

WEST SCRANTON

Joseph Green, an Eight-Year-Old Boy, Accidentally Shot His Sister with a Revolver. Funerals, Accidents—Other Notes.

A most distressing accident occurred yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Green, at 53 North Sumner avenue, when their 8-year-old son, Joseph, accidentally shot his sister, Romaine, aged 6 years.

The family were moving their household goods into an adjoining house, and the little fellow found a revolver in a bureau drawer. In handling the weapon, he accidentally discharged it, the bullet lodging in the girl's breast. She was standing in front of him when the shot was fired.

The injured child was removed to her home, and Dr. L. H. Gibbs summoned. The child remained conscious, and suffered but little pain from the injury, but the chances are that it will result fatally.

Last evening Dr. Price took an X-ray picture which showed that the bullet was lodged in the back close to the vertebrae. She was then taken to the Lackawanna hospital where Dr. Burns and Allen close up an artery that had been severed by the bullet and made the girl as comfortable as possible. It was deemed inadvisable to try and remove the bullet at this time.

WE KNOW WHAT

Is going to happen to the little boy who is stuffing himself with green apples. A grown man couldn't be induced to try that experiment; and yet the grown man will overload himself with indigestible food for which he will pay a greater penalty than colic. It is this careless and thoughtless eating which is the beginning of stomach trouble and all its painful consequences. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other forms of stomach trouble. It restores the weak and run-down man or woman to sound health.

ELEVEN WERE HANDED DOWN

UNHAPPY COUPLES ARE FREED BY THE COURTS.

In Eight of the Cases Women Were the Applicants for the Divorces, and the Ground in Almost Every Case Was Abuse and Desertion. End of Argument Court-Court Adjourns Until the Midsummer Motion Day—Marriage Licenses. Court House News Notes.

Court before adjourning for the summer vacation yesterday handed down decrees in divorces in eleven cases. Those decreed were: Louisa Kittle from Harry E. L. Kittle, Gwendolin Bennett from O. H. Bennett, Adon W. Cramer from Elizabeth Cramer, Florence Smith from Edwin W. Smith, Philip Roll from Agnes J. Roll, Philomena Christ from Simon Christ, Maggie Harris from Fuller Harris, Frances E. Simpson from William J. Simpson, Olive Pledgeman from Frederick Pledgeman, Thomas Rowlands from Elizabeth Rowlands, Elizabeth Kreiger from August W. Kreiger.

Mrs. Kittle was granted her divorce on the ground of desertion. They were married in July, 1885, at Wilkes-Barre and she now resides at Schuylville, this county. He did not support her adequately and after two years of married life he deserted her. Gwendolin Bennett and O. H. Bennett were married Dec. 4, 1901, by Rev. William Davis of the Welsh C. M. church, of Bellevue. From the day of their marriage he was abusive to her and after three weeks of married life he left her. During that period he frequently remained away from home all night. They made their home with Mrs. Bennett's sister, Mrs. John Davis, Adon W. Cramer who lives at Wimmers was deserted by his wife Elizabeth E. Cramer who went to Cortland, N. Y. with her two children to live with a man named Sampson. The Cramers were married Sept. 30, 1885, at Hollister-ville, Wayne county. The children are now with their father.

Mrs. Florence Smith was married to Edwin W. Smith on Nov. 20, 1876, at Princeton, Washington county, Maine. In 1901 they lived at 1252 Sanderson avenue, Green Ridge, and Smith formed the acquaintance of Miss Kennivan, a trained nurse, who had rooms at Mulberry street and Franklin avenue. He courted her under the name of Burton. In April, 1901, Mrs. Smith went to Boston to visit relatives, during her absence Miss Kennivan was installed in the house as housekeeper. June 21 following Smith eloped with Miss Kennivan and they went to Havana, Cuba. Philip W. Roll married Agnes J. Roll, from whom he was yesterday divorced, on May 10, 1890. She had previously been divorced from "Sammy" McWilliams. The Rolls had trouble almost from the time of their marriage and she left him a number of times. She has not lived with him now for two years. Philomena Christ and Simon Christ were married in 1895 by Alderman Storr and three years later her husband left her. She has not seen him since. Maggie Harris and Fuller Harris were wedded in Binghamton in May, 1892, and four months later Harris deserted his wife and has not lived with her since. She now lives at 424 Madison avenue, Harris' whereabouts are unknown. On Feb. 13, 1887, Frances S. Simpson and William J. Simpson were married and lived in Dunmore for thirty years. They separated in January, 1899, because Simpson drank heavily and failed to support his wife. He now lives in Moose.

In the case of Olive Pledgeman against Frederick Pledgeman, who was married April 27, 1899, in Waverly, N. Y., the cause of their troubles is set forth to some extent by the following except from Mrs. Pledgeman's testimony: "What was the first trouble?" "He got drunk and abused me." "When was that?" "The Fourth of July." "What did he do to you at that time?" "He got drunk and went to singing blackguard songs between 12 and 1 o'clock at night. He said, 'Were you in bed?' 'Yes sir.' 'What did he do?' 'He rose up and slapped my ears because I would not listen to his blackguard songs.' 'Dirty songs were they?' 'Yes sir.' She also testified that he locked her out of the house one night and nailed the doors and windows so that she could not get in. He proposed to her on one occasion that they open a house of ill-fame. After one of the beatings he gave her she had him arrested and on Aug. 29, 1900, she left him. She is earning a living as a servant. He resides at Dunmore.

Thomas Rowlands was granted a divorce for the reason that at the time he married Elizabeth Rowlands, July 18, 1884, before that and since she was the common law wife of her step-father, John Davis. She is the mother of three of the latter's children. Elizabeth Kreiger and August W. Kreiger were made man and wife Oct. 3, 1890, in this city.
