THE MARKETS

Wall Street Review.

New York, June 25.—Today's market was still duller than that of yesterday and except for the large dealings in St. Paul and the considerable activity in Missouri Pacific and Amalgamated, there was almost nothing worthy of note. The approach of the month's end, which is also the end of the fiscal years for many corporations, and the extra requirements upon the money market incident to the period were undoubtedly an important factor in repressing activity. The feature of the day was the demand for St. Paul, resulting in an extreme rise of nearly 2 points. The movement was ostensibly based upon the good reports of spring wheat prospects. St. Paul was the real sustaining force of the market, although there was a collateral movement in Missouri Pacific. The announcement of the contract between the Pennsylvania rallroad and the Postal Telegraph company for the use of the former's rights of way seemed to have a depressing effect on some of the Gould stocks in sympathy with the decline of 1% in Western Union. There was some strength in Amalgamated Copper without any news bearing on trade conditions to explain the buying. The Coalers were almost entirely neglected and Reading closed the day with a small loss. The coal operators have issued denial to rumors of conciliation with the miners and of arrangements for the early reopening of the mines. The order for the curtaliment of mining in Western Pennsylvania bituminous mines was reported in force today. The May statement of earnings of Erie and New York, Ontario and Western showed the effects of the strike in large decreases in earnings. The Chesapeake and Ohio statement for the third week in June showed the same force at work to lessen the earnings. The Chesapeake and Ohio statement for the third week in June showed the same force at work to lessen the earnings. The Chesapeake and Ohio statement for the third week in June showed the same force at work to lessen the earning power of the Virginia and West Virginia coal carriers. The market closed duil and heavy, but gener
