laying the employes off for the last three days of this week. It is not known whether the suspension will be made indefinite.

The enforced idleness of the several hundred men in Carbondale, and the fear that it may continue for a long period, has stirred them to seek em ployment in other fields beyond the influence of the anthracite strike. Since, and even before, the strike numerous young men began casting about for appointments that would provide for them in the event of the blight of a strike in this region. Some have been success. ful, and if the prospects of a prolonged lock-out grow, there is likely to be a lively exodus of young Carbondale men, appreciably greater than after the abandonment of the gravity road of the Delaware and Hudson.

Merchants Will Give Credit. The merchants of Carbondale will not cease giving credit to their customers during the strike, unless the jobbers should refuse to allow credit for what goods the merchants buy. This was decided at the meeting of the Marabours, Protective association, The - question - was a thoroughly canvassed, and the united sentiment was merchants continue during the strike as before, namely, to give credit to whomever in their judgment was enon the wholesale men dealing likewise with the Carbondale merchants.

The chief factor in the merchants arriving at this decision was that the miners from this city did not want a strike. They sent four delegates who were opposed to a strike and four who were instructed to follow President Mitchell's advice. The strike was not of the making of the Carbondale men; it was only unfortunate that their March." The programme in the hall wishes did not prevail.

The local merchants say they have not felt the effects of the strike, as yet. Business was as good as usual Saturday night and there was the ordinary volume yesterday. The buying now is from the money made the past month, or saved now and then in anticipation of a strike. It will be a couple of weeks before the receipts of the cash drawer will show there is a strike.

STRIKE CAUSES CHANGES.

Four Young Men Leave Carbondale for Other Fields.

The miners strike is causing some hanges among the young men of the town, many of whom are being forced to seek other positions.

The first to leave the city by reason f enforced idleness are Charles J. Mahoney and Robert Schoonover. Both were employed in the cigar factory of P. J. Collins, as elgar makers. Or Saturday night they suspended work and vesterday they left for the East, intending to locate in Boston, Mass.,

ment at their trade are bright. Mr Mahoney and Mr. Schoonover made themselves exceedingly popular among a wide circle of friends in Carbondale, since locating here, former is from Binghamton and the latter from Honesdale. Eoth are fore-most among the members of the Cenennial Social club, Mr. Mahoney having been treasurer. Mr. Schoonover was consplcuous in local athletics. He played with the Indian foot ball team and has won prizes in athletic contests. Their departure will be regretted by a host of well-wishing friends Thomas Joyce and Casper Benson who likewise leave many friends behind in Carbondale, departed last evening for Chleago, where positions await them. Both were Delaware & Hudson

A SOURCE OF DANGER.

This Is How Citizens Regard Removal of Gate-tender at Lookout Crossing of D. & H .- Will Petition Councils to Keep Man There. The property owners in the vicinity of Lookout crossing of the Delaware & Hudson are aroused over the order road, no coal being transported, all the of the railroad people of a few days collieries, washeries, etc., being closed, ago, removing Edward Kenworthy, the man who lowered and raised the safety gates at this point, and transferring him to another place down the valley The crossing is now without the pro tection that the citizens feel their safety demands and their voices are making a chorus of vigorous protests against what they denounce as a source of great danger. These protests of men are at work on this division of The Tribune has been informed of by the Ontario and Western. As the road residents of the vicinity of the crossing is practically tied up, few cars moving will be voiced in a petition to councils and engines being lined up in the yard, asking that the Delaware & Hudson company, be directed to maintain man in the signal tower in place of Kenworthy whose station has changed The operator in the tower is supposed to do the work, but the complaining residents say that his dutie will not permit him to give the gates the attention they call for. He is obliged to report the passing of trains, taking their number, etc., which takes his time and attention. Half the time he has no opportunity to lower the gates. This condition prevailed, they declare, duing the last strike, The gateman was temporarily removed, as now and several times a day, it is claimed, no gates were lowered; the crossing was unguarded and teamsters or persons could rush unchecked int the path of danger. It is the purpose to prevent a repetition of these dangers and the steps for the presentation of the petition are now under way. The Lookout crossing is extremely dangerous. Fourteen passenger trains on the main line pass the crossing each way every day, and four each way on the Honesdale branch. Besides there are scores of coal and freight trains, though the coal trains are not running these days. As the passenger trains fly past at top speed, almost, and the roadway over the crossing is traveled constantly, there is grave concern over the lack of protection that it is claimed exists,

The Close of the Scason

There will be a fitting close to the heatrical season in Carbondale with the presentation of Augustus Thomas' "Arizona" at the Grand on Saturday.
"Arizona" is a play that has met with popular approval because of the picturesque types it so faitfully presents. The play is a greater educator, for it presents a true picture of picturesque part of our country th wilds of Arizona, in a manner that could not be possible through the use of a roomful of histories. The play is so splendidly staged that it will b a treat to Carbondalians. "The Bonnie Brier Bush,' 'it will rank as the best production ever booked for Carbondale,

Mayfield Man Creates Disturbance.

WANTS AN OPINION ABOUT WATER BONDS

Common Council After Protracted Discussion Postpones Passing Ordinance for Repeal of Municipal Water Plant Bonds Until City Solicitor Gives His Opinion-Both Councils Meet.

The municipal water question in Carcondale bids fair to lead to interminable discussion. There was another phase of the project ventilated in common counell last night until some of the memwhere the prospects of steady employbers spoke twice or more during the close debate.

The protracted discussion was pro voked by the reporting of the ordinance repealing the bond issue of $143,000 which Mr. Stone introduced at the last meeting of Common council. Some members of council want the bonds repealed in order that money may be procured for the liquidation of even ome of the city's expenses, which are piling up like a hay stack in the midst of a field of hay makers in harvest lime. Other councilmen believe that the bonds should be left undisturbed until the injunction sult be fully disposed of by the lower court. ouncil for the city shares in this view, that the bonds should be untouched until the supreme court either affirms or over rules Judge Halsey's opinion.

The opinions were plainly expressed last night and in making a fight for postponing action those who were op-posed to disposing of the matter now, ought for a postponment until the city olicitor's written opinion as to the egularity of either course be obtained. This side led by Mr. Nealon was sucessful. Action was postponed until City Solicitor Stuart could present a written opinion. This resolution of course is subject to the action of select

In the discussion Messrs, Nealon, Whitfield and Hobbs opposed imnediate action, while Messrs. Stone, Thompson, Masters and Salem argued in favor of repealing the bonds in order o relieve the city's finances. Subsejuently Mr. Salem inclined to the other side and it was his anotion to postpone action that prevailed.

The other important matter of counil was the passage on two readings of Chairman Masters ordinance for addiional are lights.

The other business of the session were the adoption of the following resolutions: Ry Mr city water be turned on in the drinking fountains and in Memorial park

The mother of two young sons considered if her duty to start them in the way they should travel through life. Therefore she was doing her best to make the wine cup a thing to be bhorred. To this end she belonged to the Good Templars, the W. C. T. U. and any other temperance organization she could discover. also ceased not, day or night, to preach her he-lief to her boys and also to announce it from various lecture platforms. She really was a tem-perance advocate.

In the course of time a third son was added to the family. A day or two after the event a friend of the family stopped the 10-year-old boy to inquire into his opinion of his new "So you have got a baby brother down at
