

NO CHANGE IN THE SITUATION

MINERS' STRIKE DEVOID OF NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

A Few More Firemen Join the Banks of the Strikers, but Quite as Many Who Were Already on Strike Return to Work—District President Nicholls Claims That Ninety Per Cent. of the Men Are Out—Coal Companies Say the Mines Are Not in Danger.

Yesterday saw no local developments of note in the coal strike situation and there was a continuance of the quiet and order which has thus far characterized the conflict in this region.

The strikers succeeded in inducing a number of men to join their ranks, by working on them at their homes and in one instance by marching in a body to where they were employed.

This latter incident occurred at the "Notch" yesterday morning. T. B. Howe and small company of investors purchased a culm dump at the Notch to make practical tests of the efficiency of the Howe patent sand drier as a culm cleaner. Only a few men were employed in its operation. The product was sold to farmers returning from Scranton to the Clark's Summit region.

A body of strikers marched to the place yesterday morning and called on the men to quit work. After some parleying the men quit.

Kearney & Co. were operating a dry culm cleaner at Dunmore, employing about a dozen hands. Yesterday they failed to appear for work. The strikers had waited on them at their homes and succeeded in getting them to remain away from work.

TEN MORE QUIT.

Ten firemen, representing the whole force at the Cayuga and Brisblin collieries of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, joined the ranks of the strikers yesterday. Their places were filled temporarily by bosses and other salaried employees. Today, according to Superintendent Phillips, these latter will be relieved by regular firemen who went on strike, but have returned to work. Eighteen men who went on strike Monday are to go back to work today, Mr. Phillips says.

The report that the firemen at the Storrs colliery were to quit work yesterday, proved to be unfounded.

District President Nicholls, of the United Mine Workers, stated yesterday that there are 1,850 engineers, firemen and pump-runners in his district and that fully ninety per cent. of them are on strike.

GAVE NO FIGURES.

None of the coal company superintendents could give any figures, but each claimed that his particular company was not suffering for want of men. They declare that not a single mine in this region is even threatened with being flooded.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company operated its Diamond washery yesterday. The different washeries will be operated on their turn, so as to keep up the full supply for the various collieries.

There has been no disturbances as yet reported in this region. Here and there in isolated communities men going to and coming from work are hooted and threatened, but no one attempts any violent molestations.

Upwards of two hundred mine workers, mostly pump-runners, firemen and engineers, held a meeting in Jayne's hall, on Jackson street, last evening, where they were addressed by District President Thomas D. Nicholls.

The purpose of the meeting was to solidify the men now out on strike, and devise ways and means to obtain reinforcements from among the men who are still at work in and around the mines. Reports were received from the various collieries, and all seemed encouraged from the outlook.

PLANS DISCUSSED.

Plans were discussed to keep the men together, and to secure others to join them. An early adjournment was made, for the purpose of calling another meeting next Monday afternoon in St. David's hall, if the place can be secured.

About 25 of the men held another meeting afterwards at 110 South Main avenue, and discussed the advisability of returning to work. There was a division of sentiment among them, but no agreement was reached. It is possible that a few of them will return to work today. Some of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western superintendents assert that full crews are at work at a number of the mines.
