Address By Prof. Bernarr Macfadden of New York on "The Religion of Health." Mothers' Jewels Entertained.

"The Religion of Health" was the subject of a most interesting and instructive address given last evening in the Jackson street Baptist church to a small audience by Prof. Bernarr Macfadden, of New York, the well-known physical culture advocate and editor of "Physical Culture." Prior to the lecture he gave a demonstration of his muscular development, showing absolute control of the various muscles of the body. During the course of his talk he said:

"Unless Americans pay more attention to physical culture the race will go down to oblivion like many of the ancient races. Health is the foundation principle of life, and weakness is a crime, and if weakness is contagious, so health must necessarily be also contagious. A person is never too old to be benefited by physical culture, and health and strength should be our first consideration in future happiness. Physical weakness and the need of developing muscle and strength in the human body is due to negligence and ignorance of physical culture. This should begin with the child at birth and be continued all through life. Dignity in people causes more deaths than alcohol, because people are too prone to run and jump for fear of some one seeing them or ridiculing them. One of the principal evils of human nature is over-eating, and chronic ailments are more or less due to this cause, and the over-indulgence in indigestible food. The use of alcohol is also an evil, which carries with it misery and crime. Work and activity is absolutely necessary to uphold the laws of nature and life. The body has within it the curative power of disease. Fresh air and plenty of exercise is essential to good health and long life, and the cultivation of a contented spirit has a great influence over health. Well ventilated sleeping rooms, cold water baths, fasting, and plenty of water to drink are necessary essentials also to good health and the prevention of disease. Proper breathing is also necessary, and the abolition of tight-fitting garments are requisites to health.

At the close of the talk, Miss Ellen Walsh, of New York, gave a series of Grecian poses, which were artistic and graceful. Prof. Macfadden afterwards answered a number of questions asked by people in the audience in reference to the cure and prevention of diseases and various ailments flesh is heir to. The two principal remedies he suggested were fasting and drinking pure water, and also proper dieting. For catarrh of the head he suggested cold baths, long walks, and deep breathing, and for rheumatism a similar treatment. He claims that fasting and drinking plenty of water will cure appendicitis, and that operations, in most cases, for this affliction are criminal. He does not pretend to be an authority on any medical or scientific subject, but simply a student, and aims to enlist others as students of physical culture and the proper way to live.

GLORY OF A GOOD

A Prominent Chicago Woman Writing to Mrs. Pinkham Says:

"Honor to Whom Honor is Due, and You Deserve the Thanks and Honor of the Mothers of America Whom You Have So Blessedly Benefited."

After years of struggle to attain public confidence, with a firm and steadfast belief that some day others will recognize in us the truth, good faith and honesty of purpose that we know we possess, what a genuine satisfaction it is to have succeeded and to feel the uplifting influence of the merited confidence of the vast army of our fellow beings.

This is the standing of Mrs. Pinkham among the women of America today, and Mrs. Brown's letter which we have the great privilege to herewith publish, with her portrait, is only another visible evidence of this truth, and that of all the medicines for women's ills in the world Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands today pre-eminently at the head.

MRS. MAY BROWN,

Chairman Program Committee, Westside Literary Union, Chicago, Ill. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Honor to whom honor is due, and you deserve both the thanks and honor of the mothers of America whom you have so blessedly helped and benefited. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I would feel run-down or have any of the aches and pains which but few women escape, and I have found that it relieved me at once and gave me new strength. Several ladies, members of our Literary Union, speak in highest praise of your Vegetable Compound, as they have been cured from serious female troubles. One lady, who thought she must submit to an operation was cured without using anything in the world but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. You have hosts of friends in Chicago, and if you come to visit our city we would delight to do you honor. Gratefully yours,—Mrs. May Brown, 57 Grant Place, Chicago, Ill."

"How Mrs. Pinkham Helped Mrs. McKinny." "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to write and let you know the good you and your Vegetable Compound are doing. I had been sick ever since my first baby was born, and at the birth of my second, my doctor, as well as myself thought I should never live through it. After that menstruation never came regular and when it came I suffered terribly. I also had womb and ovarian trouble. A friend of my husband's advised him to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me. At first I had no faith in it, but now nothing could induce me to be without it. Menstruation has become regular and I feel like a new woman. Your medicine is a God-send to suffering women. I hope this letter will lead others to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Yours truly, Mrs. MILDRED MCKINNY, 28 Pearl St., San Francisco, Cal. (March 16, 1901).

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. Address is Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

CARNIVAL AND EXPOSITION.

Elks Great Entertainment Will Open Monday Evening. The Elks' carnival and exposition which will be opened with so much ceremony by the city officials on Monday evening next, will bring with it as features for the midway, some starting and indeed almost incredible attractions.

"Wallace," the lion which the officials of New York suggested should be put to death a few years ago; Mr. Esau, the man monkey from Africa, who will be shown to the physicians of this locality at the Elk lodge room on Monday morning next; the Cingloose, a people who have not changed the shadow of a shade in 2,000 years, and whose exhibition is replete with such hair-raising features that they were chosen by the Lackawanna railroad to entertain the 180 Ferris people on Sunday. It will take 300 men thirty hours to put things in shape after the arrival of the above mentioned company.

"The Midway" proper will be crowded constantly with free acts. The Elk people confidently predict that next week the largest crowds that ever assembled in Scranton will gather at the carnival and that "Coney Island itself" will have to take second place.
