GUARDS WERE NEEDLESSLY ALERT FOR BOTHER.

Companies Gave Extra Good Dinners to Those Who Are Quartered at the Collieries-One Set of Guards and Workmen Had a Pistol Match. Supt. Phillips Says Company Will Recoup Strike Losses Considerably. Nicholls Says Miners Can't Be Starved Into Submission.

Guards at the collieries where trouble has been occurring were on the alert yesterday for possible bother but they were agreeably disappointed. The day was wholly devoid of strike disturbances.

The companies furnished extra dinners for the men quartered at the collieries. At No. 7 coiliery of the Erie company at Pittston a revolver match took place between teams of five each Deputy Sheriff John E. Gaffney, who is in charge of the posse guarding the William A. colliary at Lackawanna, reported last evening that the day passed without the semblance of disorder anywhere in the neighborhood.

He was buried at the expense of the authorities. A number of his countrymen, among them Consular Agent Tiscar, attended the funeral. Bervices were conducted at St. Lucie's church on Chestnut street, and interment was made in the Cathedral cemetery.

WASHERIES CLOSED.

All the washeries were closed down yesterday, but those that have been working will start up again today. No especial effort is being made by the strikers to prevent the operation of the Superintendent Phillips, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western mining department, is authority for the statement that coal will be a costly article at the close of the strike.

"The companies are not losing as much as some may imagine," said Mr. Phillips. "The coal lying in the ground is enhancing in value every day the strike continues. When the strike ends there will be such an immediate and big demand for coal the price will be almost anything the companies choose to ask. Just what the companies will ask is, of course, something beyond my ken, but if they get only what will be offered they will for some time secure prices that will be not much less than what are ordinarily termed fancy.

"The coal is in the ground and a strike can not determine its quality The demand for anthracite is uniform. The companies are, to be sure, losing by the strike, on account of their fixed charges, but when the balance is struck after the past-strike rush of orders is over, it will be found the companies are not as bad off as some may now imagine they will be."

COMING CONVENTION

President T. D. Nicholls has no opfor re-election. Secretary John T. Dempsey has three opponents, but there is hardly any question but that he will be re-elected and by a large vote. There is a lively scramble for places on the district board and some new names are likely to appear in its make-up when the convention adjourns. As yet there have been no calls from any of the locals of the United Mine Workers for assistance in relieving the wants of its members, according to a statement of District Secretary Dempsey. Few of the strikers, he said, are asking relief and these are being looked after by the locals.

District President Nicholls says it is out of the question to think that the miners can be starved into submission. The longer the strike continues the more of their members secure employment at something or other that brings them enough to live. Others who do not secure employment have sons or daughters or some one else in the household earning steady wages. Still there are others who will have no means of sustenance, and these will be very few, according to Mr. Nicholl's opinion, will be taken care of by the United Mine Work-

OTHER RESOURCES.

If the United Mine Workers' treasury becomes depleted there is the workingmen of every civilized country on the globe to fall back on. "It is too im-portant a fight," declared Mr. Nicholls, "to be lost for the want of funds. It means everything to organized labor and organized labor is determined to The strikers will have to discipline themselves to some hardships, of course, but every soldier in a fight must do that. That they will be starved into submission, however, is a weak threat. Soldiers in the civil war suffered more than the miners will be called upon to suffer and they fought simply for the emancipation of a colared brother, while the miner is fighting for his own emancipation from a slavery quite as bad as that which the black man had to endure."

ST. LUKE'S SUMMER HOME. The Cresco Mountain Rest for Poor

Women and Children.

