A NUPTIAL SURPRISE.

Miss Nellie Lynott of the West Side and Homer Van Gorder Wedded in Windsor, N. Y., Last September. The Pleasant News Made Known Yesterday.

There seems no end to nuptial surprises in Carbondale which have followed closely upon each other the past six months.

The latest surprise of this character was yesterday, when the news leaked out of the marriage of the daughter and son of two well known families of Carbondale, Miss Nellie Lynott, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lynott, of the West Side and Homer Van Gorder, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Van Gorder, of Toronto street.

The wedding took place last September when Carbondale was beginning to celebrate her golden jubilee. On Monday, September 2, they quietly withdrew from the festivities to Windsor, N. Y., where the ceremony that united their young lives was solemnized. They returned to Carbondale in the evening, but kept the news of the union a secret until a few days ago, when it was announced to the families. This interesting announcement will be eagerly received among the young people of the town as the parties are completely new to their social sets and have hosts of admirers.

Mr. Van Gorder has been an efficient employee for the Carbondale Telephone company until a few weeks ago when he resigned to accept an advanced position with the Interstate Telephone company at Trenton, N. J., one which offers opportunities to satisfy his ambition to rise.

Mrs. Van Gorder has a sunny disposition which readily wins friends. They will probably be the next to reside in Trenton, but not for some weeks. Mr. Van Gorder is home in Carbondale for a few days.

ABOUT GENERAL GORDON.

Carbondalians Who Met the Distinguished Southerner.

Carbondalians who last winter met General John B. Gordon, that grand old man, the distinguished and venerated son of the South, on the occasion of his lecture at the Grand, during the Smith-Singer course, will read with pleasure the following interesting bit of news, taken from the Birmingham, Alabama, News, and join in the felicitations of the event.

The News says: "John B. Gordon, over his protestations, has again been unanimously elected commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans. In war there was none more courageous and more chivalrous. In peace he has striven, while tenderly true to the heroic memories of the great struggle in which he distinguished himself, to bring into close harmony and more fraternal union those who wore the blue and those who wore the gray. His eloquence has touched many hearts whose bitterness was raging to gentle resignation and kindly feelings. His own example has led to emulation many thousands upon either side of Mason and Dixon's line. In all efforts for greater peace and good-will among his countrymen there has been no trace of subservience and no yielding of self-respect. His attempts to bring about a thorough reconciliation are but the expression of a brave and generous heart and a broad-minded patriotism. John B. Gordon has played his part well in life's drama. His re-election by his devoted fellow-heroes will be applauded."

"BLUE MONDAY."

No Use for it Any More.

"How good food put a good minister on his feet again is an interesting story. He says, 'A. His more than a year ago I contracted the use of Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. At that time I had been suffering from dyspepsia for about five years. I had tried all the remedies my friends told me about but with no permanent relief. My Sabbath duties at that time nearly prostrated me and the following day I was of no use to myself or to anyone else.

After beginning the food a change began to take place and gradually the dyspepsia and disturbance left me. Now I have gained twenty pounds and am free from stomach troubles that I suffered so long from.

I can do twice the amount of work with ease, as well all of the time, and naturally sing the praises of the delicious food that has put me right. I am perfectly willing to have my name appear as endorsing your excellent food for I know from personal experience of its value.' L. B. Danforth, pastor of the First M. E. church, Haverhill, Mass.

E. J. Winn Had a Narrow Escape While Working at the Sedgwick Machine Works. The Account as He Gave it to a Reporter.

E. J. Winn, a machinist in the employ of the Sedgwick machine works, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., had a narrow escape, but saved himself by his own efforts. He told this story to a reporter as follows:

"I had been working here for eleven years," he said, "without even a week's time to spend in rest. It was all right till a year ago when I began to lose flesh and to experience a severe pain in the right side. My appetite was fair but I could eat only the plainest of food and not heartily of that. My weight was reduced to 118 pounds.

"Besides the pain which was very sharp at times, I could not stoop over without being dizzy when I stood erect again, and my blood was thin and watery. I employed physicians, I did not obtain any material relief and, as a friend suggested that I should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I did so.

