THREATEN TO OUST JUSTICE FROM OFFICE

Squire Daniel M. Lynch, of Simpson, Asked for Damages by Overseers Michael McLaughlin and Michael Snee, to Be Followed, It Is Threatened, by Steps for His Impeachment-False Arrest and Commitment to Jail Alleged. Story of the Trouble.

Across the city line in Fell township, where there has been many a crossing of swords between office-holders, there is another meeting of arms, which has resulted in Justice of the Peace Daniel 31. Lynch being brought face to face with a civil action for damages, which, If not successful, is threatened to be followed by steps to oust the 'squire from office, on the ground that he is guilty of misdemeanor in office.

The steps against Justice Lynch are being taken by Michael McLaughlin and Michael Snee, overseers of the poor of Fell township. They claim they have been wrongly arrested and committed to fall by the 'squire, because they failed to grant relief to two persons The were considered as unworthy applicants and were refused aid by the Dveragers.

The history of the case, according to The sworn allegations of the overseers, As as follows:

A few weeks ago John Matsayltch, an applicant for relief, came to the overgeers with an application endorsed by Squire Lynch and 'Squire Holmes, as required by law. The claim of the applicant was inquired into and was deemed unworthy; the aid asked was accordingly refused. On June 18 the two overseers, McLaughlin and Snee, were arrested before Justice Lynch' charges of neglect and were held in ball. They were arrested again the next day on the same charge, on which they second time, they entered ball before Justice of the Peace Holmes, They were arrested a third time, on June 21, and when brought before Justice Lynch by Constable Healey the 'squire refused to take ball on the warrants issued on June 18 and 19, and refused to the constable to accept bail pieces for ball enbefore Justice of 'the Peace Holmes in both cases.

Justice Lynch, the overseers say, persisted in his refusal to take ball in any of the three cases, which were identical and in which ball had already been offered. The matter ended, according to the allegations of the overseers, in the justice making out a commitment of them to the county jail and delivered the same to Constable Healey, who took them into custody, despite the ball that had been already offered, and which it was ready to offer again.

There is still another allegation, equally as strong. It recites that on June 24, the day after the commitment, Justice Lynch refused to permit the overseers to see the information or the warrants in the cases, unless they paid him, the justice, for the privilege. It is some unknown reason let them free, stable Neary, at the instance of City with a copy of the complaint, which is substantially set forth above. If at the and of thirty days Justice Lynch has not redressed McLaughlin and Snec, their counsel will bring a civil action for damages. If this be unsuccessful,

HIS EVES DANCE. When His Good Drink Comes.

A coffee that will nourish and furnish all the fend required to rear a baby is evidently easy food for an adult to digest and is especially applicable where ordinary coffee does not agree, The wife of a Congregational minister gives an experience. "It is rather curious, the manner in which I came to gdept Postum for my baby. My hushand used to be troubled greatly with bilous headaches and extreme nervousness. This was about five years ago We concluded that coffee and ten were the cause of his troubles and so gave Postum Food Coffse a trial. At first we did not like it because it was not boiled long enough and seemed weak and fasteless, but after preparing it properly, and that is easy, we became very fond of it, and now can honestly say we prefer it to any coffee or tea. The old headaches and nervousness have disappeared and we both enjoy

When one of our children was a year old he would not drink milk so we tried him on Postum Coffee, and from the first he liked it and it agreed with him perfectly, so Postum has been his drink ow for over four years.

About ten months ago a baby boy anne to our house. I was, of course, the and so drank from five to eight ups of Postum during the day. This ith a little Grape-Nuts Food each day vas all the nourishment I took, and alhough the baby weighed only five me-half pounds at three months and at four months fifteen pounds. Now he then steps will be taken, it is said, and It is claimed by the overseers' counsel that Justice Lynch had no right to wear out a warrant for their arrest on charges of neglect of office. They are not amenable or answerable to a jusaction against them would have to be taken in court. The action, therefore, of the justice is declared to be without absolutely any warrant under the law This action of the justice, his alleged refusal to accept ball, and his alleged demand for money before he would allow his docket and the warrants to be seen, are regarded as grounds for his impeachment from office.