On Tuesday, July 8, the beautiful Summer Home at Cresco, for invalided women and little ones in need of rest. change and fresh country air who ould not otherwise have such blessings, will again open its doors for the season. The Men's guild of St. Luke's church has added many improvements to it during the past year. Each year has seen additions and improvements. The latest include an ice house and selected respectively from the guards cold storage room, a bath room, with and the workmen. The guards won. surply of delicious spring water. The number of beneficiaries in each preceding summer has been over 300. The present prespect is that a larger number than has ever before been received in one season will need the benefits of this summer rest and healthgiving vacation. That there has never been, never will be, any distinction as to religious affiliation or to nationality, ton from the very first. Therefore the committee of the Men's guild, in charge of the Home, and the members of the Women's guild, associated with that committee in practical oversight of the Home, appeal earnestly, and with great confidence, to all who have heretofore aided the Home, and all others interested in such noble and efficient work, to contribute liberally. The increased cost of many necessaries of life is known to every householder. To give the benefits of the Home in fair measure to as many as surely will need it and should have their turn there, the committee will need about one thousand dollars. Divide that amount among very many more than three hundred beneficiaries, and it can be readily seen that there is no waste in administration. Wnatever is given in the line of flour and other staples, it should be remembered that the daily supply of fresh meat, vegetables, fruit, butter and milk must be bought on the mountain, and there paid for-that money donations are especially needful.

These should be sent to the Men's guild treasurer, Mr. W. M. Bunnell, Mears building.

BOUND FOR EUROPE.

James Archbald and Family Sail Today on the Lucania.

Mr. and Mrs. James' Archbald and daughters, Misses Elizabeth, Augusta and Ruth, left yesterday for a three months' trip to Europe. They sail today on the Lucania and return September 27.

They propose to stop at Queenstown and make a tour of Ireland, after which they will make a month's visit in Scotland, the home of Mr. Archbald's father. A short trip to the Continent wil also be made.

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY. A Long-felt Need of Scranton Is Now Realized.

For a long time Scranton has felt the need of a place where a perfect-fitting shirt could be secured. H. W. Sykes & Co., recently located here at room 4and 46 Burr building, is now prepared to do this work. Here is what one of our citizens says:

To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that the writer is of that form of build that the ordinary cus tom made shirt will not at him, and is obliged to have shirts made to order. For many years I have been seeking the best shirt makers that could be found.

but had never succeeded in getting a per-fect fit until Mr. H. W. Sykes, of the firm of H. W. Sykes & Co., took my, measure and made me one of the most comfortable fitting shirts I have ever worn; not a change to be made in any

After searching so many years for a perfect fit, and having about given it up as a hopeless task, it gives me great pleasure to recommend H. W. Sykes & made to fit. Yours truly.

MENTION OF MEN OF HOUR

RAPID RISE INTO PROMINENCE OF ATTORNEY WATKINS.

Has Been a Member of the Lackawanna Bar Since 1895-C. C. Rose Who Has Charge of the Coal Mining Operations of the Delaware & Hudson Company - Rev. James Kent Stone Who Has Taken the Preliminary Steps to Erect a Monastery at Harvey's Lake.

One of the aggressive, energetic young members of the local bar, who is apidly making a place for himself, is Attorney James E. Watkins, of Taylor, His preliminary training for the bar he received at Cornell, the University of Pennsylvania and in the offices of

ATTORNEY JAMES E. WATKINS.

O'Brien & Kelly. On January 25, 1895

he was admitted to the bar. About the same time he was elected reading clerk of the house of representatives at Harrisburg, where his atten tion to duty, coupled with a fine voice that could be distinctly heard in all parts of the house, made him a great favorite with the members. Mr. Watkins is a Republican and takes a great interest in the success of the party. He has served as secretary of the Republican county committee and at different times has been chair man and secretary of the standing com mittee of the Third Legislative district in which he lives.

As his picture shows, Mr. Watkins is still a very young man. His future will be worth watching.

C. C. Rose, the general superintendent of the Delaware and Hudson company, is one of the important figures in the local strike situation, having charge of the battle for the company by whom he is employed. He is a good fighter and is, moreover, recognized as one of thracite region. Mr. Rose was born in Massachusetts, but early in life his father moved to Sherburne, N. Y., where he had charge of part of the Erie canal. Later the elder Rose be-

Walkill academy at Middletown, N. Y. and the Norwalk (Conn.) academy. He became a civil engineer, and after employment with the Erie and the Jersey Midland, worked for five years for the Delaware and Hudson along their rail road. Later he built the Port Jervis Water company's reservoir. His next position was with the Delaware, Lacka wanna and Western in the construction of a new road between Bingham ton and Buffalo. Then he came to Scranton and was made assistant chief engineer by the same company.