"The result is very evident. I noticed a little improvement by the time the first box had been taken. I persisted, and continued till four boxes had been taken. This was about a year ago. I have had no return of the trouble; I am back at my normal weight of 132 pounds, and my blood is as rich as ever. If anything I can say about the remedy will do any good to others who are afflicted as I was, I am glad to say it, for there is no doubt that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cured me."

A SUDDEN DEATH.
Mrs. May Belle Cramer, Wife of Merchant Louis Cramer Unexpectedly Called Hence.

A sudden summons to depart this life came to Mrs. May Belle Cramer, wife of Merchant Louis W. Cramer, at her home on Laurel street, yesterday forenoon.

Mrs. Cramer was taken on Monday with what was supposed to be a mild attack of grip. However, Wednesday afternoon she sat on the porch of the residence and yesterday she was about the house feeling so comfortable and cheerful that Mr. Cramer had no hesitancy in going to his store on Salem avenue. About 10 o'clock she collapsed. Dr. D. L. Bailey was hurriedly summoned, but he was at Mrs. Cramer's bedside only a few minutes before she expired. Heart failure is ascribed as the cause of death. Mr. Cramer reached home after his wife had passed away.

The news of Mrs. Cramer's sudden and unexpected death sent a thrill of sorrow through the wide circle of friends to whom she was endeared by her beautiful traits of character. The news was likewise received with sadness and gloom throughout the community, for Mrs. Cramer's gentle influence was widespread.

The deceased, who was Miss May Belle Fuller, only daughter of John and Lizzie I. Fuller, the latter of whom survives, was born in Carbondale twenty-five years ago and lived here continuously, with the exception of a few years spent in Nicholson and in Jersey. She was graduated from the Carbondale High school in the class of '89, and taught school for several years, achieving an enviable record of efficiency. Mrs. Cramer was a member of the Berean Baptist church and exerted an effective influence in the Sunday school, particularly in which she labored with characteristic zeal and unselfishness.

Mrs. Cramer was wedded on April 27, 1898, to Louis Cramer at their new home in Jersey, by the venerable Rev. W. B. Grow, of this city. Besides Mr. Cramer, one child, Leland Russell, aged six months, survives; also Mrs. Cramer's mother, Mrs. Lizzie I. Fuller.

THE BREWERY TROUBLE.
It Was Over the Employment of Certain Union Hands.

There is some misapprehension as to the labor trouble at the new plant of the Fall Brewing company, in Jersey. The story that was widely circulated that Contractor O'Neill, of Scranton, who has the contract for the erection of the structural iron, wanted to employ non-union help and for this reason President Krantz stopped the work in favor of union help, and that Mr. O'Neill had abandoned the contract. The trouble, however, did not arise from the employment of non-union hands, nor has Contractor O'Neill given up the work. He endeavored to and did employ non-union help, but was not in a class of men who work on structural iron that was engaged. Men, other than structural iron workers, were engaged, and at wages that, while they accorded with the class of labor employed, were not the same as that the iron workers would receive. The objection, therefore, it will be seen, was to the employment of men from other trades union than the iron workers, who, the American Federation of Labor officers in this district insist, are the only ones who were qualified under the union rules to do the work. In other words, the iron workers were being discriminated against by the employment of men from other trades unions, at lower wages, and who were qualified to do this class of work.

On Thursday the American Federation of Labor organizer from Carbondale had a conference with Contractor O'Neill in Scranton. While no positive agreement was reached, it is likely that the matter will be adjusted, and none but structural iron workers will be engaged to do the work.

CLOSE OF THE SEASON.
"Arizona" Will Be the Event of the Dramatic Year.

The close of the dramatic season in Carbondale will occur this evening when Augustus Thomas' "Arizona" will be given an elaborate production at the Grand.

Manager Byrne was exceedingly fortunate in securing this attraction for no better offering could be provided for Carbondalians, as the close of what has, under the circumstances, been a successful season. "Arizona" ranks with "The Bonnie Brier Bush" and is under the same management. Of course the acting of J. H. Stoddard will not be realized in this production, but it can be safely said that the evening will not be a whit less enjoyable. The rest of the company is made up of capable actors as we saw in "The Bonnie Brier Bush." The principle suggestion that "Arizona" is in the same class as "The Bonnie Brier Bush" is of itself an assurance of a rare dramatic treat.

