

WEST SCRANTON

Rev. J. F. Murphy's First Mass at St. Patrick's Church—Children's Day Exercises in the Churches.

Rev. Joseph F. Murphy, of this city, who was ordained to the Roman Catholic priesthood at the cathedral of Baltimore, by Cardinal Gibbons, on Saturday morning at 10.30 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, where as a boy and a young man he worshipped in that faith, in which he is now sanctified to perpetuate its doctrines and teachings.

The great auditorium of the church was thronged with relatives and friends of the young priest. The reading of a first mass is eagerly looked forward to by all. By the priest himself, because it means the culmination of his hopes and labors as a student, and the relatives because of the honor attached to having one near to them an active, zealous worker in the cause of Christ.

The reading of a first mass is a trying ordeal to a young priest. Father Murphy's first mass was a solemn high mass. The priest who testified to save men's souls, at these exercises, were not so much to the people as to the priest himself. He asked the congregation to pray for his priest, who, he said, is only human and who are open to just the same temptations as the layman, only in a greatly intensified form.

He referred to that other missionary that St. Patrick's congregation has furnished to the society of St. Joseph—Rev. Daniel McCaffery. Father McCaffery, he said, had received the missionaries' reward, a seat in heaven, and Father Murphy has come to take his place on earth.

After the mass, Father Murphy gave his blessing to the congregation. His gray-haired, aged mother was the first to receive the blessing of her son. At the conclusion of the words of blessing, Father Murphy bowed down and lovingly kissed his mother, while she wept tears of joy.

Father Murphy is the son of Mrs. Alice Murphy, of 331 Jackson street. Before entering college to study for the priesthood, he was engaged as a printer on several of the local newspapers. He was very well known throughout the city, and all admired him for his piety and many qualities. Father Murphy was educated in Epiphany college, Baltimore, and received his seminary training in St. Joseph's seminary, in the same city. Saturday he, with a number of other students, including Father Dorsey, the second colored man ever elevated to the priesthood in the United States, were ordained in Baltimore by the cardinal.

Father Murphy will remain in this city for a few days and will then go as an assistant at St. Joseph's Industrial school, at Clayton, Delaware. His field of labor will be among the colored people.

Children's Day Exercises.

Three more of the West Scranton churches observed Children's day yesterday, and the programmes given were in keeping with the spirit of the occasion. The usual floral decorations were in evidence, and each service attracted the parents in large numbers. The exercises were held in the morning at the Bellevue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church, and in the evening at the Tabernacle Congregational church, on South Hyde Park avenue, and the Summer Avenue Presbyterian church.

The cantata, "The Garden of Eden," was sung at the Bellevue church, and the numerous choruses, solos, etc., were heartily sung by the little ones in a pleasing manner. The various recitations were also given with much feeling and spirit. Short addresses were made by the superintendent of the Sunday school and the pastor, Rev. William Davies. The primary pupils also took a leading part in the exercises.

A number of pleasing features were introduced in the programme at the Summer avenue church, notably the transformation exercise, by twelve little girls. B. Davies was in charge, assisted by the organist, Miss Laura Hall. The solos and recitations were acceptably rendered by Marian Anderson, Annie Davies, Katie McDonald, Margaret Mayo, Margaret Jones, Willie Anderson, Annie Price, Ella Hufford, Lottie Emil, Jennie Gilbert, Bessie Davies, John Armstrong, Agnes Anderson, and others. Bezael Brown, superintendent of the school, made an address to the children.

The children of the Tabernacle church, under the direction of Hugh Jones, sang the cantata, "Life's Sunny Days," which was one of the best performances they have ever given. The various choruses and individual numbers were exceedingly pretty, and were rendered faultlessly. The address of welcome was made by Miss Margaret Reese, and the primary scholars took an active part in the exercises. The recitations were given by Edith Chapin, Mae Jones, Gladys Walters, An-

Among the Churches.

At the Jackson street Baptist church last evening, the pastor, Rev. Thomas deGruchy, D. D., delivered a short address on the subject, "The True Elements of Success," and at the close an illustrated praise service was held, in which the choir and orchestra participated. The hymns were thrown on the canvas by the aid of a stereopticon.

The morning topic of Rev. H. C. McDermott's discourse at the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church yesterday was "The New Creature in Christ." In the evening a Chautauqua vesper service was held. It proved to be a pleasing innovation.

The congregation of the Chestnut street German Presbyterian church were treated to an English discourse last evening by the pastor, Rev. Jacob Schoettle, on the subject, "What Should Be Man's Greatest Concern in Life?" The effort was an able one, and was appreciated by a large assemblage.

The usual services were held at the First Baptist church yesterday under the direction of the pastor, Rev. S. F. Matthews.

Rev. John P. Moffat took up the subject of "Marriage vs. Divorce—the Cause and Cure for the Latter," at the Washburn street Presbyterian church last evening.

Rev. W. G. Jenkins, of Pontypridd, South Wales, preached at the Plymouth Congregational church yesterday morning and evening to large congregations. Both sermons were able efforts.

The members of the Salvation Army conducted an open air meeting at Nay Aug Park yesterday afternoon, and attracted a large following. The new officers of the corps were in charge.

At St. Mark's Lutheran church yesterday, the pastor, Rev. A. L. Ramer, discoursed on the subjects of "Precepts for Christian Conduct," and "Children of the Heavenly Father." His sermons are always interesting and instructive.

Three Funerals.

Services over the remains of the late John J. Cawley were conducted at St. Patrick's Catholic church Saturday morning, and were attended by many friends of the deceased. A requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. J. J. Dunn, who also preached the sermon. A large delegation from the Capouse colliery, of which Mr. Cawley was outside foreman for many years, were in attendance. The floral offerings were numerous. The pall-bearers were Rev. John Cummings, John Campbell, John Brennan, Anthony Conwell, James Kearney and John McDermott. The flower-bearers were Dennis O'Hara, Thomas Heffernan, Peter Cosgrove and P. J. McGuire. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Davis occurred on Saturday afternoon from the deceased's late home on South Main avenue. Services were conducted at the First Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. D. D. Hopkins, where a large circle of friends gathered to pay their respects. The funeral was held in the Washburn street cemetery. The Union lodge of Masons were in charge of the funeral of the late Willard Lanning yesterday afternoon, and Rev. John P. Moffat, D. D., conducted the service at the house, corner of North Hyde Park avenue and Schlager boulevard. Delegations were also present from Lackawanna council, Royal Arcanum, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Knights of Malta, and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Mutual Aid. Funeral Director Price attended the details. The interment was made in the Forest Hill cemetery.

The pall-bearers and flower-bearers were Frank Hagen, Griffith T. Davis, John R. Troch, Van Oram, Sidney Nears, S. H. Deacon, Judson Long, John Garrigan and H. F. Williams.