In January, 1896, he resigned and took employment with the Delaware and Hudson as assistant superintendent of the coal department. On January 1, 1897, he was made superintendent. He is a member of the Scranton Engineers' club, the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the New England society.

Rev. James Kent Stone, the superior of the Passionist fathers, who recently took the preliminary steps to establish a monastery of that order at Harvey's lake, is known in the religious world as Father Fidelis, and has many friends in this city. He was born in Boston in 1840, to Rev. John Seely Stone and Mary Kent Stone. His father, a descendant of an old Puritan family, was an Episcopal clergyman, founder of the Theological seminary at Philadelphia and dean of the Theological school at Cam; bridge. His mother was the daughter of James Kent, chancellor of New York state, and author of Kent's Commentaries, and was also descended from old New England stock. James Kent Stone graduated at Harvard college, class of 1861, and then spent a year in study at the University of Gottingen, Germany,

Returning to this country he enlisted in the Second Massachusetts Volunteers and was wounded at the battle of Antietam. He was later ordained to the Episcopal ministry and became a professor in Kenyon college. He later held the presidency of that college for one year and resigned to accept the presidency of Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y. In 1869 he became a Roman Catholic and was later ordained a priest and for several years was a member of the Paulist fathers.

In 1875 he entered the monastery of the Passionist fathers at Hoboken and after conducting religious retreats was assigned to missionary work in South America, where he labored for twelve years. Upon his return he was made superior of the Passionist order. He received the degree of A. M. from Harvard and of S. T. D. from Racine college, Wia He is the author of several religious works, and is an eloquent and powerful orator.

Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, has invented an apparatus for cooling dwellings that promises to become as essential to the comfort of a dwelling in summer as heating apparatus in winter. Prof. Moore says that the cost of cooling a given space with his machine is approximately the same as that of heating the same space by means of a stove or furnace. Besides this, the different uses to which the machine may be put are unlimited. He expects it to prove of great value to hospitals, particularly for reducing the temperature of wards which fever patients are confined and in addition to its use for cooling residences and hotels, he says it solves the problem of individual cold storage.

Prof. Moore's invention, in addition to reducing temperature, washes, cleanses and renders the air dry and healthful. Hot air, filled with dust, is taken into the machine at a temperaure of nearly 100 degrees and expelled almost instantly at a temperature of 30 degrees and with its relative humidity lessened by more than half. The machine operates on the principle of gravty. That is, it makes use of the difference in weight between air at a high and at a low temperature. It is, moreover, automatic. It requires no motive power, and is self-adjusting. When the weather is very hot the machine works faster than when it is only moderately warm, and when the weather is temperate, the machine ceases its operations altogether. It is necessary to change the machine only once a day, preferably in the morning, and it will then automatically keep the dwelling in which it is placed at a cool, even tem-

W. H. Pierce Was Seriously Injured On Nay Aug Boulevard Yesterday Afternoon.

William H. Pierce, the well known Penn avenue marketman, was thrown rom his carriage while driving down he Nay Aug boulevard yesterday afternoon, and received injuries of a very serious nature. He was still uning to this, his attending physician, Dr. J. W. Coolidge, was unable to definitely state the extent of Mr. Pierce's injuries. Charles Bradley, of New York, a nephew of Mr. Pierce, was also thrown from the carriage, but was only slightly bruised by the fall. The accident occurred about 5.30 o'clock. The two men had attended the Speedway races, and were driving home, when they met their mishan.

Their horse was going along at lively clip, and in making a sharp turn, a short distance below the race track, fell and upset the carriage. Mr. Pierce was thrown to the ground with fearful force, and when Mr. Bradley who quickly recovered from his own fall, ran to his assistance he found his unle unconscious. The horse was uninjured, and the buggy was not in the east damaged.

Mr. Pierce was removed to his home 833 Jefferson avenue, in the carriage of Dr. Hill, who providently passed at this time. Dr. J. W. Collidge was summoned, and could find no serious injuries, except a small hole at the top

He declared last night that Mr. Pierce might either remain unconscious for an indifinite period or suddenly awaken at any moment. He was present at the beside of the patient during the greater part of the night and morning.