The sale of seats so far indicates a good house, but some of the choicest remain, which can be safely procured before 6 o'clock this evening.

Well Situated in Rochester.

Edward Coddington, who left here last week for Rochester, N. Y., is well situated in the new building, an agency with the Prudential Insurance company in a promising field. Mr. Coddington left behind him in Carbondale a legion of friends whose best wishes go out to him.

Miss Emma Van Buskirk, who has been spending the past fortnight in Scranton, will return on Saturday.

BALD MOUNT.
The weather of the past few days of May will certainly compare most favorably with the "rare, perfect days" of the winter hereabouts. The rain of Monday fell like a benediction upon crops and pasture lands, for they were giving their owners serious apprehension as to the effect of the very dry weather. Everything is now, however, in fresh and bright, and fruit and seeding seem promising.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will hold the Children's day exercises in June. The exact date has not yet been decided.

Mrs. A. J. Colborn, Jr., of Scranton, and Mrs. J. A. Taylor, of Springfield, O., were guests at the Van Buskirk home on Thursday.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.
Yesterday was Patrons' day at the public schools, a day in which the parents of scholars and friends of education are given an opportunity to inspect the work of the pupils throughout the entire school. It is a matter of gratification that this year many availed themselves of the privilege and those who did were well repaid, and in many instances surprised, at the good work even of their own children. The exhibition, which comprised the whole studies, was, with very few exceptions, very neat and accurate, and in the matter of writing every room showed a marked improvement. One of the pleasant surprises of the whole exhibition was the neat and well-written exercises of the children of the primary room, and taking into consideration the ages of these children the specimens shown were remarkable. The blackboard drawings of some of the little boys in rooms 5, 7 and 8 were also exceedingly good. In room 9 the relief modeling exhibit, which is something new, was much admired. The free-hand drawings in room 10 were highly commendable, while in room 11 the production maps, upon which was placed every state and territory of the country, a specimen of its principal production, was very much commended. The exhibit in this room, as well as room 12, was most interesting, the philosophy papers and drawings, the geometry specimens and botanical work in the latter being prominent features. On the whole, the teachers and scholars have reason to be well pleased at yesterday's success.

WOMAN'S POWER.
Perfection of Form, Feature, and Mind Render Women All-Powerful. Health, However, the Greatest Charm.

Woman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of features.

The snap and spirit which health gives to the eye, the movement and the speech are full of magnetism.

Sickly women can't understand this. They only know that they are miserable, and their efforts to be attractive are languid and weak.

Woman's influence in the world is limited by her strength, and the strength of health is real strength.

It brings with it beauty and grace and loveliness of disposition.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. If she would be all she may, she must guard well against the signs of ill health.

Regular and painless menstruation is absolutely necessary.

The help which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gives to women who are attacked by any disorder of the feminine organism is real, permanent help. It cures all weaknesses of the organs and makes it possible for women to retain their health and beauty to maturity.

Mrs. Pinkham advises women who are ill free of cost. Address her at Lynn, Mass. Thousands owe their health to her.

BALD MOUNT.
The weather of the past few days of May will certainly compare most favorably with the "rare, perfect days" of the winter hereabouts. The rain of Monday fell like a benediction upon crops and pasture lands, for they were giving their owners serious apprehension as to the effect of the very dry weather. Everything is now, however, in fresh and bright, and fruit and seeding seem promising.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will hold the Children's day exercises in June. The exact date has not yet been decided.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.
Yesterday was Patrons' day at the public schools, a day in which the parents of scholars and friends of education are given an opportunity to inspect the work of the pupils throughout the entire school. It is a matter of gratification that this year many availed themselves of the privilege and those who did were well repaid, and in many instances surprised, at the good work even of their own children. The exhibition, which comprised the whole studies, was, with very few exceptions, very neat and accurate, and in the matter of writing every room showed a marked improvement. One of the pleasant surprises of the whole exhibition was the neat and well-written exercises of the children of the primary room, and taking into consideration the ages of these children the specimens shown were remarkable. The blackboard drawings of some of the little boys in rooms 5, 7 and 8 were also exceedingly good. In room 9 the relief modeling exhibit, which is something new, was much admired. The free-hand drawings in room 10 were highly commendable, while in room 11 the production maps, upon which was placed every state and