On the other hand, the charge, as in this case, that the overseers were guilty of neglect because they refused aid to the applicant, John Matsavitch, cannot be brought against the poor officers, it is claimed, because under the law, which defines their duties, they and they alone, are the sole judges as to the worthiness of an applicant. If they decide that a request for relief is not worthy, their decision stands; this is their discretion and the very purpose of their creation. The order which every applicant must have endorsed by two justices of the peace, is nothing more than a recommendation for relief and has no other virtue.

THE WOODS OF MAINE.

Enthusiastically Dilated on by Carbondalian Who Is Basking Among

Carbondallans will read with interst the following letter from one of its nost highly esteemed townsmen, Geo. . Kimball. Mr. Kimball, who is enjoying the beauties and the pleasures of the woods of Maine to the fullest degree, writes instructively and enteralningly of them, so much so that one would feel tempted to take a trip to partake of them.

Mr. Kimball, in his letter to The Tribune's Carbondale manager, says:

I have been anticipating writing you been on several lishing expeditions among the great takes of Maine, and the rap-tures of camping and fishing completely drove all thoughts of correspondence out of my mind for the time. If you will forgive my egotism I will proceed to tell you comething that I consider much to the credit of my native state. She is fast becoming the rugged play ground for those whose wholesome instincts prompt them to go directly to primal haunts of nature, her forests, streams and lakes for that help, strength and careless free-dom which she alone affords. It was while fishing on Cold Stream lake two weeks ago that some evidence of how far the reputation of Maine as a fishing ground, obtains, was afforded me. I found about three weeks ago the little fellow suddenly wenned himself much to our surprise. I tried him on cow's milk but he would not have it. I then tried a certain baby food, then another, but he would have neither. I felt very anxgreater opportunities in Maine both for hunting and fishing than in any of the middle western states, and in addition there was no danger to be faced from poisenous insects, teptiles or wild beasts within the broad lines of the state. This n it for one week. Since then he has a great consideration to the sporting fraterity, for becoming assured of this, a prefers Postum Coffee to anything without fear within the shadows of the

But what about Maine statistically? But what about Maine statists. This First, her area is 35,000 square miles. This is as large as all the rest of New Fingland. She has 8000 square miles in cultivated lands, she has 2200 square miles of vated lands, she has 2200 square miles of lakes, numbering in all about three hun-dred. This lake service would be equain extent to the states of New Jrsey and Delaware. She has 22,000 square miles or wellderness. This area would be equal to the states of New Hampshire. Ver-mont and Rhode Island, or nearly half as large as the state of Pennsylvania. It is one of the most accessible for six in the world, for more than 25 million people are within twenty-four hours of its profoundest solitudes. It is no wonder that it is becoming the sporting ground of brave and nature-loving men and women of all the United States. I tell you but the exact truth when I are that I met at exact truth when I say that I met at Moosehead lake in the tall of 1970, four Indians, (civilized and prosperous) who had come out from Colorado to bunt in Maine, This army of forest-leving people who pour into the state every year is a source of great revenue to her. The old saying used to be that the state of Maine had not amenable or answerable to a justice, even if negligent in office. They are responsible only to the court, and its profits are Maine's no longer. The remorseless greed of a New York ice trust has robbed the Maine people of this source of income, save that paid for labor. But there can be now added another source of gain; the—seventy thousand people who through the year come within her borders and freely spend their money, last year amounted to nine million of dollars; and there was much more spent which cannot statistically be accounted for. I venture to send these few facts appertaining to the state of Maine, but these are the least interesting things to be related. Of greater in terest is the man who comes here and the man who guides him and their ex-periences in and about Maine's woods and streams.* * * George S. Kimball, West Bangor, Maine.
